Red Cross Work

Through seven depots in northern France and Belgium the American Red Cross is now conducting its task of distributing clothing to the destitute refugees of those countries. The work is growing and during the last week of March there will be a nationwide collection of used clothing, shoes and blankets to meet the imperative needs of the refugees in Allied countries.

Circle reports to the National Headquarters of the Red Cross show that distribution depots are in operation in Lille, Amiens, Laon, Mazieres and Yverdon, in France and at Adinkerke and Bruges, Belgium. Refugee garments shipped during January to those depots totalled 229,000 separate articles. Some of the largest items were 23,000 men's shirts, 22,500 children's petticoats, 14,000 chemises and 16,000 blouses. In addition to the work of the seven distributing depots 8,600 garments were given to the needy in Paris during the month.

Every survey that has been made in Europe shows that the lack of clothing is one of the most serious problems faced by the population struggling with reconstruction. To help them the American people will be asked to donate a minimum of ten thousand tons of cast-off garments.

AN UP-BUILDING FORCE

Regardless of climate or environment, Nature exacts her toll of wear and tear on the system and there is frequent need for an effectual aid to restore strength and vitality.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

A Queer Old Bird is The Pelican

Its bill holds more than its bellican.

But at that, its heart is bigger than its bill. It is the only bird which shares its food with other and weaker fowl.

So the queer old pelican looms up handsome in Goodrich's eyes—eyes which see beauty if it is more than skin deep.

Goodrich, it is true, makes Silvertown Cords the handsomest tires—a very Beau Brummel tires of smart cars.

Yet if clumsiness and ugliness would add one mile to their service, Goodrich would make them clumsy and ugly as the queer old pelican.

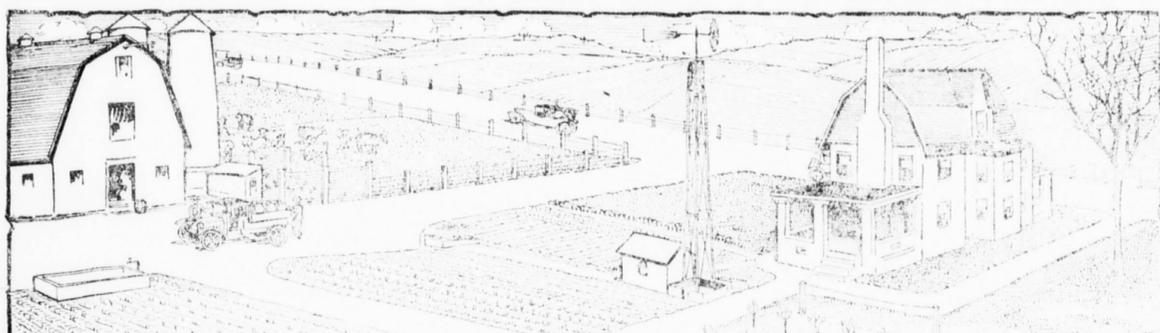

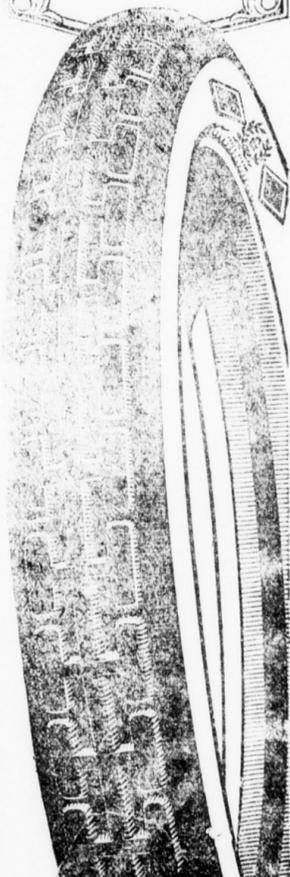

"Quality First," rules in the manufacture of Silvertowns; and they render quality service first and last.

Give your automobile the obvious grace and elegance of the Tires with the Twin Red Diamonds on the sidewall. Their mileage is sure.
