Local Intelligence

RATHER TOO DELICATE.—Recently, not many days ago, two white women visited one of the State Assessor's offices to make complaint that a piece of their property had been assessed too high. The handsome gentleman in charge of the office, always urbane and polite, attended to their wants instantly, directing them to the clerk having charge of that particular department. The applicants opened their eyes in great disgust, exclaiming, "What, that nigger!" As there was no other method, they were compelled to call on the clerk, who, politely, quickly and knowingly gave the necessary blanks, requesting the precise ladies to sign their names to the documents. They suddenly became confused, and hesitated, but they finally were compelled to make the declaration that they could not write. This placed the despatch "nigger" a dot or two above the airish visitors. They got that knowledge is power, and the want of a sedate state of affairs.

ON THE FAIR GROUNDS TO-DAY.—If fire company No. 14 does not bring out half the city to-day in a regular tidal wave of humanity, then no organization need make an effort. This company has prepared an extraordinary programme, such a one as should attract all classes of people who are inclined to relieve themselves out-door exercises. Eagle No. 17 will trot out its swift steed, Dolly Bob, expecting to win a thousand dollars from Vigilant No. 3, whose fleet-footed horse Lion hopes to do the same thing. This contest will excite much interest, as these two animals have scored numerous good times. The Eagles will also endeavor to fly away with another thousand dollars, which the boys of Protector No. 3 wager on their ability to run a race as if to a fire, with hand engine, twenty-two members, and throw water. Other sports will be indulged in sufficiently attractive to draw out a large attendance. The clerk of the weather has been propitiated with a burnt offering to bring him to terms.

INJURIOUS.—The city furnishes one or two ambulances for the purpose of conveying unfortunate persons to the Charity Hospital. These vehicles are about as uncomfortable and hard as can well be, not having so much as a pillow or cushion for a wounded or sick man to rest his head on. As these wagons are in constant demand, would it not be wise and humane to expend eight dollars for a mattress and one or two dollars for moss pillows? For the sake of our city's reputation let this be done. Last Thursday a wounded man was taken from the first pre-empt stationhouse to go to the hospital. He was so miserable that he could not assist himself or raise an arm. He was placed on the bare floor and jolted out to a free ward, and if he survived the trip his constitution might be rated as a strong one. A cushion and a mattress in that ambulance would not have elicited the following remark from a stranger:—"What inhumanity!"

ONLY FIVE APPRAISERS.—J. H. Barnett horse stealing, his same, carrying a concealed weapon; same, forgery; same, larceny. If that man's chances are not good for the Penitentiary, then he should have a card for the Ticket Convention as a partial punishment. Captain Cain recovered the horse stolen from Mobile, and the owner recedes in the possession of his property. Mr. Bonham's horse and buggy are not found, and probably will not be. Barnett seems to be a regular, but persists in asserting his innocence.

RETIRED.—Mat Thompson, a bullet-headed bummer of pilfering habits, retired to the Workhouse as a vagrant under the new city vagrant ordinance. Although beardless, he carried a rusty razor.

HEAVY LARCENY.—J. Bird and William Davis flew away with fifty pounds of lead pipe, property of Davis & Jackson. For this little pick-up they must answer before twelve jurors, at the request of Recorder Houghton, who is hard on heavy cases of larceny. By this means a junk shop lost a few illicit dollars.

ESCAPES.—Within the space of a few months several persons have been arrested in this city as escaped convicts from the State Penitentiary. How is it that the lessee, a short time ago, published a card stating that no prisoners had escaped from that institution under their rule? No. 1025.—The new vagrant ordinance for this city has been promulgated and is at present in full force, and the police are now acting in it. Lawyers think it is without flaw, so recorders may commit persons under it, never fearing their action unwarrantable. Sneak thieves, pleasure gamblers and their ropers-in-law must look sharp or they will find headlamps in the Workhouse, bruisers and decencies. Let those who are liable to arrest take a sudden departure or go to work at some honorable occupation. Dryades street can now be purged to a second degree, and when that is done the Workhouse will increase the number of its industrious if not respectable inhabitants.

MORE EXCURSIONS.—The lively lads of Protector No. 2, Sixth District, send us a cordial invitation to accompany them on a pleasant and sensible excursion to Grand Isle on the twenty-sixth instant. This company is becoming quite famous for its prowess and energy, although it has had a steamer only a few months, and it has confidence in its abilities.

Mechanics No. 6 will soon work its way out of town, inaugurating a new departure by visiting Natchez, which old town is no longer under the hills. The movement is not entirely popular with the members. These excursions will be among the last of the season. During the summer we have availed ourselves of as many invitations as business would permit, and now express ourselves as having been the recipients of undeserved attention and compliments. The present summer has had its chief claims for the reporter in excursions with fire companies, and in the top of his bald head are laid away thousands of pleasant reminiscences which he will cherish as long as the breath of life continues to curl his short hair.

KILLED BY A SPAIL.—Friday, while the steambot Bart Able was near Bonnet Carre, a spar fell, striking Henry Carter, the mate, killing him instantly, and injuring four others. Mr. Carter's body was brought to this city.

INCENDIARY.—Officer BYRNES, in making his rounds at 2:45 yesterday morning, discovered smoke issuing from the keyhole of Mr. Moreres' grocery corner, No. 70 St. Phillip street. Making a close examination, after awakening the proprietor, he found that a wick saturated with coal oil had been pushed through the keyhole, and that coal oil had been poured over the wood work. A burned match was near the wick.

THE LEVER.—The river bank just above Carrollton continues to slide, and has given way to the extent of one hundred and fifty feet, and still caving. As yet the break is not so deep as to permit water to pass through. The place requires immediate attention.

WEARY OF LIFE'S ILLS.—A lady, whose name it is useless to publish, yesterday attempted to end her days by jumping into the river head of Orange street, while laboring under a fit of extreme sadness. Officer Sherman succeeded in rescuing her, when some of her friends took charge of her. The history is a sorrowful one, but can not be given to our readers just at present.

THE CASE AT THE FRENCH MARKET.—A personal inspection of the sinking levee opposite the Red Store shows that the river is making slow, though constant inroads under the levee opposite the French market. Every few days a new fissure is discovered by observing the moisture of the sand in the cracks that open all along the break. Yesterday persons were engaged in boring all along the sinking space, with a view to ascertain in what direction the river is washing out the quicksands, in order to apply the remedy where needed. It is thought that the new market is in danger.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—At a meeting of the Board of Health Friday night, reports of the sanitary inspectors for the month of July were considered. The recommendations in the reports were generally adopted.

A resolution predicated on the suggestions of Dr. Alberts was adopted, that all the streets and gutters of the city should be thoroughly washed in the night time once in twenty-four hours, and an address to the City Council was adopted accordingly.

On motion of Mr. Pierce, seconded by Dr. Avila, a resolution was adopted recommending and urging the Board of Metropolitan Police to promote to the rank of corporals all the men belonging to the police force who have been assigned to duty in connection with the Board of Health, and that they be continued on duty in that connection.

The communication of Doctor Ames, setting forth that the streets and drains in the Fifth District are greatly clogged by the growth of grass and weeds, preventing a proper drainage of that district, was referred to Mr. Cockburn, the Commissioner of Improvements.

The communication of E. J. Forstall, complaining of injury done his property, No. 268 Royal street, by the vault on the adjoining property, belonging to the Mineral Water Factory being considered, the board instructed the president to return the same, with the endorsement that there was no power in the Board of Health to give him the relief he asks.

A petition was received from sundry citizens, asking the board to rescind its action heretofore taken respecting the curing of green hides in the central portion of the city, declaring the same a nuisance, and particularly forbidding the same by Messrs. B. L. Mann & Co., Withersell & Co. and Hay & Meble. After considerable debate on this subject, the board, by a unanimous vote, resolved to adhere to its former action.

A resolution was adopted asking the Board of Metropolitan Police for an additional policeman to be assigned to the Board of Health.

It is a rule of the board that the Sanitary Inspector of the Second District shall every day ascertain from the official records if any deaths have occurred in the city from fever or contagion, and report thereon daily. In stating this rule, the president reported that there was not a solitary death from fever on Thursday last.

A special report from Dr. J. S. Clark, Sanitary Inspector of the First District, recommending the abatement of sundry nuisances, was received, and the abatements ordered.

Informally, the subject of disinfecting the streets and gutters with carbolic acid was discussed, and it was generally agreed that there was no necessity for it as long as the daily rains continued, which prevented stagnation, and the generation of noxious gases and odors. As soon as the weather becomes dry, it is understood this method of disinfection will be immediately put into practice.

The theory of Dr. Von Pettenkofer, of Munich, now so well approved and vindicated by experience in that place, that typhoid fevers are developed only as the waters sink below a given distance from the surface of the ground, has led the board to institute a series of examinations on the subject. These examinations reveal the fact that the rise or fall of the water in the river has not this season perceptibly affected the amount of water in the soil. The river is now about twelve feet below high water mark, but in the Fifth District of the city (Algiers), the water in the wells, on the first instant, stood at an average of two feet five inches below the surface. In the Sixth District the water in the wells stood at an average of about two feet three inches.

The drainage by the river is not perceptible, and consequently the impurities communicated to the water in the soil by sinks and vaults and other causes are not destroyed by the river drainage, as is generally supposed.

An unknown Philadelphia, of commendable generosity and unparalleled modesty, has given $300,000 for the projected Presbyterian hospital at West Philadelphia and earnestly requested that his name shall not be revealed.

work of malice, as coal oil had been poured on the floor behind the counter. The upper floors were occupied by families, and the building was owned by George Brannon. The house was nearly destroyed. A few minutes before the above occurrence an alarm was sent from the box corner of Bienville and Old Levee streets, by some evil disposed person, as there was no fire. When the hose carriage of Eagle No. 7 was returning home an axle broke, and the man who turned in that false alarm was spoken of in bad terms.

At half past two o'clock, yesterday morning, a fire broke out in the dwelling of Mr. Burke, in the rear of the First District, totally destroying the building. Loss about $1500.

DEATH BEHIND THE BARR.—Mr. Robert Johnson, in charge of the Parish Prison, furnishes us with the following list of names of persons who died in the Parish Prison from January, 1870, to August, 1871: Davy of Lewis Logan, pneumonia, January 2. Thomas Cunningham, paralysis, February 21. H. A. Williams, general paralysis, February 21. Francis King, cholera, May 19. Thomas Martin, congestion of the brain, May 25. Alexander alias Joe Brooks, consumption, June 2. William Casey, consumption, June 14. George Jackson, congestion of the bowels, June 17. John Donnelly, delirium tremens, August 21. Richard Moran, delirium tremens, August 21. York Woods, delirium, November 17. Vincente Bayonand Fedro Abriel, capillary executed, May 13, 1871.

HOLLY WATERWORKS FOR CARROLLTON. The City Council of our rural neighbor has granted the Holly Waterworks Company the rights applied for. This will place Carrollton a dot in advance of New Orleans. One member of the Council, Mr. H. H. Houchert, voted against the improvement, for which he will be remembered by the thirsty and dirty.

JOSEPHINE RAY.—This criminal, convicted of a heinous crime in the Criminal Court, was yesterday released on bonds, as a motion for a new trial has been made through some law technicality. No sooner released from prison than she flounced out in her regular bad habits, drinking and making herself a nuisance to all her neighbors. It became necessary to arrest her at her den on Gasquet street, she having attracted a mob of about two thousand persons by her outrageous conduct. She defied everything and everybody, and when two policemen attempted to arrest her they threatened their lives and assailed them with a fatiron. Other officers were called, and, only after considerable trouble, she was taken prisoner.

Before leaving, she asked to take an infant with her. Her terrible tongue broke loose on the road to the lockup, uttering the vilest language, that plain English commands. In the cell she raved like a lunatic, cursing worse than a trooper. She laid the infant in a bunk, and then gave further vent to her anger. As the child does not belong to her, it was deemed proper to take the poor thing away, but she would not give it up voluntarily. Captain Schreiber finally entered the cell and took it, giving it in charge of a responsible person, at the suggestion of Recorder Houghton. No sooner was the unfortunate baby secured than Josephine made the air of even that celebrated calaboose look blue with her imprecations. It is somewhat singular that a woman such as she is can find friends who will assist her, even after an impartial jury has declared her guilty. It is time her career of crime found an ending.

The history of this white babe is not very clear, and out of the several different versions little is to be gleaned. Josephine says that it was left at her door in a cigar box, when it was not more than ten days old, but it is probable the mother was inside the building when the waif first breathed the breath of life. If that is the case, the mother will to-day feel somewhat excited when she reads this. Josephine took it to prison with her, hoping that it would assist her in obtaining a release. She was foiled quite systematically.

CRIMINAL COURT.—George Gordon, convicted of throwing a rock at some boys who annoyed him, and accidentally hitting a boy named Thomas Reagan, on the twenty-fifth of July, five dollars or one day Parish Prison.

John Williams, convicted of stealing a pair of shoes on the twentieth of July, from Mrs. Catherine Gastrock, was sentenced to one month in the Parish Prison.

Joseph Dupont, charged with having, on the third of July, assaulted Jean Dani, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

Ann Riddle, charged with having, on the twenty-eighth of July, assaulted John Jones, pleaded not guilty, and was released on bonds.

M. Joseph Mallet, appointed a deputy sheriff by Sheriff J. A. Mascot, has been duly sworn in.

The counsel for Josephine Ray, convicted of a heasty assault on a child named Mary Ann Fields, has moved for a new trial. Granted.

Maggie Hanley, also convicted of the same crime, has written a letter to Judge Abell, denying that she had instructed her counsel to apply for a new trial, and if he had done so, asked that the motion be withdrawn.

The following resolutions were offered by M. C. Carroll, and adopted: Whereas, certain persons claiming to be Republicans have been and are endeavoring to obstruct the political action of our chief magistrate, the President of the Executive Committee, I, mo, cloth $1. For sale by A. Eyrich.

NEW BOOKS

STUDENT'S ELEMENTS OF GEOLOGY. By Sir Charles Lyell, Bart., F.R.S., author of "The Principles of Geology," &c. With more than 600 illustrations on wood. Cloth, $2.

Sir Charles Lyell has brought out this work instead of a seventh edition of his "Elements of Geology," which has been re-managed. He has done his best to make the work available to students. The profound knowledge which is conveyed in clear language, assisted by the student's guide, will interest every student, and the attainment of his object.—Civil Service Gazette, London.

For sale by A. Eyrich, No. 130 Canal Street, New Orleans.

THE HISTORY OF FREDERICK THE SECOND, called Frederick the Great. By John S. C. Abbott. Elegantly illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $5.00.

The life of Frederick the Great, as published as a serial in Harper's Magazine, has already received a popular verdict in its favor, and in the handsome form in which it is now published, it will be read with large, clear type, and with splendid and numerous illustrations, it will be caught up with avidity by thousands of readers who are repelled by the running and domestic and pleasing style, a keen eye for the picturesque, and is withal a painstaking and conscientious student. His Life of Frederick the Great, published in Harper's Magazine, is a constructed narrative with the accuracy which may belong to the dullest history.

For sale by A. Eyrich, 130 Canal Street, New Orleans.

THE DOMESTIC LIFE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON: Compiled from Family Letters and Reminiscences, by his Great-Granddaughter, Sarah N. Randolph. With Illustrations. Cloth, $2.50.

No one can question the high merit of Thomas Jefferson as a patriot and statesman. But in the bitter partisan contests of his day his private character was bitterly assailed, and the true character of the man has come down to our own times. His great-granddaughter has taken upon herself the pious task of giving a faithful picture of him as he was in private life, and showing the true character of the man, a period of a quarter of a century, forms a delightful series of family letters. The reminiscences of this daughter and her children are very touching. What shining light that Jefferson was not only a great, but a good and—using the word in its broadest sense—a religious man, Mrs. Randolph has produced one of the most charming biographies of the last century. It is well worth a perusal of any person's library.

REINDEER, DOGS, AND SNOW-SHOES. A Journal of Siberian Travel and Explorations made in the years 1863-67. By Richard J. Bush, late of the Russo-American Telegraph Expedition. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, $2.

The story of the Russo-American Telegraph Expedition through Siberia, as told by Richard J. Bush, who was one of its members, is one of the most interesting and well-known of our times. The route pursued by the expedition in search of a feasible line for the telegraph across that continent is a story of adventure and public in a long time. Mr. Bush is a very clever writer, as well as a keen observer, and has the rare faculty of conveying his story in a simple and unassuming manner.
