"SELF-MADE MEN."

Lecture by Frederick Douglass. A large audience assembled last night in the hall of the House of Representatives.

Hon. P. B. S. Pinchback introduced the lecturer to the audience, and he was received with hearty applause.

The subject of the lecture began by saying, had been the theme of lecturers and writers for all time.

Men, men of genius, and great men of every degree, all were the favorites of literary criticism.

Who are the self-made men? He proceeded to define the self-made men as those who, without the aid of any education, have succeeded in breaking up the dark superstitions of ignorance.

River and Harbor Bill—Bill for Future Reduction of Taxation—Redemption of Salt Deposits.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—House.—A committee of conference was ordered upon the bill for transporting the mails.

The St. Croix railroad grant was defeated by a vote of 110 to 54.

The river and harbor bill gives $40,000 and the unexpended appropriation of 1871 to Charleston harbor, and $50,000 for the improvement of the Savannah river and beach.

The bill proposed by Representative Kelley, and which was to-day ordered to be printed, is entitled "An act for the future reduction of taxation and the promotion of commerce."

Mr. Maynard unites with Mr. Kelley in the measure—reversing the order of the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Kelley's bill gives the precedence to the internal revenue features, instead of the tariff features. It provides a uniform tax of sixteen cents a pound on tobacco and a consolidation tax of sixty-five cents on spirits.

The changes proposed will, it is said, enable the Treasury Department practically to disband the internal revenue service, so far as assessors, collectors and assistants are concerned.

It makes provision for the maintenance of a tobacco bonded warehouse, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and abolishes about one-half of the stamps included in schedule B.

The tariff section adds tea and coffee to the free list, together with other articles which enter into general consumption, but which are not produced in this country.

It also adds the ten per cent reduction of the Senate on iron and manufactures, and those of woolen, worsted, cotton goods, and other articles.

FOREIGN.

France and Germany—Geneva Arbitration—Marriage in High Life—Passport System—Carlita in Spain.

LONDON, April 16.—The following statement gives the only authority and foundation, so far as can be ascertained, for the reported differences between France and Germany, mention of which was made in these dispatches yesterday.

The London Telegraph of Monday, basing an editorial article upon the assertion made by its own Paris and Berlin correspondents, says: "We regret to learn of the relations between France and Germany, the critical condition whereof, made known through these columns, is creating the greatest anxiety to those by whom it is best appreciated."

The Telegraph further expressed the belief that it is only by the exercise of discretion at Paris and Berlin that grave complications may be avoided.

The statements of correspondents, upon which the foregoing is predicated, are in substance that Germany distrusts the good faith of France; is dissatisfied at the extent of the armament and military organization which the Thiers government is carrying forward; and that France distrusts the course to enter a formal protest against the armament.

France is also dissatisfied at the extent of the armament and military organization which the Thiers government is carrying forward; and that France distrusts the course to enter a formal protest against the armament.

In addition to these statements of its correspondents, the Telegraph asserts editorially that it is known on the highest authority that the Thiers government is carrying forward a grave impression at Berlin.

Neither the letters nor editorials of any other London newspaper give confirmation or contradiction to the assertions of the Telegraph, and it having been hinted that the journal is in some way in the service and interest of the German Chancellor gives the general impression that the story is fabricated as a sensation, or with the design of aiding some speculative scheme.

The misunderstanding relates to the clause in the treaty which provides that, first, in the transfer of American shipping to the British flag; second, the loss of the sum enhanced by insurance; and third, the loss from the prolongation of the war.
