brisco, treasurer; E. B. Baquie, corresponding secretary; C. A. Baquie, grand marshal; W. D. Brown, sergeant-at-arms; E. Stansberry, assistant sergeant-at-arms. The roll of members at present is very large. They are all fully alive and prepared for the issue.

A HOUSE CONSUMED.—The fire at two o'clock on the morning of the fifth, broke out in and consumed the one-story frame building on Robertson street, between Manville and Marigny streets. The house, totally destroyed, was owned by J. Engle and insured in the Germania for $1400; the furniture for $160 in the branch of the Merchants Mutual.

FOR A NEW TRIAL.—In the Lanigan case, where the accused were convicted of manslaughter, Counselor Castellanos has moved for a new trial, on the grounds of no testimony that showed any complicity of William Lanigan, he being absent on the day of the offense, and because of insufficiency of evidence to establish the particular acts of violence which caused the death of the boy. The motion will be argued on Friday, July 14.

The wounds of William Sullivan, run over by a buggy on the fourth, are not considered dangerous. The vehicle was driven by Dr. Bailey, and the accident occurred corner of Galvez and Canal streets.

The disposition to indulge in pistol firing resulted in the case of young Mitchell Cain shooting himself, on the corner of Franklin and Lafayette streets.

The Cohen House, corner of Marais and Customhouse streets, was entered by a sneak thief, and robbed of fifty dollars—the thief clearing out.

In the explosion of a fluid lamp, No. 259 Thalia street, Alice Taylor, employed as a servant, was severely burned, the flames igniting her clothing.

In commenting on the proposed making of new mail routes, one interested said: "The postoffice had better run the old lines well before new ones are set up."

A cruel hot for which to punish a man in this hot weather—"sitting down and asleep."

Judging by the receipts, the increase of travel in the street cars makes up for the number of absentees at the summer resorts. The accidents from a use of the products of petroleum can nearly all be traced to carelessness and a lack of common sense.

The only distinction between warrants after and before the ordinance of the Council is, that the brokers get the difference now, when the police got it before.

All the robberies lately perpetrated put together, make a very small amount, showing the healthy condition of public morals in our midst.

A stolen horse, fifteen hands high, is sought for, and a reward is offered by a party who does not believe in advertising.

There will be no civil trials in the district courts until November. The legal gentlemen are thankful.

Charles Testut, who attempted to make away with himself, "all for love," is now languishing in the Charity Hospital, the young lady for whom he made the attempt visiting him there.

The trial of L. F. Lechiniski, accused of murder of a sailor, on Victory street, some time ago, is fixed for Monday.

On the corner of First and Prytania streets, Mr. Jamison, of the firm of Lewis & Jamison, is building a splendid residence.

The performance of the Orleans Dramatic Relief Association at St. Charles, was again postponed last night.

The inquest of Coroner Creagh on the body of Philip Young, recently reported as found dead, resulted in a verdict of congestion of the brain.

All things have a horror of work and dread the Workhouse more than the Parisian Prison.

The Lieutenant Governor is dunning the tax collectors and assessors.

A new cottage, the foundation of which is just appearing, is to be built on Coliseum, between Pleasant and Harmony streets, and is owned by Charles Briggs, Esq.

FOUND IN THE STREET.—An unknown man, found on Camp street, between Natchez alley and Gravier street, sick, was brought to the station. He was dressed in black coat, white shirt and iron gray pants. He had twenty-one dollars and ninety-five cents in his pocket and a paper on which was the name of J. Solde. He had also a carpenter's rule and a snuff box.

The Clerks' Benevolent Association Prize Festival at the Fair Grounds.

The association of industrious young men of our city known under the above name, held, on the Fourth of July, a festival in commemoration of the day, and with the object of recreation. For the most part members of that numerous organization widely celebrated as "can't-get-aways," the society participated in the festival, and enjoyed the sweet breath of the open country about the Fair Grounds with great zest and much enjoyment.

With the design of encouraging a large attendance, a number of handsome prizes, consisting of table ware and silver articles, were drawn by those who had purchased tickets, and ladies being admitted only upon invitation induced a large and respectable attendance, whose quiet demeanor at once showed the order of good people to whom they belonged.

Frank Portune's brass band performed the musical part of the programme. Upon the broad platform were congregated a throng of ladies who assisted at and enjoyed the dance, consisting of a varied selection, with the grace and gentled abandon of a private notice. Pro-menades among the giant oaks and along the shelled walks of the grounds, carriage drives along the track and expeditions throughout the broad acres were, besides, the regular order of proceedings, the entertainment of a great portion of the assembly. Each got a breath of fresh air in his own way, but toward nightfall every one was found near the platform, in whose immediate vicinity the fireworks were spent, refreshments imbibed and etables enjoyed.

Mr. C. F. Buck opened the proceedings with an address, delivered in the manner and couched in the plain language usual with this young gentleman and rising ornament to his profession.

The sports opened with a pony race, mile heats, best two in three, purse, twenty dollars; in which Fanny Washington, entered by John Betts, came off winner in 1:56 1/4, distancing Salem, entered by J. W. Falls, and Walk-in-the-Water, entered by B. McCade. The race of one mile was also won by Fanny Washington, in 2:01 1/4, beating Billy, entered by J. Elfrace, and Gladiator, entered by A. Piquener.

The foot race, which, considering the weather, might actually be called a "heat," was won by A. Weiborn, there being, beside himself, A. Durel, Jr., T. Nanez and E. Villemet, competitors.

The velocipede race for boys was won by Lees and Pelicans, the champion Lees won by a score of 37 to 12.

The races and ball playing wound up the spirits of the lookers-on to the very highest notch of fun and cheerful satisfaction, though a few half grown men were allowed to interfere somewhat with the fun by their ill-revered remarks and boisterous running and skylarking.

The fireworks were the event of the day; and during their exhibition all things came to a standstill. The spectators saw blazing suns revolving around invisible axes, and showering down myriads of stars; beheld batteries of Roman candles in fearful mimicry of a bombardment, pouring hot shot and destruction in cascading curves; besides stars glowing like brilliant suspended in air; while bombs burst in mid air with loud detonation, sending mimic horrors round about. The mosaic exhibition was decidedly the crowning feature of the letters, and the conclusion, where the letters "C. B. A." stood out in bold relief, as if written by the horizon by an unseen hand, was dazzling in its beauty.

The association may congratulate itself upon the success of the entertainment.

Leland Academy.

The closing exercises of this school took place on the Fourth of July in the handsome chapel of the new building on Common street, near Chalnoire, the first story of which is finished off in three large school rooms and occupied by this prosperous school.

The chapel was tastefully decorated with evergreens in wreaths and festoons, and was filled by a large circle of the friends of the school, whose frequent applause manifested their interest in the occasion.

The exercises consisted of original essays, together with recitations and declamations by the pupils, interspersed with singing by the school.

Of the essays, one by Eliza Cooper on "Flowers," and a second by Lewis Kenner, on "Our Picnic," are especially worthy of mention. The recitations and declamations were generally well given. The two which received the loudest applause were "The Snack in School," recited by Miss Lucretia Simms, and "Heaven," recited by George Riche, a repetition of the latter being called for by the audience.

The examination of this school took place during the previous week, and was highly satisfactory. The following is the "Roll of Honor" for the several departments:

Senior department, H. A. Morse, teacher—Winters Johnson, James Moody, David Harrison, O. Bowman, Annie Blake, Charlotte Little.

Intermediate department, Rev. James B. Wingard, teacher—Louis Ferroulet, Rufus Russell, Anderson Bradley, Elizabeth Cooper, Florence Holmes, Jane Norrington.

Junior department, Miss A. Perkins, teacher—George Hunt; George Dickson, Elizabeth Nolasco, Mary Johnson, Mary Simpson, Harriet Smith.

The academy is under the special patronage of the Baptist denomination, though open (free of charge) to all pupils of proper qualifications. It has been but five months in operation, yet numbers one hundred and seventy students. It will reopen October 1, 1870.

ASSESSMENTS NOS. 61 AND 62.—See special notice column.—Death of R. H. Wetmore and John R. Kennedy, payable at the office of the Mutual Aid and Benevolent Life Insurance Association of Louisiana, No. 120 Carondelet street.

The heat of the sun was intense yesterday, and last night until a late hour the atmosphere was close, stifling and hot. About midnight, however, a little breeze was stirring, and the prospects were good for a slight coolness, with chances for a pleasant sleep.

The Greeley colonists recently refused to allow a circus company to pitch their tent in the corporation limits. The circus fellows consequently pitched it one foot beyond the limits. While the circus remained the town of Greeley was deserted, and the circus was crowded.
