

Wit and Humor.

I wish He'd make up his mind. I wish he would make up his mind, ma!

When I speak about love and a cottage, He gives me a look of surprise;

I've sung him love sonnets by dozens, I've worked him both slippers and hose;

Changed Her Mind. Dicky was poor—Katy had a rich mother—Dicky loved Katy—and vice versa—Dicky wanted to marry Katy—Katy's mother was down on that arrangement—Dicky was forbidden the premises—notes were exchanged

Oh! a scream—couldn't get breath for a moment—faintly. 'Ahem, Dicky, is that you? 'Yes, ma'am.

Breakfast table—Dicky, I've been thinking a good deal about you lately. You are industrious and honest, I hear. 'I never brag.

Well, now upon the whole, Dicky, I think you and Katy had better get married. 'I never brag.

Anecdote of the Lawyer and the Ducks. There is not a more common offense against the laws of common courtesy (we might say, oftentimes, of common decency) than is practiced by a certain class of lawyers now-a-days

How do you know that they are your ducks? asked the defendant's counsel. 'Oh, I should know them anywhere,' replied the farmer; and he went on to describe their different peculiarities.

Barium's Last. Barium is always ready with a good story. His latest is the following, which is told in fitting old regiments for the war. Mr. Howe has spent thousands of dollars in this way, and has taken so great an interest in military affairs, that he has had but little time to attend to anything else.

A new church, replied Howe, 'ah, a new church, I don't think I can give anything, because I am spending all my spare money for the war. Can't think of anything else.'

'The Church of St. Peter, sir,' was the reply. 'Ah, the Church of St. Peter,' replied H., 'well, as he was the only fighting apostle in the lot, I guess I'll have to give something. But I can't do much even for St. Peter, as my time and money must be almost entirely devoted to Salt Peter.'

'Chubb, in his "West India Rambler," tells of a planter in one of the Islands, who had a slave that had been on his grounds for thirty years. When on his death-bed he bent for his negro and said to him, Tom, you've been a faithful servant; I have left you your freedom in my will, and ordered that when you die you be laid beside me in my own tomb.

'Why so, Tom? 'You see de debil come, sir; all dark, re know—be my make mistake, and take Tom instead of a mass.'

All persons know when they are known—see when they are known.
