The Civilian and Telegraph having a much larger circulation than any other paper published here, while out of the State its circulation is four times larger...

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1864. ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT. ANDREW JOHNSON, of Tennessee.

For Presidential Electors. For the State at large.

WM. J. ALBERT, H. H. GOLDSBOROUGH, For Districts.

1st. W. H. W. FARROW, 2nd. WM. S. REESE, 3rd. R. STOCKETT MATHEWS, 4th. ISAAC NESBITT, 5th. GEO. W. SANDS.

The Nominations.

We this week hold at the head of our columns, the names of the national nominees for President and Vice-President of the United States.

We have said national nominees because the nomination of Abraham Lincoln for the Presidency comes not from the wire working man, or perhaps the good will of political tricksters and party leaders...

The State Convention.

The State Convention for the nomination of Union Electors for President and Vice President of the United States, met in Baltimore on Wednesday last.

While we have no idea that this endorsement of the present administration is to be taken as indicative of an entire concurrence of the loyal men of the country...

energy and vigor, in the prosecution to a successful issue, of that cruel and desolating war, which that accursed institution has provoked and forced upon us.

In regard to the Vice-President the choice of the people was not so fixed and settled upon any single individual...

Andrew Johnson's name and political character are not new or unknown to the loyal people of this country.

These nominations may be considered then as a popular work and not the doing of a convention of political leaders.

It is necessary that the lessons of last year should again be repeated in even more emphatic tones, the cry of the heathen as of old still is "give, give."

politics of the State. They agreed to emancipation, but it must be accompanied by Compensation. Their great leader and spokesman in an address to the Legislature last winter announced the business of his life henceforth to be "The abolition of Slavery in Maryland."

The abolition of Slavery in Maryland, and the procurement of Compensation to the owners of Slaves, under the patronage of the Postmaster General at Washington they have spared no effort to retain the control of the Union party in the State and failing that to divide and distract it.

The Commissioners of Public Works—The Canal. The Commissioners of Public Works of the State of Maryland met in the City of Washington on the 3rd inst. for the purpose of appointing a President and six Directors to represent the interest of the State in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company during the ensuing year.

These nominations may be considered then as a popular work and not the doing of a convention of political leaders. The people have thus far proved true to themselves, but their work is not yet done.

LATEST NEWS.

Defeat of Morgan by Burbridge. Recapture of the Ohio Volunteers—900 Rebels killed and 800 Wounded—Captured by 400 Prisoners and 1,000 Horses.

The following information reached Martinsburg yesterday morning: After having considerably destroyed the Virginia Central Railroad, General Hunter (as seems to be very reliably reported) left Staunton, with his whole army, several days ago.

General Hunter's operations in the valley have had one desirable effect, that of drawing off heavy bodies of troops, who would otherwise have operated with Lee against Grant.

Two days ago the rebels had a force of over 500 men near Strasburg, evidently for the purpose of cutting off General Hunter's communication with headquarters of the rear division at Martinsburg.

There is a report also in circulation that Breckinridge's and Pickett's Divisions were moving toward Charlottesville on Wednesday last.

Further from the Front. The steamer George Weems, which left the White House at 4 A. M. yesterday, arrived here at 12 o'clock to-day, bringing up 324 wounded.

Gen. Hunter's Department. The Battle near Staunton, in the Valley of Virginia—Six Guns, Many Prisoners and Supplies Captured.

From New Orleans. Blockade of the Mississippi at Greenville. New York, June 10.—The steamer Geo. Washington, from New Orleans on the 4th, has arrived.

The Archbishop of Baltimore. The Catholic Mirror announces that letters have received from the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda that the Right Rev. Martin J. Spalding, Bishop of Louisville, has been appointed to the Archbishopric of Baltimore.
