

FROM THE SUNDAY SENTINEL.

GENERAL NEWS.

Different Ideas of Rest-Growth of Friendship-Secretary Whitney and John Roach's Crucial Dolphin.

The Passenger Steamship City of Berlin Strikes an Iceberg in the Fogs off Newfoundland.

REMOVALS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Ideas Regarding Absolute Rest Only Relative.

Special to the Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—In the matter of removals and appointments the present administration has decided the very best. "Knock and it shall be opened unto you," was interpreted as a special message from Grover Cleveland to the Democratic applicants for Federal office. While Senator Voorhes was determined that Bayless W. Hanna should be recognized, he wished something for that gentleman worthy his talents and accomplishments. "To leave the country," he argued, "would be the height of folly both for yourself and the party. There is no wisdom in starting four horses to race and appointing the present administration has decided the very best."

WASHINGTON, May 23.—In the matter of removals and appointments the present administration has decided the very best. "Knock and it shall be opened unto you," was interpreted as a special message from Grover Cleveland to the Democratic applicants for Federal office. While Senator Voorhes was determined that Bayless W. Hanna should be recognized, he wished something for that gentleman worthy his talents and accomplishments. "To leave the country," he argued, "would be the height of folly both for yourself and the party. There is no wisdom in starting four horses to race and appointing the present administration has decided the very best."

THE CITY OF BERLIN.

She Has a Narrow Escape by Striking an Immense Iceberg on the Banks of Newfoundland.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The steamship City of Berlin, on the 19th inst., at 3:35 a. m., latitude 43 degrees and 30 minutes, longitude 46 degrees and 30 minutes, struck an iceberg, stern on, in a dense fog. The engines were going very slowly at the time. Her bowsprit and leadwork were carried away, but no damage was done below the main-deck line. At 4:15 she proceeded quite slowly. At 6:24 a. m. she passed another iceberg, and still another at 8:50. The City of Berlin brings 143 cabined and 1,139 passenger passengers. On board were James O'Rowe, captain; A. W. West, second mate; and J. H. Smith, third mate. The weather being very fine and the sea smooth, until approaching the Banks of Newfoundland, when a thick fog set in at 8 p. m. Monday, the 18th inst., which continued until 10 p. m. of the 20th, when it cleared up. The ship was then at about 40 miles from the coast during the fog, and the steam whistle kept blowing at intervals of about five minutes. On Monday morning at about 10 a. m. the ship came in collision with an immense iceberg, which carried away the jib boom, bowsprit, and leadwork, and all gear attached, store in the bow, breaking the iron pipe, deck, and railing, and causing the loss of many tons of iron on the forecastle deck, breaking it through and going down into the hold. Two men were killed, and many others were injured. The ship was holed in several places, and the escape with their lives, the fog being so thick at the time that they could not see the iceberg until it came within a few feet of the bow. The forward part of the ship was struck, and the water came rushing in. At the time of the shock Chief Officer J. H. Smith was on the bridge, and with great promptness Mr. Barker rushed to the bow of the ship to ascertain whether the iceberg was on the starboard or port side, at the same time giving orders to cut away the lashings of the life rafts and boats and to prepare the ship for leaving in case the ship should be holed. The crew were ordered to get ready, and the others were being put in readiness, until it was discovered that the ship was not making way. The ship was then ordered to anchor, and the crew were ordered to get ready. The ship was then ordered to anchor, and the crew were ordered to get ready.

General Grant's Condition.

NEW YORK, May 23.—"It would be difficult to tell just how many hours father slept last night," said Colonel Fred Grant this morning, "because his sleep was so much broken. It was not a good night at all. His wakefulness was owing to pain, and the pain was caused by the change in weather. He is feeling pain this morning—is by no means as comfortable as he was yesterday." Dr. Boylston says this evening that General Grant was feeling better than in the morning; that his throat appeared no worse than on Friday, and that the changes of the weather had produced changes in the patient's condition. The ladies of the family accompanied the General in driving out about 10 a. m. to the country. Colonel Fred Grant said to-night the general did not feel at all well after his drive, and that he was suffering with his throat. He applied cocaine himself, which gave him some relief, but he had to discontinue all work on his book. If possible the General will leave for McGregor about June 15. His general condition is about the same as for the past three days.

Base Ball With Cards.

PROVIDENCE, May 23.—The second game in the tournament of the new game with cards between the National League Base Ball Club for cash prizes aggregating $1,000 in gold and trophies consisting of a silver bat and ball, valued at $60, was played in this city to-day. The contestants were Irwin and Radford, representing the Providence team, and Hamilton and Gault, of the Detroit. Umpecker acted as referee. Irwin won the lead, and it was evident from the start that the Providence team had the upper hand. The following is the score by innings: Providence..... 3 3 3 3 3 3 0-24 Detroit..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 3-3 The next game will be played in New York 1 between the New Yorks and Philadelphians.

Explosion of a Tank of Boiling Lard.

NEW YORK, May 23.—At 8:15 this evening a tank of boiling lard exploded in the rear of Karscher & Fay's packing house, Graham avenue and Bockman street, totally destroying the building and burning the inmates beneath the ruins. John Kramer, of 186 Johnson avenue, had a leg fractured and also received a severe scalp wound; Henry Scalpner, a butcher, suffered contusions; Carl Klabner, was badly lacerated and bruised about the body. The entire building was burned. It is believed that some children who were playing in front of the building were under the walls as they fell, but this could not be ascertained positively. The property loss is estimated at $30,000. Insurance.

Weekly Bank Statement.

Table with columns: Bank Name, Increase, Decrease. Includes entries for Loan, Specie, Legal tenders, Deposits, Circulation, Reserve.

Held for Forgery.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Eugene Walton, the first National Bank Teller, who was accused of making false entries and causing a discrepancy of $7,000 in his accounts, has been held in $10,000 bail for the United States Grand Jury.

Inasane.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 23.—L. C. Jewell, Marshal of Tuscola, left this morning with Charles Pre, who was taken charge of here in an insane condition, last Wednesday evening.

Special to the Sentinel.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 23.—L. C. Jewell, Marshal of Tuscola, left this morning with Charles Pre, who was taken charge of here in an insane condition, last Wednesday evening.

CHICAGO SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Corn the Feature of the Week's Dealings—A Material Gain Registered—Wheat Fluctuations Confined to Narrow Limits.

Special to the Sentinel. CHICAGO, May 23.—The excitement of the week on 'Change has centered in the corn pit. This cereal has kept steadily on the up grade and registered a material gain. The philosophical bars who sold corn and who had plenty of arguments to prove that Lester would never run a corner still have their arguments, but are getting decidedly nervous and are by no means so certain of their position as they were ten days ago. Gossips who pretend to know all about the inside facts now claim that the deal is fixed; that Worthington and Norton have taken care of all the cash grain as it arrived, and that Lester and Baxter have bought the options. The fact is, however, that if the alleged clique have worked to blind the boys, they have succeeded admirably; for it is safe to say that not even the brokers who are in the pit every day have had an idea how Lester and Co. really stand on the market. Lester has bought heavily and so has Baxter, and then again they have both appeared anxious sellers for their deliveries, as well as buyers of June and sellers of July. Stocks, however, are so light that if there is any kind of a "short" interest it would not surprise anybody to see the market cover itself. Much depends on receipts. Unless they increase the market can not go down, especially with wheat firm. At the same time the present price of corn is about on a par with $1.25 wheat. Nobody, however, wants to sell much until they see the corn rise. Prices are about on a level with opinions regarding the amount of corn left in the country. Some think the last crop was overestimated; others believe that the crop was not so large as the winter, while others still believe there are "stacks of it" lying back in first hands which will be sold in the near future as planting is over. Time alone will decide.

In the wheat pit it has been a week of stubborn fighting by both bulls and bears, and neither party has been able to get the market covered. Prices are about on a level with opinions regarding the amount of corn left in the country. Some think the last crop was overestimated; others believe that the crop was not so large as the winter, while others still believe there are "stacks of it" lying back in first hands which will be sold in the near future as planting is over. Time alone will decide.

A Verdict Against Squeezers. CHICAGO, May 23.—Charles E. Brown was given a judgment for $25 to-day before Justice Hammer against John H. Redheffer, a lawyer; George Ryall, agent of the American Protective Association, both of whom are recently from Philadelphia, and C. A. Cook, of this city. Brown declares that on May 11 Cook introduced him to the other defendants, who explained that they would advance him $100, which he was to use as a bribe to get the suit for Martin & Skogje, who are operating what is known as an "automatic grain register." Having lost the case, the defendants in this suit would sue to recover, and the plan was, Brown alleges, to "squeeze" Martin & Skogje, who would readily pay $2,000 to $3,000 to get out of the suit. The defendants denied in general way the charges made by Brown. The judge, after hearing the testimony, allowed the claim. It was declared that Martin & Skogje were taking in $500 a day.

Suit for Forcing an Assignment. CINCINNATI, O., May 23.—The Lith-Cook Company, carriage manufacturers, has filed a suit for $100 against the Cincinnati Lithographing Company. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant caused an attachment to be made on their property on the strength of a note which had not yet fallen due, and the fact that the Lith-Cook Company was not indebted to the defendant as a creditor of the Carriage Company last month.

Iron Men's Conference. PITTSBURGH, May 23.—The iron manufacturers' and workers' conference was still in session at 2 this afternoon. No conclusion had been reached at that hour, but a satisfactory settlement is looked for before night, as there is a difference of only 2 1/2 cents between them. The conference adjourns to-morrow until Monday, when a settlement is assured.

Banquet to S. S. Cox. NEW YORK, May 23.—Hon. S. S. Cox, the New American Statesman, was entertained by an entertaining dinner in the Hoffman House, June 9, by many of the most prominent citizens of New York. Congressman Hewitt presided.

Catarah is a constitutional disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. It cures catarrh. Give it a trial.

TUTT'S PILLS. "THE OLD RELIABLE." 25 YEARS IN USE. The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age. Indorsed all over the World.

Symptoms of a Torpid Liver. Loss of appetite, Nausea, bowels costive, Pain in the Head with a dull sensation in the back part. Pain under the shoulder-blade, fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, Loss of memory, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering of the Heart, Drowsiness, Ringing in the ears, Yellow Skin, Headache, Restlessness at night, highly colored Urine.

IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASE WILL COME ON DEVELOPED. TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, and their effects such a change of feeling as to restore the sufferer. They increase the Appetite, and cause the body to take in fresh strength, thus restoring the system to its normal condition. They act on the Digestive Organs, Regular Stools are produced. Price 25 cents.

TUTT'S HAIR DYE. GRAY HAIR or WHISKERS changed to a JEWELRY BLACK by simple application of this DYE. It imparts a natural color, acts instantaneously. Sold by Druggists, or sent by express on receipt of $1. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

Sheep-Killing Dogs—Damage Suit. SHELBYVILLE, Ind., May 23.—Leonidas Gordon, a wealthy farmer living just north of town, had fifteen valuable sheep and three lambs killed by town dogs last night. Two of the dogs were caught and killed this morning. One of them was a valuable St. Bernard, weighing about 150 pounds, belonging to Mr. Clark Williams, a grocer in this city. B. K. Casey, who had his hand injured in a saw-mill, had a $1,000 damage suit against Dr. I. H. Drake and Dr. Morris Drake, attending physicians, for alleged malpractice.

The Tuttle Case Decided. MARTINSVILLE, Ind., May 23.—The case of Dick Tuttle vs. twenty of the most respectable citizens of Brown County, closed yesterday with a verdict in favor of all the defendants. Dick charged the SENATOR MAGEE'S DEPARTURE.

Special to the Sentinel. LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 23.—Hon. Rufus Magee and family left at noon to-day for New York, where they will embark for Stockholm. A large crowd gathered at the depot and bade them farewell. The people of the city and county sincerely regret Senator Magee's departure.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Senator Magee's Departure. LOGANSPORT, Ind., May 23.—Hon. Rufus Magee and family left at noon to-day for New York, where they will embark for Stockholm. A large crowd gathered at the depot and bade them farewell. The people of the city and county sincerely regret Senator Magee's departure.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by these men, in the trial of Dr. Henckell for the murder of her father, Thursday, the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared, amid tears and hysterics, that her father was killed by the murderer of her father. When Henckell came in, and in the struggle that ensued killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday, in the trial, the young lady closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial for the murder of her father. A large crowd was present, and cheered the bride and bridegroom tumultuously.

Curious Ending of a Murder Case. NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Avery's salt mine, in Iberia parish, in March. The neighbors, hearing a shot fired at night at the house of Burgmuller, who was engaged at the salt works, hastened thither and found Burgmuller dead and his daughter, Anna Burgmuller, seriously wounded. Dr. Henckell and a man named Van Horne were near the house and were arrested. The story first told was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter