

New Orleans Republican OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE UNITED STATES

NEW ORLEANS, JUNE 29, 1872.

A GREAT MASS MEETING.

A large number of the friends of President Grant have decided to hold a mass meeting this evening in Lafayette square.

In New Hampshire they call elopement suicide.

The agricultural report for 1872—Horse Greely elected President of the United States.

A Connecticut man rolls in wealth accumulated in the business of manufacturing "genuine relies from the Holy Land."

Fans made of the scales of fish have been introduced, and will soon, no doubt, be all the rage.

Merit Jordan, an habitude at Washington during and before Buchanan's Presidential term, died in Norfolk recently at the age of eighty years.

The Sheriff of the parish of Orleans sells at auction, this day, at five o'clock, on the premises, No. 24 Union street, First District, office furniture, iron safe, etc.

Sargeant Bennett A. Clements, United States army, has been relieved from duty in the Department of the Gulf and ordered to the St. Louis recruiting depot as medical officer of that post.

The Internal Revenue Bureau is now prepared to issue stamps of the denomination of $5000. The design is one of the finest ever gotten up.

"Do you mean to say," said a traveler to a Missouri sheriff, "that a man was shot here yesterday because he was caught in the act of carrying off a rope?"

We have received, with the compliments of the New Jersey Democratic Club, messages and official papers of Governor Randolph, of New Jersey, and a brief sketch of the life and services of Governor Randolph, which was a campaign document for 1868.

A wealthy baker of New York has gone to some expense in having a coat of arms invented and emblazoned for him.

During the war an Irishman, who was posted with a musket on duty, and had wandered a little out of his position, was accosted by an officer with, "What are you here for?"

At twelve o'clock to-day, at the St. Charles Auction Exchange, basement St. Charles Hotel, forty-six lots of ground, situated in the parish of Plaquemine, right bank of the Mississippi river, about sixty miles below New Orleans, were sold by R. M. & B. J. Montgomery.

The people of Massachusetts are turning the Hoosac tunnel to some account even before it is finished. They make up excursion parties to go and look into the big hole.

Mr. Isaac Corbett, of Baltimore, seventy-two years of age, visited a cemetery in company with his daughter on Sunday afternoon, and while there pointed out a spot where he wished to be buried.

The best mode of fastening a horse in a stall is the English one of attaching a light weight to the end of the halter and allowing it to run up and down under the manger, which should always be boarded in front from the floor up.

The following is the list of passengers per steamship George Washington, Captain E. Y. Gager, for New York this evening: E. M. Dawson, Mrs. E. Rice, Mrs. K. K. Fernald, Mrs. E. Lewis, Miss Emma Banks, S. W. Sawyer and wife, F. Guiral, M. Guiral, J. H. Cohen, N. F. Torrey and daughter, L. Castel, Mrs. Britton, Miss Britton, W. Phelps, H. Phelps.

The following note, written to her schoolmate by a girl who had been absent several days, illustrates the sweet simplicity of childhood: "Dear Susie—I shall attend school again until I get some new cuts, collars and jewelry—Dear Mamma agrees with me that it is my duty to take the shine out of that Upstart Mary Jones and I'll do it if I never learn nothing."

Barnes' Hotel, Mississippi City, serves up to its guests arriving by the train this afternoon one of the most delicious of hot fish suppers, after supplying them with every facility for a delightful salt bath. Get an excursion ticket per the Mobile and Texas railroad, and go there if you want a good time.

THE LICENSE SYSTEM.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court and the rulings of one or two of the inferior tribunals, have thrown the license system of both city and State into inconvenient confusion.

For taxation a man has as many callings as he takes shape through the business of doing it. He may be represented by stores, liquor shops, mills, drays, cabs. Every store, every dray represents a business, and the attempt to associate two or three of these together is an inequality not to be countenanced by law.

It would be, of course, impossible to levy and collect a tax that would be in all respects exactly equal. Even some descriptions of real estate are valued by their owners at as high a rate as another is rated at which brings a much higher income.

The uniformity required by the constitution, and which has proved such a stumbling block to those who can not look below the surface of things down into the workings of society, is really intended to protect the small capitalist, with his one dray, or cab, or billiard table, or insurance company.

And yet, under the decisions of the courts, one man could own all the billiard tables in the city, all the insurance and bank capital, all the printing offices, etc., and run them the year out by taking out one license. We do not inquire into the license question as it affects coffeehouse owners, for we believe that the smaller the whisky shop the poorer is the liquor, and, consequently, the greater the nuisance.

Experience has shown that capital invested in business is more profitable to the owner than that put into real estate. And it would be a manifest injustice to make the least profitable business bear all the burden of government. A license is, properly speaking, a tax paid to the governing power for the privilege of competing with others in the same business, and for protection to the property owned.

The following is the list of passengers per steamship George Washington, Captain E. Y. Gager, for New York this evening: E. M. Dawson, Mrs. E. Rice, Mrs. K. K. Fernald, Mrs. E. Lewis, Miss Emma Banks, S. W. Sawyer and wife, F. Guiral, M. Guiral, J. H. Cohen, N. F. Torrey and daughter, L. Castel, Mrs. Britton, Miss Britton, W. Phelps, H. Phelps.

An erroneous doctrine has obtained, with regard to drays, cabs and billiard tables, forgetting that the licensee is taxed as the proprietor or conductor of the particular dray, cab or billiard table only. It has been argued that he can monopolize them all under one license, destroying all uniformity and fraudulently evading the law.

SOME POLITICAL CAP TULLING.

There was rare pulling and hauling at Baton Rouge a few days ago to secure the services of J. Henri Burch. The aggregate wisdom of the Customhouse party assembled in convention by a mixed commission of delegates and proxies were eager to send J. Henri B. to Congress, and he was about to yield to the seductive demand; but luckily for the peace and welfare of Baton Rouge, eight heroic citizens rushed to the rescue, and brought the intended traitor back to duty.

Senator Ray has now a fine opportunity for testing the sincerity of his admirers at a time when they thought he occupied a commanding position. But yesterday he was the "distinguished Senator from Ouachita," the prospective collector of the port, a prominent candidate for the office of Attorney General, ay, even Governor.

The Colfax Guards met in Clay Hall, and the meeting is represented as large and enthusiastic. The preamble and resolutions are well written, and mean business. The preamble sets forth the following bill of indictment: "Whereas, James H. Ingraham and S. B. Packard, delegates to the State convention at Baton Rouge, by their traitorous conduct at said convention have proved themselves recreant to the instructions confided to their care by a too trusting constituency; and, in view of their glaring treachery and falsity to all principles and traditions of the Republican party; and it also appearing that said James H. Ingraham and S. B. Packard have labored more for their own individual advancement than for the good of the Republican party and their constituents; therefore, be it resolved," etc.

The resolutions that follow denounce and repudiate as traitors and dishonorable the conduct of Messrs. Ingraham and Packard in the convention, and they are branded as unworthy political aspirants, and the nominations made by said convention repudiated, and Mr. Kellogg, its nominee for Governor, denounced as a traitor to the Republican party. And in consideration of their dishonorable conduct in the matter of selecting candidates, the Colfax Guards call for the removal of Messrs. Packard, Casey and Ingraham from the positions they hold under the federal government.

Nor is the action of the Sixth Ward Radical Republican Club less forcibly declared against what has been done by the same offenders. This club denies that the convention represented the Republican party of Louisiana, and asserts that it was packed by the most outrageous tyranny and corruption, in the interest of the Customhouse, and so controlled by fraudulent means as to prevent its honest majority from forming a union with the representatives of the regular Republican party, who were then also holding a convention for the purpose of endeavoring to harmonize the discordant elements of the party. It is alleged that after refusing all honorable offers of compromise with the regular Republicans, the Customhouse convention nominated a Johnson Democrat for Governor, Mr. Kellogg, who swore that in the massacre of 1868, at the Mechanics' Institute, the rebels were peaceable and the negroes were the rioters; who, as collector of the customs, filed the Customhouse with Democrats, and did not for a long time employ a single colored man; and who, lastly, dodged the vote on Sumner's civil rights bill. This is the picture of Mr. Kellogg, drawn by the Sixth Ward Radical Club, and its description of Mr. Antoine is just as correct. He is represented as one of the "Wilderness" Senators, who conspired to overturn, by revolutionary means, a Republican State government.

The action of these Republican clubs shows up the feeling that is entertained for the Customhouse clique that has been endeavoring, through the patronage of the federal government, to foist themselves upon the people of this State as their rulers. Nor was this all their ambition. They hoped, also, to carry the State of Louisiana for Grantism next fall.

The Picayune gives evidence of an intention to bolt the Baton Rouge ticket, and advocates a conglomeration of all parties, under the much-abused name of "people's ticket." After laboring for his nomination, and endorsing it when made, this threatened desertion of William Pitt Kellogg is peculiarly unkind and treacherous. But the Picayune may intend installing him as the standard-bearer of its new party! How is it?

The Citizens' Guard approvingly copies this squib: "Vorrees is terribly in earnest about having nothing to do with Greeley at Baton Rouge. 'I would,' he says, 'rather of a dark night risk the perilous edge of a sharp rapier on a drunken mule.' 'A drunken mule!' Well, that is certainly the roughest thing on Grant yet developed in the campaign.

A gentleman once asked a little girl, an only child, how many sisters she had, and was told "three or four." Her mother asked Mary when they were alone what induced her to tell such an untruth. "Why, mamma," cried Mary, "I didn't want him to think you were so poor that you hadn't but one child. Wouldn't he thought we were dreadful poor?"
