NOTICE.

The following are the names of those who have at various times since January enclosed money to this office without giving their postoffice address, and we have no means of reaching them:

- John W. Stinson, W. Hinds, Lewis Stiers, J. F. Smithy, Jacob F. Baker, Charles Huffman, W. R. McQuoid, Abe Laughman.

Governor Gray will leave Washington to-day for Indianapolis.

The Vice President and Colonel Hughes East left Washington yesterday and are expected home to-day.

Ex-Senator McDonald arrived in Washington yesterday. He will remain in Washington until Sunday night.

The Southern States do not appear to have been so very badly depressed by Republican rule after all.

What a blooming ignoramus it is, to be sure. Delaware happens to be the only Southern State never under Republican rule.

One of the biggest brains of the period ceased its functions yesterday, when the great Hugo died. An outline of his life-work will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Sentinel.

NATIONAL UNITY AT LAST.

One objection the Sentinel has urged against the Republican party is that its teachings tend to de-nationalize public sentiment. Its sole claim to merit has been its war record.

The Republican party has maintained a long ascendancy by keeping alive sectional animosity over a war ended twenty years ago. Meantime the Democratic party has been pleading for the full fruits of the triumph of the Union armies.

Our claim is proven to have been well founded. Here, within three months after the inauguration of the Democratic administration, we are beyond the breakers of distrust and out upon the smooth sea of national trust and sectional good will for the first time in more than thirty years.

Our claim is proven to have been well founded. Here, within three months after the inauguration of the Democratic administration, we are beyond the breakers of distrust and out upon the smooth sea of national trust and sectional good will for the first time in more than thirty years.

SECRETARY MANNING.

When Secretary Manning was first selected for the Cabinet, the mud batteries of the opposition opened upon him all along the line. He was charged with being nothing but a "political ward blunderer," a "boss" and a "wire-puller."

whom Mr. Cleveland has wisely installed at the head of the Treasury Department failed to make the usual purchase of silver bullion last week at the customary interval, and it leaked out semi-officially that he had found abundant reason for the omission.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE PRESIDENT.

Governor Gray called upon the President and met with a warm, cordial reception. In alluding to his visit the Governor said: "I have not a shadow of doubt as to the President's Democracy. He is all right, and intends to do right by his party friends."

It was in the power of the Democrats to defeat Logan, but bad management, petty jealousies and general demoralization prevented a consummation devoutly wished for by the whole country.

AS BETWEEN him and his immediate rival, it is safe to say that even in the minds of his own party Mr. Logan is not the equal of Mr. Morrison.

CHOLERA INOCULATION.

Microbic inoculation as a preventive against cholera is attracting considerable attention, especially in Europe. The correspondent of the New York Herald now in Spain has already been inoculated, and he informs that paper in a recent cable dispatch from Madrid that of 5,000 cases subjected to microbic inoculation, not a single death has occurred.

The Commercial Gazette says:

The summer has come. Do not keep little children penned up in doors, leaving them to get their colds or the sunshine spoil their complexions.

The Philadelphia North American says:

It is the sinners who find the least satisfaction in the revised version.

The Boston Post says:

A Chelsea collector says that the giraffe is a great improvement over woman, as that animal has never been known to utter a sound.

Mary Anderson's Farewell to London.

A scene of unwonted enthusiasm, generous outbursts of public feeling, calling forth the warmest response, marked the farewell performance of Miss Mary Anderson in London. There was no element of novelty in the programme, but Mr. W. S. Gilbert's "Pygmalion and Galatea" and "Comedy and Tragedy" afforded the charming American actress an opportunity of repeating two performances which have won the greatest favor here.

Of course the Journal's Washington young man saw through the diabolical intention of Governor Gray's visit to Washington instantly. It was to form a sort of a combination with Governor Hendricks to blow ex-Senator McDonald out of the water—to swim out, as it were, into the great political sea, and a la Bayton tie a torpedo to the McDonald ship.

and expensive trip. Washington is growing dull, perhaps, and the correspondents must beat the bush for sensation and — lies.

CURRENT OPINION.

Six years more of Logan! What a weary and disheartening sense of time that hideous thought produces!—Chicago Times.

The Bureau of Agriculture does not seem to have been getting along very well for a year or two. It appears to have been chiefly engaged in planting appropriations and raising Cain.—Philadelphia Press.

That circular issued by Postmaster General Vilas makes Republican officeholders squirm like eels in a pot. A taste of what the Democrats got twenty-four years ago will do them good. Too steady a diet of sweetmeats is injurious.—Boston Globe.

We tender our compliments to Major General John Alexander Logan, of Illinois, on his election as Senator of the United States for six years more. It has been a hard fight, and Logan has won it by superior generalship.

Not that General Logan is an ideal representative of this great State of Illinois in the higher branch of the National Assembly. Far from it. But he was fairly entitled to the election in the light of all the attendant circumstances, and nothing but the most disgraceful corruption could have accomplished his defeat.—Chicago News.

It was in the power of the Democrats to defeat Logan, but bad management, petty jealousies and general demoralization prevented a consummation devoutly wished for by the whole country.

WHEN President Cleveland selected Dr. Sunderland's church at Washington at which to attend services, the comment was made that the congregation was more solidly Republican than that of any other church in the city.

SENTINEL SPECIALS.

A Concience Stricken Lady. Special to the Sentinel.

MARION, Ind., May 22.—A very singular case of remorse of conscience for wrongdoing occurred here to-day. A very well dressed lady, of respectable parentage, came into the dry goods store of Goldthwaite & Sons, and said to Mr. Goldthwaite, one of the proprietors, she was owing him a small bill of eighty cents.

A Shocking Death.

WARSAW, Ind., May 22.—To-night William Fry, a farmer, residing two miles from Claypool, on the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan Railroad, attempted to walk a trestle in the face of an approaching passenger train.

A Blooming Student Drowned.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 22.—College circles were thrown into great excitement this afternoon by the announcement of the drowning of E. A. Hall, a member of the sophomore class.

the audience dispersed further calls were tendered for Mr. Torris, Mr. Abbey, and Mr. Abd, and these gentlemen having bowed their acknowledgments, the house rung with English "Hurrahs" as a parting tribute to our fair and accomplished visitor, who thus bears away with her the recollection of an exceptionally cordial and ardent leave-taking.

He Tells the Truth.

One great cause of the failure of General Garfield's administration was that he did not keep his promises. If he had kept the pledges which the States gave him before they went to work for him, and through which alone his election was rendered possible, the Republican party would not have been split up.

Garfield's predecessor had not the courage nor would his managers allow him to repudiate any of the promises he had made for the benefit of the gang of rascals who stole him into office.

Mr. Cleveland, on the other hand, seems devoid of any disposition to make promises without being certain that he can fulfill them. He is slow to make up his mind about the offices and everything else, but as far as we have observed, when it is made up it is made up.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Diamonds.

Three years ago Reilly was employed as a driver for a florist's establishment up town. One day he saw a junkman driving through Fortieth street with an old trunk bouncing on the top of his wagon.

A rumor was current yesterday that Maude Stuart, the well-known actress of this city, had died in a New York hospital and a dispatch was alleged to have been received, addressed to Mrs. Grubbs, mother of Maude Stuart Grubbs, confirming the sad event.

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 22.—The Democratic members of the Legislature have issued an address to the people in which they say:

and his comrades being unable to assist him he was drowned. His body has not yet been recovered, and a party of students is now organizing to go to the assistance of the party searching for it. Hall is from Kentland, Newton County, Indiana.

THE DIAMOND.

Louisville Defeats Brooklyn—Providence Shut Out and New York Gets Square With Buffalo—Results of Other Games—Notes.

LOUISVILLE, May 22.—The Louisvilles defeated the Brooklyn this afternoon before a small crowd. The visitors had the home club shut out until the eighth inning, when by hard hitting the Louisvilles made five runs and won the game.

New York Got Square With 'Em.

NEW YORK, May 22.—About 2,500 persons saw the New York "get square" with the Buffalos to-day. The home club out-played its opponents every way.

Providence Whitewashed Again.

PROVIDENCE, May 22.—Chicago again defeated Providence to-day owing principally to the effective pitching of Clarksons, with whom the champions could do nothing, and who succeeded in scoring two singles. The working of the Providence battery was superb, and only to the inability of the home team to bat effectively was their defeat chargeable.

An Easy Victory for the "Phillies."

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—The Philadelphia Club started in very determinedly to-day to defeat the Lucas St. Louis. It soon became apparent, however, that they had an easy task before them and that it did not require any great effort.

To-Day's Contest.

The Indianapolis Club returned home yesterday afternoon and will meet the Omahas to-day. The coming champions are in good trim and an interesting game may be expected. The following is the position of the players:

dressed, and he then went home. He says he was sent down to the first floor yesterday afternoon to get a two-gallon can of benzine. He got it from Orin & Wassel, who keep a dye house on the first floor. Going up to the second floor he was passing along a narrow passage beside the presses in the direction of the elevator shaft, when in the dark he stumbled, struck the can against a press and broke the glass. The benzine flowed out, and as the pressman had a gas light burning there the light gas almost instantly exploded. Meyers' feet, saturated with benzine, took fire, and he ran toward the stairway, where he extinguished the fire on his person and ran down to the drug store as before stated. The Coroner will begin the inquest to-morrow.

Miss Nannie Shepherd, who jumped from the third story of Sullivan's printing establishment and was caught on a tarpaulin and thought not to be fatally injured, died to-day. Miss Emma Finchback, who was saved by the rope, had her hands so horribly burned that it is thought she must lose her right fore arm. The other injured are doing well.

General Grant's Condition.

NEW YORK, May 22.—There was some undue irritation in General Grant's throat last night, attended by frequent attempts to clear the surface of mucus. These efforts further irritated the parts and the General being apprehensive of a wakeful night, suggested that Dr. Douglas remain through the night, which he did. When the Doctor, this morning he said the General's apprehensions proved groundless, for he slept at 11:30 last night and continued to sleep at intervals until 8:30 this forenoon. At that time he awoke with little if any pain. The Doctor thought that the case was a mild one, and that the weather affected the General unfavorably.

Disappearance of a Pilot.

EVANSVILLE, May 22.—Pilot Brown, of the steamer Fulton, disappeared from that boat on Wednesday night, while she was grounded at Three Miles, and is supposed to have fallen into the river and drowned. He was a single man and lived at Louisville. Every exertion is being made to ascertain his fate, but up to dark nothing had been ascertained of him.

Another Man Jumps Off the Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, May 22.—It was rumored to-night that Frank Livingston, an acrobat employed at Harry Hill's Theater, had jumped from the Brooklyn bridge in imitation of Professor Odium, and like Odium, was killed.

Not Our Maude.

A rumor was current yesterday that Maude Stuart, the well-known actress of this city, had died in a New York hospital and a dispatch was alleged to have been received, addressed to Mrs. Grubbs, mother of Maude Stuart Grubbs, confirming the sad event. The best information on the subject is that it was not Maude Stuart Grubbs who had died in the New York hospital but another actress of the same name. The rumor grew out of the following special to the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette:

NEW YORK, May 21.—Maude Stuart died to-day about 11 a. m., at St. Vincent's Hospital. A few days ago she told me that she was the actress who was dying in a lodging-house in Clinton Place. He went there this morning to see her history of the last stage of consumption. She refused to tell him the name of her relatives or friends, saying bitterly: "I know what friends are at a time like this." By Mr. Baker's direction she was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital. Before her death, Mr. Baker tried again and again to learn her history by the names of some of her friends or relatives. She shook her head at each request, but finally said she would tell Dr. Wildes, who was attending her. When the Doctor asked her, however, she still remained silent.

Several people called yesterday at the Actors' Fund rooms and said they knew a Maude Stuart, and were sent by Mr. Baker to view the body. There were two actresses of the name. One is well known to New York players, and the other is a blind girl in "Young Mrs. Watrump" which was played at the Madison Square Theater. She was a native of Indianapolis. Mr. Baker tried to get the name of the actress who had died in the New Jersey. She will be buried to-morrow by the Actors' Fund, unless friends claim the body.

The Halcyon Benefit.

It is evening once the Halcyon benefit at the Meridian Rink, and rink patrons, who have on several occasions been pleasantly entertained by the brilliant and exciting playing of these young men, should not forget the compliment due them. Prove to them that as a polo team they have been prepared for the past season. An interesting programme has been arranged for the evening, which consists of speed and fancy skating, and a game of polo between the Meridian Club and the subjects for whom the benefit will be given.

From the Lands of the Sultan and the Shah.

Iskender Bey, late of Constantinople, Turkey, has arranged with Albert Gall, the well-known carpet dealer, to occupy a part of the ground floor of his establishment during the coming week for the exhibition of a remarkable collection of Turkish, Persian, Dayhistan and Bokhara rugs and carpets, 250 or more pieces, and over 500 patterns of rare Turkish and Persian embroideries and other Asiatic curios. Among the gems to be exhibited is a royal prayer rug, probably 500 years old, magnificently embroidered in gold and silver. The most valuable piece in the collection is a prayer rug brought from Mecca three months ago, upon which the renowned El Mahdi prostrated himself in prayer. Its price is $2,000. Iskender Bey will be pleased to show these things to all who may call. He will be dressed in his native costume.
