AUCTION SALES THIS DAY.

BY R. A. J. MONTGOMERY, at 11 o'clock, at No. 218, Charles street, preliminary sale of the stocks and bonds of the late...

Local Intelligence.

ONCE MORE.—Lizzie Owens can not keep out of prison or trouble. Yesterday she was arrested on two charges, larceny and assault with a dangerous weapon.

MURDER.—Coroner Creagh, having taken testimony in the Sweeney case, killed by a brickbat thrown by Cooke, has made an affidavit charging Cooke with murder and Mr. and Mrs. Edwards as accessories.

BATTERY.—Herman Levi, feeling the incivility of the breeze of spring, time, let the springs in his arms draw back and then let loose on the person of his peer, Charles Drew, No. 230 Tchoupitoulas street.

A TERRIBLE and a BUFFALO.—Johnny Roach affirms before Recorder Houghton that Buffalo Bill, sometimes called Bill Davis, actually stole a skye terrier from him.

ROBBERY.—P. Moses, Foster and Wilson or men who use these names, were arrested for robbing Edward Mosher of thirty-five dollars.

WHOSE SILVER?—John Ashburn was picked up on Franklin street by Officer O'Seath, having nineteen pieces of silverware in a roll.

RETURNS BY RECORDERS.—The following treasury sums were turned into the city treasury by the several recorders:

First District, Recorder Houghton, $388.00 Second District, Recorder St. Louis, $12.50 Third District, Recorder Leclercq, $7.00 Fourth District, Recorder Weber, $138.00 Fifth District, Recorder Dumont, $8.50 Sixth District, Recorder Campbell, $5.00

PROCEED YOUR LICENSE.—Administrator Lewis is in possession of long lists of persons who are rated as delinquents, not having paid their license.

REFUGEE FROM TENNESSEE.—Captain Flanagan through proper sources obtained information that a man from Memphis, charged with having murdered Thomas Rogers, was in this city, having escaped from his jailer in Tennessee last July.

Charcoal peddlers will take a note of the fact that they owe the city a license of ten dollars. The police are instructed to fly the dealers.

THE SECRET SERVICE.—The recent appropriation by Congress of $25,000 for the ensuing year, for the purpose of facilitating the detection of counterfeiters, promises to be a judicious investment.

A dog bit two children of Mrs. Trainor on Gaiegnie street last evening so badly that a physician was compelled to be called in. The brute was killed by a patrolman.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The argument in the habeas corpus case of James White was continued until the eighteenth instant.

William Mason pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and was remanded for sentence.

Sam Woods pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on Fanny Carter, and was remanded for sentence.

William Lacey pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery, and was released on his bond to await the sentence of the law.

A noble present was entered in the case of George Tompkins, charged by Special Officer A. V. Ward with stealing about $100 worth of goods from the house of A. Violet.

He warned the fellow to desist when the rascal with a curse hurled a brickbat at the gentleman's head, and then ran like a deer. The missile was dodged, and it flew on, striking a man standing by a bale of cotton, flogging him. Special Officer Dumus pursued and caught the thief, who is out of the Parish Prison only a few days. His name is Williams.

NEW ORLEANS DENTAL COLLEGE.—The commencement exercises of the New Orleans Dental College took place last evening at the rooms of the college on Carondelet street. The lecture room of the institution was filled by a company of intelligent ladies and gentlemen, who witnessed the exercises with great interest.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. C. S. Hilton, of Christ church. Dr. J. S. Harrison, one of the faculty of the college, then read an interesting lecture, the subject being "Incentives to the study of the natural sciences."

The lecture evidenced great research, and the various subjects it embraced were ably treated. It is to be regretted that the professor omitted some portions of the lecture from the unfounded fear of taking up too much time.

The dean of the faculty, Dr. J. S. Knapp, then made a short address to the graduating class, and conferred the degrees of doctor of dental surgery on five young gentlemen: John A. Arrington, of Tennessee; Thomas D. French, of Mississippi; Herbert Norman, of South Australia; Sidney M. Cook, of Louisiana, and Charles P. Angell, of Louisiana.

An address on behalf of the students was then delivered by Mr. Herbert Norman, of South Australia, one of the graduating class. The address was listened to with attention, and to the applause of the audience.

The most interesting feature of the occasion was the bestowal of splendid bouquets upon the graduates by young ladies in the assembly.

A few remarks from Dr. Harrison terminated the exercises. The popular impersonator of Fritz, Mr. Joseph K. Emmet, commenced an engagement at this establishment on Monday evening, in the play written especially for him, entitled "Fritz, our Cousin German."

Mr. Emmet made a very favorable impression on our people last winter in this character, and the remembrance of his pleasing performances at that time has secured for him a most successful commencement to his present engagement.

The play is simple in plot; and, without any attempt at high-toned language, has enough of the humorous and pathetic, intermingled with the risibilities that are practiced by the villains who infest all large cities, to make it interesting.

There is nothing extravagant or unnatural in the play. It is a picture of life that often occurs in New York, when German emigrants are coming on shore, in spite of the efforts of the police to protect them against scoundrelism.

The elegant runners, bumpers and counterfeits of all kinds are generally on hand in force, to play their tricks, and occasionally do succeed; but in Fritz's case they are circumvented and finally come to grief.

In this condition, surrounded by the pleasures of a pleasant home and good business prospects, the villain in the full sense of a jolly miller, who claims to have had before crossed his path come again upon it, and are about to do violence to his wife and child, when he appears and saves them.

Mr. Emmet sustains the character with much ability throughout, introducing songs, dances and solos on the month harmonium, that please and electrify an audience. Miss O'Connor as Katrina, and Miss Singleton as M'Oppy, also render their parts well. The play will have a long run from present appearances.

The recent appropriation by Congress of $25,000 for the ensuing year, for the purpose of facilitating the detection of counterfeiters, promises to be a judicious investment.

The alarm of fire between eleven and twelve o'clock yesterday morning came from the residence of Mrs. Hathorn, on Philip, between St. Patrick and St. David streets. Cause, communication of fire to a mattress filled with shavings. The damage was slight.

A dog bit two children of Mrs. Trainor on Gaiegnie street last evening so badly that a physician was compelled to be called in. The brute was killed by a patrolman.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The argument in the habeas corpus case of James White was continued until the eighteenth instant.

William Mason pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and was remanded for sentence.

The New Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The Forty-first Congress ended and the Forty-second Congress organized to-day in the presence of the leading members of the press and an extraordinary attendance on the floors of the Senate and House.

With the exception of the Democratic Senator from Alabama, there was a complete new Congress. The Senate being a perpetual body of course, elected no officers, while that proceeding in the House was merely the ratification of the Republic.

The questions were fully argued, and then heard in conference, in which a reservation that the credentials of the latter members should be examined and reported upon by the committee on elections.

There was quite a little sensation when the five negro members were called upon by the Speaker and were sworn in. Three of them chose seats in a row just in front of General Banks, while the other two were seated in the rear.

After the new Congress was organized, there was a most emphatic vote in the House in favor of adjourning from next week to December. More than two-thirds of the members voted for that adjournment, and no doubt is felt of the concurrence of the Senate.

Before the House voted, Mr. Dawes who proposed it, was supported by the Democratic States. The President's wishes could be learned; but the House insisted on a vote with the result named. The impression has been quite general that the adjournment would be a month or two longer.

Not the least interesting feature of the occasion was the bestowal of splendid bouquets upon the graduates by young ladies in the assembly.

A few remarks from Dr. Harrison terminated the exercises. The popular impersonator of Fritz, Mr. Joseph K. Emmet, commenced an engagement at this establishment on Monday evening.
