WEAT DEMOCRACY HAS DONE FOR THE SOUTH.—As the "pseudo-Democracy have secured" to be, for evidence, the devoted five-fifths of the South willing to risk all they have, are, and hope for, for the rights, honor and interests of the South—we think it would be well to glance at the record, and see of what advantage its friendship has been.

Nearly all the Free States in the country were made such under Democratic rule.

Jas. G. BIRNEY, the Abolition candidate for the Presidency in 1840 and 1844, was a Democrat.

MARTIN VAN BUREN, the anti-slavery candidate for the Presidency in 1848, was a Democrat.

Jos. P. HALE, the Abolition candidate for the Presidency in 1852, was once a Democratic U. S. Senator.

Jos. C. FREMONT, the anti-slavery candidate for the Presidency in 1856, was a Democrat.

DAVID WILMOT, author of the celebrated anti-slavery Wilmot Proviso, was a Democrat.

STEPHEN ARNOUD DOUGLASS, the Champion of the anti-slavery measure, "Squatter Sovereignty," and the most probable Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1860, is a Democrat.

N. P. BANKS, the first anti-slavery Speaker of the House of Representatives, was a Democrat.

GERBERT SMITH, late anti-slavery candidate for the Governorship of New York, was a Democrat.

SALMON P. CHASE, anti-slavery Governor of Ohio, was a Democrat.

And so with many other prominent men in the anti-slavery party of the present day—they were raised and nurtured in the Democratic party.

The democratic governor elect of Virginia is an ex-abolitionist, and the result of his election has been more detrimental to the cherished institution of Slavery than the Seward's and Garriens have ever proven themselves to be.

The late Democratic representative from the eighth district of Virginia, is an ex-abolitionist of 1822 notoriety. He pronounced Slavery the bitterest drop from the chalice of the destroying angel.

But we might continue this enumeration almost ad infinitum, but it would be a work of supererogation, as these are entirely sufficient to show what sort of staff Democracy is made of.

To have once entertained emancipation sentiments is regarded by the Democracy as an unpardonable political sin in their opponents, but in Locofoco, it seems marvellously proper. Thus it appears through democratic optics.

HON. J. M. KUNKLE.—In our issue of the 7th inst. as faithful chroniclers of passing events, we noticed that the gentleman whose name leads this paragraph had made a visit to our city for the purpose of seeing after his interests in the Congressional representation from this district. Since then we have received the Frederick Examiner, which throws some additional light upon the subject. It appears from this journal, that there is a lady "sown here in Allegany County" and that the Hon. gentleman was about to suffer damage in his claim to a re-nomination. Some ambitious aspirant, has been troubling the waters, and his officious friends have not been slow to urge his claims, maintaining that he would make as good a poll as the Hon. Mr. Kunkle, and be at least his equal, as an eloquent expounder of the inexplicable democratic creed. Who this troublemaker of the harmonious is, the Examiner does not inform us.—Which? Speak out Mr. Examiner—or it may be our friend up the street can tell us.

A Maryland contemporary, of the Democratic stripe, felicitates himself upon the happy state of affairs existing in our country, when contrasted with the sanguinary conflicts that are now denuding the soil of Italy with human blood. He tells us that,—

The mind can scarcely grasp the magnitude of our career before us, if by wise and prudent counsels our union is preserved, and harmonious action maintained. But if with sacrilegious and fratricidal hands the great fabric of the Union, erected by the valor and wisdom of our fathers, is torn down, and in the place of one benighted and harmonious whole, our country shall be separated into rival and hostile powers, who can tell, or who can even foresee, the horrors which await us and our children. What would be the contrast then between our country as it now is, and may continue to be under the benignings of a Federal Union, and what is sure to be, if the mad schemes of fanatical demagogues and disunionists shall be carried out?

We agree with our contemporary, that a career of unprecedented glory awaits us, if wise and prudent counsels prevail, and that unexampled horrors will follow a dismemberment of the Union. And in view of the momentous results that hang upon the issue of the future, it becomes us to pause amid the angry strife of contending parties, to see where the rock lies, upon which we are likely to split—to see what it is that threatens our existence as "one people," so that being forewarned we may be fore-armed.

The danger to be apprehended is in the mad schemes of fanatical demagogues and disunionists. Where, then, are the disunionists to be found? We answer in the folds of the Democratic party which, to-day, hangs as a dead weight upon the body politic.

The red-dirt disunionists are R. Barnwell Bhatt, L. M. Keitt, W. L. Yancey, Jeff. Davis, and a host of other well-distinguished Southern leaders. "If then, the people of the United States desire the future peace and prosperity of our common country, let them throw down such men, and the party whose principles they represent.

We do not think we hold severe or extreme opinions in regard to the disunion tendencies of the Locofoco party, when we consider that the Mississippi Democracy, in Convention assembled, solemnly resolved a Notices. RECAL REGISTER.—We have received the second number of this interesting and valuable periodical. Its very neat appearance, and the important character of its contents, recommends it to its patrons and the Farming community in the strongest sense.

GODDARD'S LADY'S BOOKER AUGUST.—As usual Goddard presents himself in an attractive form. The plates, the literary matter, the typography, all are of the first order. No better Magazine for the ladies is published in this or any other country.

COSMOPOLITAN ART JOURNAL.—We acknowledge the receipt of the June number of this journal. "The American Eagle, Guarding the Spirit of Washington," is the title plate, which for beauty of expression is seldom surpassed. The contents of this number are magnificent, and worthy of a careful perusal from all.

We would be much pleased if the Association would send us the preceding number, which has never reached us, but to which we are justly entitled.

The corn, potatoes, and vegetation of all kinds, is suffering greatly for the want of rain, much of which, if the drought continues a little while longer, will be blasted.

Geo. E. SANDGROSS, Chairman. Wm. THOMAS, Secretary.

A British officer writing from Teheran, Persia, to the London Times, remarks:—"A Cathartic Pill manufactured by an American Chemist (Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.) cured the Shah of a Liver complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked.—But these are our own scholars and these it is in everything; we do the labor, then the missing Americans put their mark on it and take the reward. Doct. AYER is idolized by the Court and its retainers here, which will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff-box, or diamond hilted sword, while not the name even of David, Christian or Brodie—the great lights by which he shines as a hero.—"New York Sunday Paper.

Our Foreign Trade.—Not long since, says the New York Express, a certain class of financial optimists were at some pains to impress upon the public mind the conviction that, as the summer wore on, our heavy shipments of specie to Europe, as well as our enormous importations of foreign merchandise, would certainly cease, and that all apprehensions to the contrary were but old-fashioned misgivings. Well, the summer is wearing away fast, and in six weeks time, or less, autumn will be here, but, some how or other, almost as much specie is over continuing to go, while the imports seem to be multiplying rather than diminishing. The steamers look out on Saturday nearly two millions and a half cash—while the importations for the week exhibit an aggregate of between six and seven millions.

If there were any prospect of ready market abroad, at paying prices, for the heavy surplus of grainstuffs we are certain of having next fall and winter, or if there were a market for anything else we have to sell besides cotton (at declining prices) these peculiar features of our foreign trade might create no uneasiness—but in the absence of any such prospect, they start the suggestion whether we are not "smuggling it" a little too "crash" and another "crisis."

Since the 4th of July, it has been unlawful for any person to pass or receive in the State of Arkansas, any land bill of less denomination than ten dollars.

The Democratic State Convention, to choose a candidate for State Comptroller, met in Frederick city, yesterday.

And all who are afflicted with this disease, it afflicts in one form or another its only chance, cure yourselves permanently and speedily by using.

The Oxygentated Bitters. The "Daily Herald" of Sept. 18, says: "Dyspepsia is one of the prevailing diseases of our country. This is owing to both climate and the almost universal habit of eating our meals too rapidly to admit of proper digestion. But in mild cases, the Oxygentated Bitters, this disease, even when it has become chronic, disappears rapidly by the use of the Oxygentated Bitters, which have been found to prove an infallible remedy."

From the Publisher of a widely circulated Magazine. Boston, July 1, 1858. Messrs R. V. FOWLE & Co.—I have taken three bottles of the Oxygentated Bitters, and have derived great benefit from their use. I have been much troubled with Dyspepsia for several years, and I was obliged to use any relief until I used the Bitters. I most cheerfully recommend them to all who are afflicted with this troublesome disease. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, JAMES ROBINSON, of the "Student and Schoolmaster."

I am now in the enjoyment of good health, and I hope, and believe, that all who use the Oxygentated Bitters will find them as serviceable as I have found them. With high respect your obedient servant, A. C. DODGE.
