

New Orleans Republican. OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE UNITED STATES. NEW ORLEANS, DECEMBER 24, 1870.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN. Largest Circulation of Any Paper in the South. THE NEW ORLEANS REPUBLICAN.

A CHRISTMAS STORY. The Republican of tomorrow will contain a highly interesting Christmas story, entitled "AT THE OLIVE'S GROVE."

A train of cars, indestructible, at Eyrich's. California is losing her lordly indifference to small things, and calls loudly for penance to make change and save the piece.

Governor Warmoth has appointed Francis Bally and Philip Wazara branch pilots for the port of New Orleans.

Every now and then we hear of some lucky one who has drawn a prize in the Louisiana State Lottery.

Five thousand elegant picture primers (Miss Merryhart's series), were gotten up expressly for the Academy gift matinee.

The Lydia Thompson Troupe attended the French opera last evening, and to-day will attend the matinee at the St. Charles Theatre.

The fifteenth annual Christmas gift matinee takes place to-day at the Academy of Music. Manager Bidwell will present the gifts.

The annual election for directors of the Bank of New Orleans will be held at the banking house on the ninth of January, between 10 A. M. and 2 P. M.

An entertainment will be given in honor of the graduates of 1870, on the twenty-eighth inst, at ten A. M., at the Central High School. The Republicans will be represented.

The thermometer at seven o'clock yesterday morning was 27° at New Orleans, 29° at Cincinnati, 8° at Nashville, 25° at Augusta, 26° at Lake City, 23° at Mobile, and 18° at Washington.

A young lady having read about a man having invented a stove which will consume its own smoke, hopes he will next devise a method whereby tobacco-smokers can be run on the same economical principle.

The toys to be presented at the Academy of Music, Monday, are almost as numerous as the grains of sand on a sea shore. At least, we should judge so from the great number we saw last night.

William Murrell, the polite and efficient doorkeeper of the late House of Representatives of this State, is a candidate for re-election. He has hosts of friends, and will doubtless make a good run.

The double company at the Academy of Music, for the holidays, are selected from the best artists in the world; the burlesque company, especially, is the largest and most talented ever presented to a New Orleans audience.

A memorandum for the Female Ministers: Who is the greatest benefactor of the day? The manager of the Academy of Music, for he will distribute at the matinee five thousand books that will inculcate good morals.

There will be about one hundred and thirty supernumerary officers to go out of service, chiefly captains and first lieutenants. Each will receive a year's advance pay in cash, amounting to from $1500 to $3000, to begin civil life.

The sale of elegant marble statuary, bronze clocks, etc., will take place this day at half past ten o'clock A. M., at No. 6 Carondelet street, by the Messrs. Montgomery, for the convenience of the ladies, and will be continued at seven o'clock P. M.

It is believed that the departure of General Schenck for England will not be long delayed. He is now busy at the State Department making himself familiar with the past history of the Alabama claims, and other matters of interest between the two governments.

The members of the Lydia Thompson burlesque troupe, who arrived here yesterday, accompanied by Alexander Henderson, Esq., are as follows: Misses Eliza Westensley, Minnie Walton, Louise Arnold, Lizette Kealey, Kate Heathcote, Jennie Whelan, Josephine M. W. Cabill, Mose Pike, J. W. Bruton and Mr. Fred. Lyster, musical director.

We acknowledge the receipt of complimentary tickets to the Christmas Eve festival to take place this evening at the Turner Hall, to be given by the Turner's Association for the benefit of their school. There will be one thousand Christmas gifts distributed by lottery, and each entrance ticket will be numbered and draw a prize of some kind. Admittance, fifty cents; children accompanied by parents, free.

The select readings by Mrs. Marie Wilkins, at the Masonic Hall last evening, were deservedly successful. The readings were all excellently rendered; but it would be for express a preference, it would be for "Widow Green" and the "Lost Heir." The song "My Old Sea Waves," sung by Mrs. Pearce, was rapturously received. Mr. Arnold's best song, for which he was in excellent voice, was "Let All Obey." Mr. Buck's reading was very well received. The masterly touch of Professor Goward, as an accompanist at the piano, gave heightened effect to the songs. We hope ere long to have the entertainment repeated.

THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE. Mayor Flanders has supplemented Administrator Shaw's incisive report with a message which ought to set us all to thinking. Such solid reflections as these documents suggest might have been preserved until after the holidays, and if the wives and daughters of this generous emporium find their allowance reduced in volume this year, they may very plausibly rest the blame on these two hard-headed and practical officers, who, in their desire to do well for the soulless corporation which has been committed to their charge, deliberately and vindictively tell us that we have been spending too much money, and that in order to enjoy ourselves hereafter we must economize present. The lesson, we confess, is good, but it might have been withheld until after our Christmas vacation.

But since the soup is on the table let us at once proceed to discuss it. The flavor of a dish is in its early service. Mayor Flanders is sharp on the matter of reducing expenses, and evidently feels a disposition to save every dollar that is uselessly spent. His observation as to the various drains upon the municipal treasury has been extended and searching, omitting, if we may be allowed to exercise our own judgment in the matter, the excess of employment dispensed in his own office. While we are cutting off heads, let the knife fall impartially, as Brian O'Donohue's shillabid did, whenever a useless caput can be seen. And that there are more mouths to feed in the Mayor's office than strict economy will warrant, is a proposition that has not originated with us, but has come to our ears at various times and in diverse places through the criticism of parties engaged in discussing municipal reforms. However, considering the labor of elaborating tables, and of compiling comparisons, if the Mayor insists that he can not proceed with a smaller clerical force, we shall not insist on our point.

In regard to the police reform, this is a measure which the Republican has not been backward in advancing heretofore. The Metropolitan system was a necessity at the time of its adoption; but since the peril that brought it into existence has ceased to exist, so the crude and cumbersome institution itself may be allowed to pass away. It has done some good in its day, and its evils were foreseen. The people of New Orleans were told long ago that if they did not amend their then existing hostility to the freedom of discussion and of thought, the expense of protecting men in their right to be Republicans would fall upon themselves. They chose not to amend, and if they have paid heavily for their obstinacy, it has been done with their eyes open, and after they had been cautioned as to the result. The lesson will do them good. Since there is no further necessity for so large and unwieldy a system, and since the expenses can be reduced at least one-half, let it be the work of the Republican party to do the necessary work of reduction. New Orleans can be sufficiently garrisoned against disorder by a force of four hundred men, and the entire line of duties that is now intrusted to the Commissioners may be committed to a capable chief and a faithful body of aids, something after the fashion of a regiment of regular soldiers, stationed at a distant frontier post. All the grand offices can be surrendered to other tenants, and police headquarters can be located in one of the municipal buildings. And with such a government as we have at present the control and direction of the police force can be safely committed to the Administrators. An annual saving could thus be effected of at least four hundred thousand dollars, and the city would be policed to better advantage than it is now or ever has been since the days of old Baldwin.

In the matter of legal expenses, such as the fees paid to coroners, sheriffs, and for keeping the prisoners, there is a wide margin for reform. Under Democratic rule it has grown to be a most oppressive and extortionate system of charging the city with innumerable costs in criminal prosecutions. And this, too, in the face of the very letter of the law, which declares, in effect, though in very loose and defective language, that all charges in favor of the officers as against criminals, shall be collected from the parties themselves. The evident intention of the Legislature was to release all corporate authorities from the expense of criminal prosecutions, considering very justly that the Sheriff had such ample fees that he could be taxed with this much work in favor of the community that paid him so handsomely. In reference to coroners, the number of inquests to be paid for is not regulated by the number held, but by the number of inquests held in cases where the subject came to his or her death by violence. Under Democratic liberality, coroners have been in the habit of hunting up all sorts of cases, and charging for the inquest as well if the party died in bed as if he had been bludgeoned at night. A close adherence to the law itself will reform this matter. And about the feed of prisoners in the parish jail, if the inmates of that valuable institution were subjected to some kind of employment, or if their board were let out by contract, or if their food could be engaged a cook, and supply her victims from her own table, the bill might be reduced very materially.

We might refer to the printing bill and compare the amount of work done during the past year, in the midst of a city undergoing reconstruction and reorganization, with that which was done in former years, but that is a subject which has been discussed at length in the past and will be forced to further discussion in the future. One thing may be mentioned, however, in this connection, that the assistance which the city has extended to the Republican has been well bestowed, and would have been if it had been greater, for the labor which has made it possible to pride ourselves on such a government as we have now, can never be estimated too highly. The journalist who goes about day after day combating with projudice and beating down error, is not often considered by the generation that profits from his labors; but he is, nevertheless, the magician whose wand turns the rocks in the great deserts and brings forth drink for the famishing mind.

Taken for all in all, and with the slight suggestions which we have added in regard to the Mayor's office, the message is a sound and able document, and worthy of consideration after the holidays.

AS WE DO TO OTHERS. A little of the spirit which animates the Democracy in its violence against all parties that do not take to universal amnesty all at once, might suggest that if the Democracy were a little more liberal itself the result would be favorable to a larger growth of good feeling. As the law and the constitution fix the status of citizenship, when the Democracy acknowledges the political privileges of the colored people with unreserved and generous frankness, then the world can listen with some degree of satisfaction to its demand for amnesty and forgiveness to all. But to see a man with his foot on his neighbor's neck, sawing the air in favor of his own freedom, and disfranchising those below him, is not calculated to inspire a just sentiment of assistance in his favor. More generosity might probably bestow more liberality in the party authorized to bestow amnesty.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is after Garibaldi, because the red-shirted hero practices in France what Democracy preaches in Kentucky, that political rights only belong to one-half of the people. Garibaldi is a regular Ku-Klux crowd himself, only he does not paint his face, but does openly what his imitators in the South do in the night.

Straight University Exhibition Exercises. The exhibition exercises at Straight University took place on Thursday evening.

There was a numerous attendance of scholars and visitors present, although, from the coldness and inclemency of the weather, there was not so full an attendance as there would have been in more favorable weather. The exercises consisted of recitation and declamation by the pupils, most of whom, though not all, belonged to the more advanced classes. Among the exercises were interspersed pieces consisting of solos and choruses, with pianoforte accompaniment by Miss N. A. Ansell, one of the teachers.

Several of the recitations were in French, and were creditably given. In the piece "Jeanne d'Arc," recited by Miss Georgiana Taylor, the accent and expression might be termed faultless; were it not that the nature of the subject required a bolder intonation. "The Raven" was creditably recited by Miss Mary A. Francole, although it would have been better for a little more vigor of manner. "Paradise," by Miss Mary Jane Thompson, was also exceedingly well declaimed. If we were to say that toward the conclusion of the recital the vigor of the delivery was not so well sustained, it would be right to remark, also, that "Paradise" is one of the most difficult subjects for declamation in the whole range of English literature.

The recitative tableau, entitled "Beauty of Piety," in which Mrs. Mary V. Marshall, one of the teachers, took part as the Priestess, supported by eight of the pupils, was beautifully conceived and executed; the closing part, in which the Lord's Prayer was repeated by all the characters, was solemnly effective. We can not omit mention of the beautiful musical tableau of the "Golden Nine," which, in effect, surpassed any other part of the exercises.

The music was good throughout. The choruses were all sung in good time, and the solo and duet parts were finely sung by Mrs. Marshall and Miss Mary Brunette. The latter has a voice of more than ordinary compass, with a round and even fulness of tone that promises a great result with proper cultivation. As it is, there are several indications that the singer has given no systematic attention to vocal cultivation or practice of ad libitum, her present attainments being the result, merely, of desultory efforts.

At the conclusion of the exercises Rev. Mr. Healy announced that there was a gentleman present who had been largely instrumental in promoting the organization of the present educational institution, to which so many present were indebted for the means of advancement in life through mental culture. He would, therefore, call on the Rev. J. Seán Martin, D. D., and ask him to favor the audience with some remarks concerning that subject of enlightened Christian interest, the diffusion of the principle of universal education.

Mr. Martin then made a short, but forcible address, which was listened to with great interest.

The closing piece of music was followed by the benediction, and the assembly dispersed after an evening of rational enjoyment.

The Administrator of Police, Captain James Lewis, has issued an official order in relation to the time of daily opening of the Recorder's courts. The Administrator, in this order, says that where an officer has been tried by the Police Board upon the charge of sleeping at his post, the investigation has shown that in most instances the officer so charged has been detained the previous day at one of the Recorder's courts, as witness in some cases where he made an arrest. This detention, the Administrator says, is because some of the Recorder's delays in opening their courts, in some instances as late as eleven o'clock A. M., thus depriving the officers of required sleep, and rendering them incapable of performing their duties properly.

"In order to promote the efficiency of the police, and in justice to the class of officers above alluded to, it is made the duty (under penalty of suspension) of every officer opening the Recorder's courts at nine o'clock in the morning, daily, (Sundays excepted), for the transaction of the police and other business."

The Recorder's are also desired to first dispose of all cases where the evidence of night police is required, so as to release such officers from attendance at as early an hour as possible.

Administrator Lewis deserves credit for this order, which shows a proper regard for the comfort of the night police, and a disposition to give them a relief that will enable them all the better to perform the duty of patrolling the streets sufficiently wakeful to do their duty efficiently.

The French fair will be open on Christmas day, from noon to three o'clock P. M., and from half past six o'clock to midnight, when the exhibition rooms will positively be closed.

The Telescope Railroad. This dispatch we reproduce from the Louisville Commercial: WASHINGTON, December 20.—Colonel J. Williams, chief engineer of the Telescope Railroad Company, with his corps of engineers, went on board the steamer Nipisic, at Norfolk, yesterday, and sailed this morning for Mexico to commence the construction of the railroad and other works upon the Isthmus of Tehuacan, January 1, 1871. The officers and men of the Nipisic, as well as those of the Kansas and Mayflower, of Captain Shedd's ship canal exploring expedition, now at Minatitlan, will be present, under orders from the Navy Department, on the occasion of the breaking of the ground on the line of this new Isthmian railroad, which is destined to be of vast importance to the commerce of the United States. The United States Consul at Minatitlan has been instructed by the State Department to be present on the occasion, and report the proceedings to that department.

The Alabama Claims. New York, December 23.—The Tribune to-morrow will have the following: "It gives us unqualified pleasure to state that the fullest powers are to be conferred upon General Schenck to conduct to a final settlement all the questions now pending between the United States and England. As soon as the appointment of General Schenck was announced in these columns the Tribune indicated the probability that negotiations would be entered into by Mr. Schenck in London. It is matter for cordial congratulation that our new envoy is to sail at the earliest possible day, with instructions to negotiate to leave New York in the exercise of his well known energy, tact, and discretion in the discussion and arrangement of all our differences with Great Britain."

The Austin Journal says: The San Antonio Express sends us by telegraph the tragical tidings of the killing of Judge Clark, at El Paso, by B. F. Williams, who was himself killed by Captain French, of the State Police. Senator Fountain was slightly wounded in the head and arm. We have no particulars. Judge Clark was, we think, from New York, a practicing lawyer, and newly appointed to that district. The start will give us the details of this startling tragedy.
