

SINGLE COPIES: TEN CENTS. VOLUME VI—NO. 81.

NEW ORLEANS, SATURDAY, JULY 13, 1872.

TERMS: $16.00 PER ANNUM. WHOLE NUMBER 1611.

AMUSEMENTS.

HURMAH! HURMAH! HURMAH! FOR GREELEY AND BROWN. GRAND FESTIVAL AND PICNIC OF THE GREELEY AND BROWN LIBERAL PARTY.

On Wednesday and Thursday, July 17 and 18, 1872. To be given at the Magnolia Garden, Bayou Rouge.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS. His Excellency Governor E. C. Warmoth, Chairman.

FAIR AT ALGHERS. Church of the Holy Name of Mary. The ladies of Algiers, wishing to help the Marist Fathers to complete their new church, have organized a fair and a course of very interesting entertainments.

HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS. BARNES HOTEL. MISSISSIPPI CITY, MISSISSIPPI. Having been thoroughly refitted and painted, it is now in complete order.

GRAND HOTEL. THE GULF. THE ONLY REAL WATERING PLACE IN THE SOUTH. Will Open on the Fifteenth of June.

BROADWAY RESTAURANT. AT THE LAKE END OF THE PONCHARTRAIN RAILWAY. Is Now Open for the Season.

BUSINESS CHANGES. CO-PARTNERSHIP. MR. JOHN H. BRIGBT is admitted to the partnership and general commission business will be conducted under the firm of FAIRLEY, BRIGBT & CO.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. D. AGOSTINI, attorney at law, No. 41 Exchange Alley, register in bankruptcy before the United States Court, in the Southern District of Louisiana.

NOTARY PUBLIC AND COMMISSIONER OF DEEDS. Office No. 17 Commercial Place. Passports procured with dispatch, and prompt attention given to all business.

HAWKINS & THARP. ATTORNEYS AND SOLICITORS AT LAW. 10 Commercial Place.

MISCELLANEOUS. THE TRANSCRIPT. LIBERAL ORLEAN. Published at Washington, D. C.

TRUPEAL INFORMATIONS. The streets and public places of the city of New Orleans are now in a state of repair.

SCHILLINGER PAVEMENT COMPANY. Office No. 27 Canal Street. GEORGE E. BROTT, Managing Agent.

POLITICAL GLEANINGS.

Hon. Duncan Stewart, one of the most respected citizens of the Feliciana, a member of the Liberal Provisional Committee, is in the city. He gives a glowing account of the unanimity and enthusiasm with which the people of his section are taking up the Liberal Republican cause and Greeley and Brown.

Money talks. If the "insiders" know these points are not well taken they may win a thousand dollars. If they fail to accept the challenge, the public must conclude that their ticket is a "put up job," intended to deceive. "Man, and money ready."

And speaking of late reminders us that a prominent Coroner street broker authorized a leader in the "United States ticket" ring to bet for him $2000 to $1800, and offered a liberal premium for procuring the bet, that not a single candidate on that ticket as now constituted would be elected in November next. The gentleman appointed agent is understood to have searched diligently, but as yet been unable to find a taker.

Scene—fourteenth Ward Club room—Characters, a Customhouse emissary and an aged and infirm colored man. Embury: "Warmoth must be beat. Mr. Packard, Mr. Lowell and all our friends say so. If we don't beat him he will beat Grant."

Old Infidelant—"Look yer child, what Gov'nor Warmoth eber done agin me! Tell me dat! Tell me ain't he done more for my people than General Grant! Ain't Warmoth been President of Louisiana for four year, and Grant President of the rest of the country for four year, and ain't we got more rights under Warmoth than we get under Grant?"

Embury: "Warmoth must be beat. Mr. Packard, Mr. Lowell and all our friends say so. If we don't beat him he will beat Grant."

Exit disgusted emissary.

The Citizens' Guard says of some down town club composed of foreign born citizens: "They found it necessary to help in the creation and the support of a national administration which protects and defends its adopted citizens." The writer should have added: "With that promptitude and decision which have marked Grant's protection and defense of Mr. Howard from the unexampled outrages perpetrated upon him by Cuban-Spanish authorities." Bal!

The Iron clad Radical Republican Mother Club of Carrollton is to meet on Monday night to elect delegates to the Pinchback convention, called for August 3. This club has some 400 members, and until recently has been regarded as supporting the Customhouse ring; but its independence will not permit a packed ticket to be "rung in" on the people, and Kellogg is repudiated, therefore, in favor of the regular nominee, yet to be chosen.

A close observer and political calculator sends us this estimate of the vote in Louisiana next November: "Republican, 80,000; Democratic, 60,000; total, 140,000. This will be divided: Grant, radical, 50,000; Fusion, 20,000; Liberal Republican, 70,000, the latter getting two-thirds of the late Democratic and three-eighths of the old Republican party." We think his totals for the several parties about the thing, but that the Liberals will get at least 10,000 more Republican and an equal number less of Democratic votes.

VALUABLE IMPROVED AND VACANT REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION BY THE SHERIFF. Particular attention is called to the notice at auction, to be made this day at noon, at the Merchants and Auctioneers' Exchange, Royal street, by the sheriff of the parish of Orleans. Said sales comprise—

1. A piece or portion of ground, with the buildings and improvements thereon situated, in the faubourg Livaudais, Fourth District of this city, on Third street, between Barrois (late Baillou) and Dryden streets.

2. A lot of ground, with the buildings and improvements thereon situated, in the faubourg Avart, late parish of Jefferson, now parish of Orleans, on Camp street, between Valmont and Bellechasse streets. One of said lots forms the corner of Camp and Valmont streets.

3. A lot of ground situated in the Fourth District of this city, on Howard street, between Jackson and First streets. The buildings and improvements thereon have been lately destroyed by fire.

4. A lot of ground situated in the First District of this city, in square bounded by New Levee, Water, Race and Orange streets.

5. A lot of ground situated in the First District of this city, in square bounded by Race, Perce, Water and Orange streets.

6. A lot of ground situated in the Fourth District of this city, on St. Charles street, between Polymnia and Kusterpe streets.

7. And a lot of ground situated in the First District of this city, in square bounded by Franklin, Liberty, Trepelchore and Melpoune streets.

For full particulars and terms see advertisements.

There is pleasure, health and economy in the Sunday excursions across the lake on the steamer Camilla to Mandeville and Madisville. For the mere pittance of $1 the excursionist will get a day crammed full of the best kind of enjoyment. Take the seven o'clock train on the Pontchartrain railroad, and try it. Those who go once will never fail to go again.

FUSSY RATIFICATION MEETING.

LAST-DITCHERS SHOWN UP. SKELETON REGIMENT IN FOR THE WAR. FEEBLE SPEECHES AND LIVELY MUSIC. PUT OUT THE LIGHTS AND EXCURT.

The great meeting at the Varieties Theatre came and part of it stood outside on the street, and a portion inside the theatre, making a total of some 1500 persons, of whom came to ratify the nomination of Greeley and Brown, and a great portion of the other half came out of curiosity, and the rest were of the unadmitted die-in-the-ditch party who can not yet see their power and prestige depart from them without a kick or struggle. It was a lucky idea that struck the managers to hold the meeting in the theatre instead of Lafayette square, as the entire assemblage could be put in one room of that area and then not noticed. The organizers of the meeting got on the outside of Greeley and Brown with very faces, a skeleton regiment avowed to hold service and to be in for the war until it ended. Speeches were all marvellously feeble, and the light even put on a cold and indifferent air, without vim or fire.

When the time arrived, about 1500 people were on the inside of the theatre, sitting as quiet as a funeral.

Mr. B. B. Jones called the meeting to order, saying, as he read from a written card through his eye-glass, that the meeting had been called to ratify Greeley and Brown, and that he would do so for them if he could not help it, and also for the purpose of ratifying the United States ticket, which he read, as well as the electoral college of Louisiana emanating from the die-in-the-ditch men.

There was faint applause from the galleries as each name was read, and a thunder of applause at the mention of Greeley.

Mr. Brady finished by calling to the chair Charles J. Leeds.

This gentleman thanked the vast and intelligent assembly for the honor conferred by calling him to preside, and wound up a short say-nothing speech in saying something about every man's right to vote for what he pleased, and that he would do so for himself.

Mr. James H. Lewis then stepped forward and read part of a list of names, which constituted the organization of the meeting, and announced that there were three hundred.

NON-COMMITTEALS. A letter from Randall Hunt was read, as follows: NEW ORLEANS, July 10, 1872. To Major Austin, Chairman of the Committee of the Democratic Party.

Sir—I thank you for the very friendly and flattering terms in which you invite me to address the mass meeting about to be called by your committee.

Permit me to assure you that I am not recovering from what you are saying, and use my best efforts for the attainment of your desire and patriotic object of reform.

I am, gentlemen, very truly your friend and fellow-citizen. RANDALL HUNT. COLONEL JOHN E. M'ENERY.

This gentleman said, when he was introduced as the first speaker, when he saw this outrageous and unprofitable charge that the Democracy was dead, and unable to redeem the State from the tyrannical and oppressive rule under which our State has labored for the last four years, that he would talk about the death of the Democratic party. By what power is the despot at Washington to be dethroned? Is it not primarily by the support of the Democratic party? The Liberals knew the nomination of Greeley was fruitless unless the Democracy would endorse him, therefore I flout in their faces the charge that the Democracy is dead. O, that cry that the party is dead, especially in our State! Are we of the State honest and sincere in endeavors for reform? I speak of the reform of the Democratic party in the Liberal and in the Reform party who think as we do, and who join with us to redeem the State from the thralldom in which the laboring masses are held.

THESE RESOLUTIONS. The president mildly asked the crowd in the house to form in procession after the meeting was over, but seeing them begin to stampede, told them to wait a few minutes until he had finished his remarks.

Mr. Lewis then stepped forward and read resolutions which ratified the United States ticket, and went it strong on the ratification of the ticket, and the ratification of Greeley and Brown.

WHEREAS, The Democratic party of the United States, and of the State of Louisiana, through proper representatives, have nominated the following ticket, and

WHEREAS, The National Democratic convention at Baltimore has adopted as a platform the resolutions proposed at Cincinnati; and

WHEREAS, That we, the Democracy of the parish of Orleans, in mass meeting assembled, do cordially endorse and ratify the above nominations and platform.

Resolved, That we pledge our best energies and hearty endeavor to the success of the foregoing nominees, recognizing in them men whose character is the best guarantee for the return of the State and federal government to a pure, honest and constitutional administration.

Resolved, That we will support the ticket of Greeley and Brown, and will not support any other ticket.

Resolved, That we will support the ticket of Greeley and Brown, and will not support any other ticket.

Resolved, That we will support the ticket of Greeley and Brown, and will not support any other ticket.

THE CATERPILLAR ALARM.

THE CATERPILLAR ALARM. GREELEY.

Committee to Announce his Nomination—The Lincoln Club Doolittle's Address to Greeley—Mr. Greeley's Reply.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The committee appointed by the Baltimore convention to announce to Horace Greeley its nomination, assembled at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning, every member present. Soon after twelve o'clock the committee proceeded to the Lincoln Club to nominate Mr. Greeley, who was present with two or three friends to receive them. Senator Doolittle, addressing Mr. Greeley, said:

Mr. Greeley, the National Democratic Convention had devoted the pleasing duty to wait upon him in person to notify him of his unanimous nomination for the Presidency by that convention, official notification of which he now presented to him. Published reports of the proceedings showed there was great unanimity, but only those who participated in them had any idea of the enthusiasm with which it was determined to sustain the Liberal Republican movement.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

THE CATERPILLAR ALARM.

THE CATERPILLAR ALARM. GREELEY.

Committee to Announce his Nomination—The Lincoln Club Doolittle's Address to Greeley—Mr. Greeley's Reply.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The committee appointed by the Baltimore convention to announce to Horace Greeley its nomination, assembled at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning, every member present. Soon after twelve o'clock the committee proceeded to the Lincoln Club to nominate Mr. Greeley, who was present with two or three friends to receive them. Senator Doolittle, addressing Mr. Greeley, said:

Mr. Greeley, the National Democratic Convention had devoted the pleasing duty to wait upon him in person to notify him of his unanimous nomination for the Presidency by that convention, official notification of which he now presented to him. Published reports of the proceedings showed there was great unanimity, but only those who participated in them had any idea of the enthusiasm with which it was determined to sustain the Liberal Republican movement.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

BY TELEGRAPH.

LATEST NEWS FROM ALL POINTS. DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE. Liberal Republican Committee.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN THEM. PREPARATIONS FOR THE CAMPAIGN. ORDERLY ORANGE PROCESSION. NOTIFYING MR. GREELEY.

ADDRESS OF SENATOR DOOLITTLE. MR. GREELEY'S REPLY. SPEECH OF GRATZ BROWN.

RESPONSES BY THE PEOPLE. IMMENSE RATIFICATION MEETINGS. THE CUBAN REBELLION. WRECK OF THE STEAMER FANNIE.

THE CATERPILLAR ALARM. GREELEY.

Committee to Announce his Nomination—The Lincoln Club Doolittle's Address to Greeley—Mr. Greeley's Reply.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The committee appointed by the Baltimore convention to announce to Horace Greeley its nomination, assembled at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning, every member present. Soon after twelve o'clock the committee proceeded to the Lincoln Club to nominate Mr. Greeley, who was present with two or three friends to receive them. Senator Doolittle, addressing Mr. Greeley, said:

Mr. Greeley, the National Democratic Convention had devoted the pleasing duty to wait upon him in person to notify him of his unanimous nomination for the Presidency by that convention, official notification of which he now presented to him. Published reports of the proceedings showed there was great unanimity, but only those who participated in them had any idea of the enthusiasm with which it was determined to sustain the Liberal Republican movement.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

Mr. Greeley said that perhaps it needed more time and consideration before replying fully to such an important communication; it may be that he should have replied in writing, but inasmuch as he had addressed a letter to the committee, he was not prepared to do so, and he had determined to do so in person, and he had determined to do so in person.

BY TELEGRAPH.

LATEST NEWS FROM ALL POINTS. DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE. Liberal Republican Committee.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN THEM. PREPARATIONS FOR THE CAMPAIGN. ORDERLY ORANGE PROCESSION. NOTIFYING MR. GREELEY.

ADDRESS OF SENATOR DOOLITTLE. MR. GREELEY'S REPLY. SPEECH OF GRATZ BROWN.