A Pleasant Reception

The Congregational church members gave an informal reception to Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Ripon last Friday evening at the village hall. An invitation was extended to everybody in the town and vicinity and a goodly crowd had gathered at a reasonably early hour for this burg. The guests as they arrived were introduced to the pastor and his wife, who were cordially and sincerely welcomed into their new field of labor. After all had been made acquainted, Mrs. F. B. Hicks called the people to order and a short musical program was rendered, one number being "The Rosary," sung by Miss Rosie Monker, which was well received. After the musical part of the program, Rev. T. G. Sandeno was called upon for a few remarks, and in a happy frame of mind he said a number of things encouraging to his colleague of another yet the same faith. Dr. F. B. Hicks responded with an encouraging talk also, and admitted having once stood in the pulpit, and cited one instance of preaching to a congregation who had to be good and show respect to the speaker because they were seated beneath a balcony lined with sentinels armed with rifles. They listened throughout the discourse with perfect demeanor and evident interest. The doctor did not say that his audiences under circumstances where the discipline was less strict had always outwardly shown the same signs of evident interest. Claus C. Monker made a humorous talk, comparing the profession of minister with that of doctor. We will not try to quote him lest we be misunderstood. It was a speech necessary to be heard to be appreciated. And then fruit punch and cookies were served. There was lots of it, and it was good. All went home happy.

U. S. REJECTS AUSTRIA'S VIEW

AMERICAN REPLY FLATLY DENIES CONTENTIONS IN NOTE.

Document Made Public Declares United States Adheres to Neutrality in Supplying Belligerents.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The state department has made public the reply of the United States rejecting views set forth by the Austro-Hungarian government in a recent note contending that exportation of war munitions from America to Austria's enemies was conducted on such a scale as to be "not in consonance with the definition of neutrality."

Though friendly in language and tone, the note flatly denies the Austro-Hungarian contentions and recalls that that country and Germany furnished munitions of war to Great Britain during the Boer war, when England's enemies could not import such supplies. It insists that the American government is pursuing a strictly neutral course and adhering to a principle upon which it would depend for munitions in the markets of the world in case it should be attacked by a foreign power.

"The principles of international law," the communication concludes, "the practice of nations, the national safety of the United States and other nations without great military and naval establishments, the prevention of increased armies and navies, the adoption of peaceful methods for the adjustment of international differences and finally neutrality itself, are opposed to the prohibition by a neutral nation of the exportation of arms, ammunition or other munitions of war to belligerent powers during the progress of the war."

Baseball Game

An exciting game of baseball, the best yet witnessed on the local grounds, was played here last Sunday, between the Grand Marais and the West End nines. The game was won by Grand Marais, 13 to 11.

The visitors were seriously handicapped by the loss of their regular catcher, Chris Thormondson, who a few days before was hurt by falling from a load of hay, and was unable to be in the game. To this mishap is attributed their loss of the contest. The day was ideal and the game attracted an unusually large crowd, who were given a very creditable exhibition of the national game.

The local fans have apparently learned to appreciate the real sportsmanship of the visiting nine, offensive rooting being agreeably conspicuous by its absence.

This was the second game of the season between these nines and a third game is proposed to be played at Lutsen in the near future.

The visiting players were accompanied by a party of about forty west end fans, who came down on the Edna A. Sunday morning, returning home on the same boat that evening.
