Local Intelligence

AN ATTEMPT TO IMPROVE THEIR CONDITION—Several of the city dignitaries recently visited that large vacant building on Metairie ridge known as the Girard asylum, as an intimation had been made that the city could, under certain conditions, obtain possession of it. Something must speedily be accomplished to relieve the wants of the insane persons at present confined in the Parish Prison building. Administrator Lewis thinks they will be better off in the Girard asylum, which establishment can be prepared for their reception at an expense of eight or ten thousand dollars. There is sufficient room for the Girls and Boys' Houses of Refuge, while there is ample ground on which to raise kitchen vegetables more than enough to supply the demands made on the city for other charitable institutions, which would result in a great saving, if properly managed.

It is proposed, in the event of a change, to locate the aged and infirm in the houses of refuge. This move would result in saving $1500 per annum, now paid as rent for the Home. There is another proposition: A manufacturer of toys, in this city, desires to take charge of the lands in the Boys' House of Refuge, teach them the intricacies of his profession, and manufacture goods extensively. We are not informed of the details of his proposition. He has been engaged in the business here for several years, and has never yet been able to supply the demands on him, simply because he could not obtain sufficient cheap labor.

These propositions contain some merit, and when discussed may prove of considerable advantage to all. One thing is quite certain, namely, that the condition of the unfortunate mentioned cannot grow much worse than at present.

THE LAST HOMICIDE—Testimony Before Coroner Frowning.—The official yesterday obtained the following testimony in the death of A. J. Blanc, who died Friday at his home, No. 81 Rampart street. On the fifth of June he was wounded in the abdomen, since which time he has been confined to his bed, a sufferer. His wife states that previous to the difficulty (June 5) her husband did not know a sick day. Robert and James Hanley were arrested immediately after Mr. Blanc's death, the first named as principal, and the second as accessory. The testimony does not, in the least, implicate James, and it is thought he will be discharged.

Caspar Redersheimer, corner of Julia and Derbigny streets, sworn: Was sitting beside the deceased on a box in front of No. 106 Rampart street, when the latter ran into his shop, took off his coat, and came out with a piece of iron or a file, with which he struck Robert Hanley. Robert Hanley then pulled out a pocket knife and stabbed Blanc deceased. James Hanley did not do anything during all this time. Witness thinks that both the Hanley and the deceased were under the influence of liquor. Joseph Martin, No. 185 Rampart street, sworn—About six weeks ago, in the evening, I was sitting on a box in front of the grocery store. The big Hanley was talking with the deceased, and the first Hanley did not like, who got up and struck the deceased, and knocked him over. Mr. Blanc went into his shop and got a piece of iron. Little Hanley then went to the door. Then deceased struck little Hanley on the head with the piece of iron. I saw blood dropping from Hanley's head, and then Mr. Blanc, Mr. Blanc Green, 188 Toulouse street, sworn—Worked for deceased; on the fifth of June, about 3 P. M., the two Hanleys and the deceased were drinking at the grocery next to my shop. Mr. Blanc, who was drunk, then Jim Hanley said, what are you? Are you a white man? The deceased answered that it made no matter what he was; that would get drowned; then Jim Hanley said he wanted to go home; he felt hungry; deceased said yes, you had better go home before you fall on the banquettes, and then the two Hanleys came up and showed his brother aside, and said to the deceased: "Are you man enough to tell me what you just did to my brother?" Blanc said he was not talking to you; I told him that Governor Warmoth said the city could be drowned out. Then Robert Hanley showed deceased off the box; he caught the deceased with a pocket knife. Then the Hanley came and arrested all three.

Mary Jane Smith, No. 256 Poydras street—Saw the wounded man, who was arrested, and saw the deceased also come out of his shop, and then the Hanley came up and showed his brother aside, and said to the deceased: "Are you man enough to tell me what you just did to my brother?" Blanc said he was not talking to you; I told him that Governor Warmoth said the city could be drowned out. Then Robert Hanley showed deceased off the box; he caught the deceased with a pocket knife. Then the Hanley came and arrested all three.

BEFORE RECORDED STAFFS.—George James, charged with hitting a boy named George W. Buckley with a piece of wood, on the seventh of July, was sent before the Criminal Court, and released on $300 bonds.

William Peterson and James O'Brien, charged by Officer E. Planchard with burglary, and armed with dangerous weapons, were sent before the Criminal Court.

The officer caught both men on the morning of the seventh instant, at about two o'clock, in front of the grocery store of Mr. E. Ballast, corner of Tremé and St. Philip streets, which they had broken open. Both were armed with dangerous weapons and were only apprehended by Officer Planchard by his holding them under cover of his six shooter until assistance arrived.

Martin Crane, charged with carrying concealed weapons, was sent before the First District Court.

Robert Robertson, a juvenile vagrant, was let off on the promise of Mr. Ernest Duncan, No. 221 Marais street, to take care of him in the future.

J. Johnson was arrested by the harbor police on the steamer John T. Moore, charged by Frank Smith with assault and battery on his wife, Hattie Smith. The court had no jurisdiction in the case, the assault having been committed on the river, opposite Carrollton. Recorder Stans remanded the accused until Smith could make an affidavit at the proper place.

recurrent pneumonia, that has supervened in his case in the course of a long protracted disease. The affection of the liver was of itself sufficiently serious to produce death. The wound of the liver I do not consider, from its superficial nature, as a war on stone. Dr. Warren Stone, Jr., testifies that A. J. Blanc died of a liver debility.

The jury gave the following verdict: That the deceased came to his death from intercurrent pneumonia and other internal diseases, said diseases being superinduced by an incised wound in the abdominal region, inflicted by a pocket-knife in the hands of one Robert Hanley, now in custody on the fifth of June.

The Coroner made an affidavit at once against Robert Hanley, charging him with murder, requesting also the discharge of James Hanley, who was trying to prevent the crime, and was not to blame.

SAW MILL BURNED.—The sawmill on Mr. Spangenberg's plantation, two miles above Carrollton, was burned Friday night.

ALL TRACES LOST.—Any person possessing knowledge of Leonard W. Dunlap, who died in this city on the twenty-sixth of last April, will confer a favor by dropping a note to the reporter of this paper. It is thought he died in one of the hospitals. He was a clerk in some variety store.

A LONG FALL.—Between twelve and one o'clock Friday night, Frank Hanlein, a German waiter in the Imperial saloon, on Common street, fell from a third story window to the banquettes, and was killed. He was sent to the Charity Hospital, where he died before daylight. It is supposed that being very warm in the night, he sat in the window to obtain cool air, and, overcome by fatigue, went to sleep and fell.

BREAKING UP FLATBOATS.—There is an effort making by several parties to have the business of breaking up flatboats for fire-wood removed to a point higher up the river than the place where it is at present done, somewhere about the foot of Eighth street. There exists no reason why the business of breaking flatboats should not be located on the right bank of the river, where there is ample room.

PHILHARMONIC CIRCLE.—A large number of people passed a pleasant evening in the old bank building, corner of Royal and Conti streets, listening to artistic music and sipping pleasant beverages. The establishment appears to be a combination of beer saloon, and musical and theatrical diversions, and is already in favor with citizens who patronize public resorts. The orchestra is very complete, and the hall neatly arranged, although the rooms were altogether too small to accommodate all who called yesterday.

ON HER FEET.—Nora Fisher cast her lines in a bad place when she hooked a pair of shoes from a man whose name is a twisted jaw breaker, on Rampart street. Proof of Nora's guilt was found on her person, hence the reason for sending her to a jury by Recorder Houghton. Larceny was not her only offense. When arrested she had on her a razor concealed in her clothing, and as she had no beard on her face, it was considered that she carried the masculine instrument for no good purpose. On this count and account she was also sent down for trial.

BREAD.—People in this city who consume bakers' bread are inclined to grow riotous over the diminutive size of loaves. It is well known that flour is cheaper now than usual, prices ranging from five to nine dollars. At these rates bakers should be satisfied with that remunerative profit, sometimes facetiously termed "one per cent."

A co-operative bakery, well established and in competent hands, would soon fatten loaves, and perhaps improve the quality. The bread ordinance is a dead letter, and there are citizens who cheerfully mourn over its corpse. The question is one that interests almost every resident, especially poor families, who are the greatest consumers, as they wish to avoid making fires to bake their hot wheat.

BRIEF MENTION.—Picking Jordan Rogers' pocket of forty dollars is the cause of George Williams and William Smith being in prison. Jordan was on Baronne street, thinking of nothing no time once, when accused tried the Commune dodge, but they were caught in the new departure.

Weeping on Willow street was Lucy Clark, because Caroline Carter had wheeled away a large bundle of her household goods and twenty-five handy dollars. Miss Carter was driven to prison to rest until the twenty-first instant.

BEFORE RECORDED STAFFS.—George James, charged with hitting a boy named George W. Buckley with a piece of wood, on the seventh of July, was sent before the Criminal Court, and released on $300 bonds.

William Peterson and James O'Brien, charged by Officer E. Planchard with burglary, and armed with dangerous weapons, were sent before the Criminal Court.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN

[Brief Communications Published—Long Ones Invariably Rejected—The Editor Not Responsible for the Sentiments Expressed in the Communications.]

A Card from Dr. Matlack. The "camp meeting" notice in your columns of yesterday, July 15, signed "Rev. Anthony Ross, pastor, and Rev. Joseph Pollard," requires a brief correction. Mr. Ross is not pastor of St. Paul's. Rev. James Hayward fills that office. Mr. Pollard is not a "reverend," but a licentiate of less than one year's standing in the church—a layman.

A camp meeting notice gotten up by one minister, without the concurrence of the preachers' meeting of which he is a member, will not be responded to by many pastors in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Presiding Elder, C. M. MATLACK.

A COMPLAINT FROM ST. JAMES. BROWN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE (REPUBLICAN PARTY) OF ST. JAMES PARISH, CONVENT, LA. (July 15, 1871). To the President and Members State Central Executive Committee of Louisiana:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor for and in behalf of the Parish Committee of St. James, to inform you that the committee is and has been fully organized—it having remained intact since August last—at which time the members thereof were regularly elected and the Parish Committee organized in full and during the term of one year, and is composed of twenty-four members.

I would further state that our committee took part in and was recognized by the last State Convention, when we were organized as a body derived its present status and authority—and to ignore our existence would be to disregard the source in part of your own authority. We are, therefore, in full possession of our rights, and are entitled to the same.

I have the honor to be very respectfully, OSCAR F. HUNSAKER, Chairman Executive Committee, St. James.

Statement from the State Treasurer. STATE OF LOUISIANA, TREASURER'S OFFICE. NEW ORLEANS, JULY 15, 1871.
