

you will congratulate yourself and your children that you were one of the grand army of the patriotic reformers of 1840.

Remember then that you don't forget to vote for the HARRISON ELECTORAL TICKET.

WATCHMAN! WHAT OF THE NIGHT?

For the purpose of conveying to our readers a distinct idea of the positions of Gen. Harrison and Mr. Van Buren, now that the State elections have terminated, we submit a statement of the majorities given in all the States, omitting fractions:

Table with 2 columns: State and No. of Electors. Lists majorities for Harrison and Van Buren across various states like Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, etc.

It appears, therefore, that the majorities for Gen. Harrison in 14 States amount to 31,300; for Mr. Van Buren in his 3 States are 15,500. The States which have decided in favor of Gen. Harrison, gave 149 electoral votes; while those which have given Van Buren majorities cast only 16 electoral votes.

The contest is at hand. The opposing ranks are taking their ground. On one side the mountains and valleys are covered with the countless army of the people, exhibiting an awful front, stretching from the Northeastern highlands to the Gulf of Mexico, and occupying every important point from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

From the Millidgeville Recorder. RETURNS COMPLETE.—The following is the aggregate vote of the several candidates for Congress in all the counties of the State.

Table with 2 columns: Candidate Name and Vote Count. Lists names like Alford, Dawson, Foster, etc., and their respective vote counts.

IRELAND AND REPEAL.—A letter from Dublin, under date of the first says: The usual weekly repeal meeting was held on Monday; Counselor Clare was in the Chair.

ELECTORAL ELECTION.

Table with 2 columns: State and No. of Votes. Lists electoral results for various states including Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, etc.

On the second of November 148 electors are chosen, by fourteen States, being just the number necessary for a choice. Fifty-one electors are chosen on the 30th of October.

LETTER FROM HENRY CLAY.—The subjoined letter from Kentucky's noblest son, to his brother patriots of the N. Carolina Convention, will be read with interest.

ABHLAND, 21st September, 1840. Gentlemen—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your obliging invitation, to attend the Convention at Raleigh, on the 5th October next.

You rightly state the present contest. It is a contest between Arbitrary Power and Constitutional Liberty. It is the old battle which our revolutionary fathers fought, except that the monarch is a foreign monarch, while their descendants are struggling against the erection of a domestic throne; and that they fought with bayonets, while we are yet allowed to use more peaceful instruments.

BALTIMORE REAL ESTATE SAVINGS INSTITUTION. THE undersigned, Treasurer of the Baltimore Real Estate Savings Institution, in accordance with the wishes of the members, presents for public consideration the following list of names:

1st. This institution was established for the purpose of affording convenient change to the community, and accommodation to persons of small capital—savings and laborers.

2d. Its capital consists of deposits made by its members, each of whom is at liberty to deposit any sum he may think proper, not less than one dollar per week.

3d. The institution has a constitution for its government—under this constitution its officers are elected. Each depositor is an elected member, and at all times the members have the privilege of examining the books and papers of the institution.

4th. The capital of this institution was, at the commencement, comparatively small—it has considerably increased, and is yet increasing. Additional stock which has been taken in, for the benefit of those concerned, the institution becomes daily interested in valuable securities, judgments, mortgages, rents upon real estate, &c., &c., naturally tending to give it power, stability and character.

5th. It is believed that this institution merits public approbation, and deserves the especial attention and support of the community. It is a safe and profitable mode of investing money, and affords an opportunity to a board of directors, literally working men, and who, from their situation in life and business, can properly appreciate the wants of their own class.

6th. The difference between this institution and the large institutions of the kind, is that the latter are managed up to the institutions of the commercial class, possessed of large capital, while this may be regarded as the institution of the mechanic and laboring classes, possessed of only very limited means.

7th. Envoys and designing persons, whose interest it is to excite the passions of the people, depending upon the art of the public mind, have endeavored to create a false impression, and to induce the public to believe that the institution is a mere speculation, and that the directors are a set of idle and dissipated men.

8th. The undersigned, Treasurer of the Baltimore Real Estate Savings Institution, in accordance with the wishes of the members, presents for public consideration the following list of names:
