

The Daily Comet

BATON ROUGE, JUNE 30, 1855.

Attention is called to a communication to-day, from our Clinton correspondent, giving a vivid picture of the Masonic celebration at that place on Tuesday last.

MASONIC.—There will be a meeting of WASHINGTON R. A. CHAPTER NO. 5, at the Masonic Hall, foot of Church Street, on Monday night next, the 2d inst. A punctual attendance is requested.

An Ear for Music.—A soldier many years ago, was sentenced, for desertion to have his ears cut off. After undergoing the brutal ordeal, he was escorted out of the court-yard to the tune of the "Bogue's March." He then turned and in mock dignity thus addressed the musicians:—"Gentlemen I thank you; but I have no further need of your services, for I have no ear for music."

"Don't you think my execution of Othello a capital performance? It is in my line, is it not?" asked an eminent tragedian of Cooke.

"Why, yes," replied the provoking punster, "all executions may be considered capital performances, and your performance of Othello is certainly of that class, for you execute him, in your line, so effectually, that as soon as you lay hands upon him, he is no Moor."

LOST POCKET BOOK.—About three weeks ago, the undersigned lost a Pocket book near the residence of Mr. Bates. As it was lost in the public road, some one must have found it and be distressed to find the owner. The Pocket book or port monnaie is of open steel work showing red morocco beneath, with my name written thereon. There was about $25 mostly of gold in it, with papers of no value to any one but myself—an order of Shropshire, and one on R. C. Hutchison. If the $25 in money will pay the finder, he can bring up the book and papers to
