The Sentinel.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, SENTINEL TELEPHONE CALLS.

THE SENTINEL AT NEW ORLEANS.

To accommodate the throng from the Northwest who will desire to read their favorite home paper while attending the "World's Exposition," the Sentinel has been placed on sale in New Orleans at George F. Wharton & Bro's, No. 5 Carondelet street, between Canal and Common streets.

OLD PAPERS.

Good conditioned old papers for sale at this office at only 40 cents per hundred.

CITY IN BRIEF.

On Monday evening next the China class of the Second Presbyterian Church Sunday-school will celebrate their new year in the parlors of the church.

It is said that the Police Superintendent has declared himself in favor of Patrolman John Love for the position of Sergeant, and that individual will be appointed at the meeting of the Commissioners to-morrow night.

The Masquerade Carnival. To-night an event for which preparations have for some weeks been making will take place at the Wigwam Rink, the first of the kind, by the way, that this city has ever witnessed—a grand masquerade carnival on roller skates. The affair promises to be one of large proportions, as 300 maskers' tickets have already been issued. A ticket is necessary to secure admission for those in mask, as none will be admitted whose identity is not known. The management offer fine prizes for the various costumes, which will excite efficient emulation to render the carnival a grand success. No one will be allowed upon the floor until 10:30 without mask, at which hour they will be removed. Skating from 7:30 until 12 o'clock. All parties intending to participate, who have not done so, should procure tickets to-day. Go, every body!

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE WHITE SLAVE" AT THE GRAND. A large and enthusiastic audience welcomed the return of Bartley Campbell's excellent play, "The White Slave," to the Grand Opera House last night, and it was received with every possible manifestation of popular favor.

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

A Boiler Explosion in McDaniel & Wright's Mill at Franklin Wrecks the Structure and Kills James High, the Engineer—The Entire City Shaken Up.

The city of Franklin, Johnson County, situated on the J. M. and I. Railroad, twenty miles south of this city, was the scene of a disastrous explosion yesterday, which wrecked and killed James High, instantly killed. The explosion occurred at a quarter before 7 o'clock, but as no one except the engineer was in the engine room at the time it is impossible to state exactly the circumstances under which it occurred.

A visit to the scene of the explosion presented a picture not soon to be forgotten. The mill was a large frame structure, situated on the southwest corner of Jefferson and Jackson streets, and within the last few years had been enlarged by the addition of an elevator, and increased in value by putting in new machinery throughout. As it stood Wednesday evening the property could hardly be purchased for $30,000, as seen yesterday, with its machinery wrecked and a large portion of the mill demolished, it is a fair estimate to place the loss at $12,000.

Moody Convention Notes. The morning and afternoon sessions, February 23, 24 and 25, are intended more especially for Christians, and the evening services for non church goers.

Doors will be open one-half hour before each service; also, for a few minutes at the close of each hour. With this exception, the doors will be kept closed during all services.

Admission will be limited to ticket holders until fifteen minutes before the hour, when the doors will be open to all.

Tickets admitting to any one session may be had of the city pastors by members of their respective congregations.

Tickets for Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, admitting young men between fifteen and thirty years of age, may be had at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Platform tickets, admitting to all sessions, will be furnished to members of the city choir and other singers invited by their churches at once that his allotment of tickets may be ready for him on the 18th, when he is expected to call for them.

The State Board of Agriculture. The State Board of Agriculture held another meeting yesterday, at which time several committees were appointed to take charge of the various departments of the State Fair, they also increased the appropriation for the Women's Department from $900 to $1,000.

The Trains. The snow plow which has been in use on the Big Four between this city and Chicago during the past two or three days did good service. Three Chicago trains arrived in the city yesterday morning over this road, and travel has been resumed. The Par. Handle's Chicago line is open again, as is also the Wash. Air Line trains, was also resumed on time, and the snow blocks are raised. A wreck on the L. and V., caused by a broken rail, a few miles west of the city, delayed trains on that road somewhat yesterday.

Exploratory. In relating in yesterday's Sentinel what we conceived to be rather a humorous incident in connection with a stranger and an Alabama street mission, we did not intend to reflect in any manner upon the management of the James House. We understand that the hotel is in all respects quiet and orderly.

State should be a preferred borrower under that bill.

The revenue thus raised would be increased every year for thirteen years, and it would amount to somewhere between $600,000 and $650,000, and that fund was to be a permanent endowment for the State University.

The provisions of this bill are that it shall be in lieu of all money raised from that source, or which might be derived by reason of the endowment bill. There has been $30,000 or $40,000 already collected as such tax, levied in 1883 and 1884. The taxes of 1883 and 1884 have been already collected. The provisions of the minority report are that the $30,000 shall be in full of the payment of such tax levied by the State, and which has gone into the State Treasury.

Now we are to find that the State University ought to stand as the great head of our common schools. Now this statement I do not think is an argument. In other words, the body can not exist without the State University. They do not believe that the common schools can not exist without the State University, if you close the State University do you think you will close our common schools? I think not, I think so far as our common schools are concerned, they are not dependent upon the State University. That argument is rather an effect, it seems to me the State Normal is the head of our common schools, and the State University is the head of the State University.

Mr. Tilton: I would like to ask the gentleman (Mr. Gordon) if he is not in your own county. Mr. Gordon: I am not answering the interests of the State. If there was no institution existing there I should not be in favor of this appropriation. There is no antagonism, there is only a question of expediency between the State University and the State Normal. I say right here I put the broad proposition to the Representatives of the State, are you going to make an appropriation to every institution that asks for it? If you do you will have to keep on raising money to run the State University. It takes $100,000 to run Michigan University, so far as the people of the State are concerned, are you ready to help every institution? I am opposed to the State of Indiana supporting universities.

Mr. Williams: Let me ask the gentleman if he is in favor of supporting this institution at Lafayette? Mr. Gordon: I am not. Mr. Williams: I am in favor of supporting our common schools? Mr. Gordon: I am, sir, but I do not think it is a proper way to maintain an institution because it is in the State of Indiana. You have no right to aid the people have no right to. I think it is in favor of the State, because it is a great majority of them do not attend for want of means to pay their board and tuition. How many children do you accommodate? In my opinion you could do it for the same amount of money to do it throughout the whole State; put it in every school district, so they could have school every month of the year. It would benefit a great many more.

But you are met with the proposition you are not maintaining an institution because it is in the State. I say it is not right, it is unjust to the taxpayers and a people of the State. I tell you, you are not doing it for the people, you are doing it for the citizens of Monroe County. I believe we ought to be just to the people of the State, and to the people of the State of Indiana. I believe we ought to be just to the people of the State, and to the people of the State of Indiana. I believe we ought to be just to the people of the State, and to the people of the State of Indiana.

Now with reference to the endowment law, I believe that law ought to be repealed. Do you believe the people of the State ought to be burdened with the maintenance of an institution? Are you willing to tax the people of the State more heavily than without sustaining this institution?

COURT-HOUSE LOCALS. Lizzie Largenberg suing Fred Bowling for Breach of Promise—Notes.

The divorce suit of Pamela vs. William Belles has been dismissed.

The jury in Room 3 has given Hannah V. Harris a verdict against the Citizens' Insurance Company for $500.

Jacob S. Hildebrand and J. L. Fugate have filed suit against Peter Rontler to collect a note and account. Demand, $300.

Flora E. Simmonds has qualified as administratrix of the estate of James Milton Simmonds, deceased. Bond, $2,000.

Isaac Meyers has given $800 bond as guardian of Catharine Kunkle, who was de-certified in the Circuit Court yesterday to be of unsound mind.

Jesse D. Hamrich has been appointed guardian of Mary, Ella and Harmon Johnson, minor heirs of Matilda Johnson, deceased. The wards live in Philadelphia.

Bridget Scanlin is suing the city in Room 3 for $2,000 damages growing out of injuries caused by falling over a broken sidewalk on West Washington street.

The suit of Charles Kreiger vs. Charles Harris et al. is on trial by jury in Room 2. Plaintiff lost his fingers while working with a buzz saw owned by defendants. Demand, $2,000.

The replevin suit of Emil Strobel et al. vs. Critenden A. Cox was compromised yesterday, defendant consenting to a surrender of the goods in question. Judgment was entered for plaintiffs on the records.

In the suit of Nettie Young vs. the Continental Life Insurance Company to collect a policy issued on the life of her husband, the jury in Judge Howe's room yesterday returned a verdict giving plaintiff $1,972.

During the recent session of the Grand Jury a stranger tried to gain admittance. The bailiff refused to permit him to enter the room, and asked him what he wanted. He said the jury was no good, and he was going to shoot it.

The bastardy suit of Mary Leisher vs. Joseph W. Wheatley is still on trial in the Circuit Court. About 300 spectators are in the Court room to hear the evidence. Quite a large attendance is found in Room No. 1, where a breach of promise suit is on trial.

Charles Hardesty, aged seventeen years, indicted by the late Grand Jury for petit larceny, was asked yesterday upon arraignment if he had an attorney employed. He answered: "I don't know what that is," from which one would think this species of larceny homo is a scarce article in this community.

The suit of Lizzie Largenberg vs. Frederick Bowling, for breach of marriage contract, is on trial in Room 1 before a jury. The testimony is of a character to call in a larger number of boys and men as spectators. Lizzie was on the stand most of the time and has been subjected to a severe cross-examination.

William Pike, James Rounds, W. H. Blanks, Hannibal Gibson and William Helm, indicted for petit larceny, entered pleas of guilty upon arraignment in the Criminal Court yesterday. Price was sent to the Reform School, sentenced was withheld in the case of Helm, and the others got $1 fine and ten days in jail.

Bailiff Love, of the Criminal Court, has a suggestive formula which he perpetrates after the Grand Jury report is submitted, and which sounds something like this: "All ready. Choose your partners. Form in line. Promenade all. Guilty or not guilty. Seventeen years in the penitentiary. Swing your partners. Balance all," etc.

The firm of Cleveland & Adams yesterday filed suit against Alfred M. Alexander, John A. Reame, Stephen Mattier, John Faehr and Charles Harth to compel an accounting. The complaint sets out the formation of the insurance agreement made in February, 1884, at which time Alexander became general manager for the Accident Insurance Company, he agreeing to devote his entire time and attention to the insurance business. The bond given by him was for $1,000. The complaint then charges that during the months of November, December and January last past Alexander failed and refused to make a full and correct report of his business and pay to Cleveland & Adams money received by him, and wrongfully, unlawfully and fraudulently converted it to his own use and made false reports to conceal and cover up his wrongful commission of said sums. February 2 he returned. Plaintiff's charge him with having $2,500 belonging to them, not yet accounted for, and property worth $500 besides. Prayer is made that he be required to answer under oath as to the facts and for judgment for $5,000.
