Local Intelligence.

A FLEETING ROCK.—To commemorate the last day of August, Jerry O'Brien, imagining himself a David against a Goliath, slung a rock at Ann Williams, and he slung it with such force that Ann didn't know whether she was on North Market street or in Chicago. The pebble weighs something like twenty pounds, and it jerked by an average muscle, would have penetrated a two-inch oak plank. Ann asserts that the rock hit her without cause or provocation, in consideration of which she requested Reorder Houghton to send accused to the Criminal Court. Her request was granted.

THIRTY DOLLARS.—Lizzie Davis and Emma Smith wished to possess thirty piastres, and when they found John Jenkins, they took him in gently, going through his clothing like a veritable old-handed Beggs. For this the accused were sent to interview a jury.

BATTER.—Mr. Mullen, a resident of Camp street, will go down to talk to an impartial jury about the manner of his having "put a head" on a non-combatant, G. Rosenthal, whose forefathers were favored by dry passages through the Red Sea on a certain ancient occasion. Putting a head on Rosenthal was not figurative, although he was a pretty figure before the swelling dried up. Mullen was really in earnest when he punched complainant, and he performed his work well. Accused will be taught that he is not jury, judge or executioner.

A SPOONER.—Juan Genor, he who navigates the dreadful waters of the New Basin, must explain to the Criminal Court why it was he tried to snuff out the breath of Nicholas Voinedich with a bullet. The two had indulged in an involuntary duel without shedding a drop of blood.

ON THE DEATH OF KEVIN.—Kevin Thursday night arrested Mr. Lawrence for a simple drunk. When the prisoner was searched in the first precinct stationhouse the turkey found over five hundred dollars in currency on him. That speaks well for Kevin.

AN UNFORTUNATE MOTHER.—One of Captain Robinson's officers, second precinct, arrested Sarah Arnold, eighteen years old, for having thrown her new born infant into the river last Tuesday or Wednesday. After her arrest she acknowledged the horrible crime. She was so sick yesterday that Dr. Avila advised that she be sent to the Charity Hospital, although she opposed such proceedings. Hannah Arnold was arrested as an accessory before and after the fact. She is Sarah's mother.

HANCH'S SAW MILL, corner of Carondelet walk and Rocheblave street, was entered by a robber, who stole all the base truck at hand.

A BAD CUT.—Yesterday morning, a 63rd of Mrs. Behan, residing on Magazine street, near Louisiana avenue, fell down in the yard, striking a broken bottle, cutting open his bowels. The wound seems to be a bad one.

BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS.—H. Ryder, harbor precinct, neglect of duty, suspended the force. J. Leahy, sixth precinct, sitting down on his beat, dismissed.

J. L. Collins, harbor precinct, failing to patrol his beat, suspended ten days. George Mason, George Butler, W. Nully, R. Gonzales, S. Heanchen, J. Fogarty, P. S. Hays, F. Kellering, superintendents, dropped from the rolls. J. Glennis, fifth precinct, had conduct, dismissed the force. J. C. Baillignes, fifth precinct, suspended ten days.

RETURNED.—Says the Mobile Tribune of yesterday: Mrs. Wichey (or Vitschi, as reported in the REPUBLICAN), the wife of the late would-be suicide, returned to this city from New Orleans yesterday, and we learn is ready to make proper explanation or reparation for her late supposed appropriation of her husband's property. The information furnished us that she was under arrest in New Orleans must necessarily, therefore, have been incorrect, since she returned of her own accord.

COMPLEMENTARY.—The Ibeville News is rather complimentary than otherwise in this paragraph: The judicial ermine has been thrust upon Captain Tim H. Draper, of the New Orleans Republican, by his appointment to the Assistant Recordership of the First District Court. Now let breakers of the law tremble! With eyes averted and a beard of formal cut, and that "little round belly with good capon lined," Tim presents a true picture of a "wise young judge, a just young judge," and in composure, austerity, and knowledge of judicial lore, he is fitted to adorn the robes of the High Chancellor. Long live Judge Draper.

A SUDDEN REMOVAL.—For months past that usually quiet neighborhood, corner of Julia and Dryades street, has been scandalized by the presence of a house devoted to irregularities. Many well known and excellent citizens residing in that vicinity, feeling aggrieved at this worse than nuisance, complained to Mayor Flanders, representing the disagreeable facts to that official. Steps were taken to quietly abate the trouble, and Captain Cain was instructed how to proceed lawfully, but he was met with a flat and impudent denial. Mr. Flanders then gave the woman a written notice to move within ten days, but she stood defiant until the time expired, expecting to purchase the two-story double frame house from Messrs. Davis & Jackson. In this she failed, and now the neighborhood is in a manner purified, for early yesterday morning all kinds of rich furniture was shot out of the tenement in a hurry, only to be taken to another street to annoy other citizens. Can't the good work be continued!

COLD POISON.—Ellen White, whose sands of life did not run out fast enough to suit her, at No. 73 Dryades street, took kindly to cold poisons, such as laudanum and morphine. As it happened she swallowed too much or too little to accomplish her purpose. Finding herself very sick, she consented to accept a short season in the Charity Hospital for repairs.

CITY DEPT.—Simon Fitzpatrick, from the sunny clime of Halifax, having a good horse and cart, began to take in a load of that bone of contention, city dirt, for a street in the rear of the First District. This was bad enough, but worse remained, for he was cheating the city in another way, namely, having no license for his vehicle. These are hanging offenses, and it is expected that justice will speedily overtake him.

CRIMINAL COURT.—Counsel for the Boyd brothers, to be tried for killing Samuel Rainey, asked that the case be fixed for the twenty-first instant. The motion was granted, and the Attorney General will be notified. Motion to grant William Perez a new trial was overruled. Accused was convicted of picking a pocket.

The Hanley-Ray case came up again. Maggie Hanley was granted a new trial, and the woman Ray admitted to $1500 bail to await the result of the suspensive appeal taken in her case before the Supreme Court. The bondsmen of Dominick Byrnes, charged with manslaughter, and admitted to $5000 bonds, appeared in court, and on the oath of Mr. Boll, Chief Deputy Sheriff, that Dominick Byrnes was within the four walls of the Parish Prison again, the bonds were canceled.

W. H. Honneus was sworn in as a deputy sheriff, having been appointed by Sheriff Mascot. COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—Recorder McArthur yesterday sent P. J. Hussey to the Criminal Court to answer for stealing two hundred and sixty-six dollars from Henry Warner, Cloot street. Hussey is the man who was caught trying his hand at procuring juries.

Peter Brown and William Jones, charged by Oliver Canton with obtaining money under false pretenses were sent before the Criminal Court. Brown is charged with obtaining forty dollars, and Jones with obtaining seventy dollars from the complainant, who resides at the corner of Hospital and Gallatin streets. The walls of the new Hebrew temple on Carondelet street, immediately above Deol, are now rising above the enclosure of the lot.

The Ocean Wave Investigation. The Mobile Tribune yesterday reports the testimony of Mr. H. B. Ollis, in the investigation as to the causes of the Ocean Wave disaster. He was a machinist and engineer for twenty-five years, and was local inspector for six years. Examined the boiler of the Ocean Wave after the explosion. Discovered the bottom of the boiler in section, and found that the boiler was in section for six years. Examined the boiler of the Ocean Wave after the explosion. Discovered the bottom of the boiler in section, and found that the boiler was in section for six years.

Mr. Demas moved the adoption of the resolutions, and the motion to adopt being put, it was carried unanimously. Mr. Cayoll moved the adjournment of the proceedings of this meeting be forwarded to the New Orleans REPUBLICAN for publication. On motion of Mr. Demas, Mr. Cayoll's motion was adopted, and the resolutions were read and approved.

A motion by Mr. Cayoll to adjourn sine die was carried. A. C. BABCOCK, Secretary. KARL MARX.

NEW YORK, September 5.—The international lawyer, Karl Marx, whose death occurred in London to-day, was a native of Germany, but had lived in London about twenty-two years. He studied law at Bonn and Berlin, and subsequently, in the year 1842, became editor of a paper at Cologne, which was the first anti-government organ established in Prussia. He removed to France on account of his fear of persecutions by the Prussian government, but, on the request of the Prussian authorities, he was forced to remove to Belgium by the French king, Louis Philippe. The breaking out of the revolution in 1848 enabled him to return to Paris, from which he was again expelled. He again returned to Paris, but had to leave that city a second time. He then selected London as his residence. Since that time, he has been engaged in various ways as a writer upon European politics, and a contributor to works upon science and political economy. The trades unions formed the subject of his particular attention in 1849, when the first idea of forming an international society seems to have been conceived. From the establishment of this association, in 1864, up to the present time, he has attended its details and been its working head.

Tall Case. The Ibeville News says: We asked a planter the other day, if his fields showed many stalks of cane with fifteen rib joints. "Why?" said he: "Why, that's not a circumstance. I counted seventy-five on one stalk, and there were more higher up, but the ladder was too short to reach 'em."

Who expressed a desire to see a specimen of this marvelous cane, he said he would send us a stalk if he could find a carrylog strong enough to bear the weight. That planter is evidently a jolt of the first water.

Rockford, Illinois, September 6.—Yesterday evening at about four o'clock an old man named Jose Zimarron, well known here, as a drunken licentious old man, stabbed and killed his wife, an old lady seventy years old. The stabbing was done with a carpenter's scratch saw. The body was found in the room where the deed was committed, proved beyond doubt that it was premeditated. For several weeks the old lady had been ill, and the doctor had repeatedly threatened. After dispatching her, the murderer took a large dose of laudanum, evidently intending to end his own career, but, through providential means, the doctor saved his life in respect to the purpose of testing the magnanimity of the law at the next term of court.
