

BUSINESS CARDS.

FAHLEY, BRIGHT & CO.
No. 23 Carondelet Street, New Orleans.

H. W. FAHLEY.
James A. Farley, W. O. Baldwin, of Montgomery.

D. M'KENDRICK.
House and Ship Plumber, Gas-Fitter, Etc.

RICHARD BRODMEICK.
CISTERN MAKER.
132 Julia street, between Camp and Magazine.

PATENTS.
AMERICAN AND FOREIGN.
JENKINS & OLMSTED.

BREKUNING & ERNEST.
FURNITURE AND FURNITURE DEALERS.

D. URBAN.
NOTARY PUBLIC AND UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER.

JOHN GRAYBAR.
Proprietor of Phoenix Stables and Undertaker.

D. A. MURRAY.
CISTERN MAKER.
No. 191 Magazine Street, between Julia and St. Joseph Streets.

DR. JOHN G. ANGELL.
DENTAL SURGEON.
Office and residence, 152 Julia Street.

STILLIVAN & BELGER.
PLUMBERS AND GAS FITTERS.
115 Poydras street, next door to Camp street.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

LOTTERIES.
DRAWING OF THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY FOR JULY 30, 1872.

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING IN TERREBONE.

Speeches by General H. J. Campbell, Lieutenant Governor Pinchback and others.
On Saturday last Lieutenant Governor Pinchback and General Campbell left the city for Houma, Terrebonne parish, for the purpose of meeting in debate the Customhouse orators, who were announced to be there on that day, but on arriving at their destination were disappointed at not finding the champions of the Baton Rouge ticket on hand.

Mr. President and Fellow-citizens of Terrebonne—I had the pleasure two years ago, in this city, to address you. It was then here with a man you all loved, and whose memory you reverence, a colored man, the Lieutenant Governor of the State—Dunn. We had a meeting of Republicans here and there, and I was just before the last election. At that time Governor Dunn and myself united in the same advice to you. To-day I come to you again in company with the Lieutenant Governor, also a colored man. Who remembers the convention that has just been talking to you, your Lieutenant Governor? I well tell you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

REVERSED AND DEFEAT.

of reversed and defeat; two years through-out which his armies were whipped and scattered to the four winds of the earth, because the "great battles" were against him. Not till then did Mr. Lincoln realize that emancipation must come, and in a spirit of almost despair he humbly prayed to God on behalf of the Union, in the privacy of his closet, and made a solemn oath that if He would give him success in the next battle the slaves should be freed. He won it, and one week after Mr. Lincoln issued his proclamation making them and their free forever.

Another great change in the minds of the people is this: At the close of the war, when the Union was restored, when the Confederates were making bravely struggle to the last, furled their battle flags and surrendered their arms to three times their number and went back to their farms and shops, the Republican party did not intend to give the blacks the right to vote. It took the massacre of New Orleans and Memphis, and the experience of much suffering and bloodshed in this Southern land, to convince the Northern people that the ballot was needed by you to protect yourselves. Then came the reconstruction laws and you became citizens. Now as God has taught the Northern people by suffering and disaster to do justice to you, and they have advanced from year to year, so have the Southern whites, suffering under four years of proscription and military government, made an advance.

One of the greatest revolutions in history is occurring under your eyes. The whole Confederate South and the whole Democratic North have, with one mind, dropped the quarrels of slavery and the war, adopted the Republican principles on these questions, and taking up one of the oldest and ablest Abolitionists for their candidate, have taken one mighty step and placed themselves in the advance on the next great progress, which is to carry the people—the white and the colored—to the people and the reform of the government. This movement will sweep over all who stand in its way. If the white people of the State go with it, if they recognize in the new party your rights, give you representation at their tickets, and protect you as well as the old Republican party, then this party will be the best for you; you will be better protected by the good will of your fellow-citizens than by the bayonets of soldiers, and the white people will share in the triumphs of this new movement. If they oppose it and go with the Last Ditchers and Liberals, they will be overwhelmed. So with you. If you oppose this movement, if it is made in good faith in this State, by the Democratic party, with it you will make sure of what you have already gained for your children after you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

REVERSED AND DEFEAT.

of reversed and defeat; two years through-out which his armies were whipped and scattered to the four winds of the earth, because the "great battles" were against him. Not till then did Mr. Lincoln realize that emancipation must come, and in a spirit of almost despair he humbly prayed to God on behalf of the Union, in the privacy of his closet, and made a solemn oath that if He would give him success in the next battle the slaves should be freed. He won it, and one week after Mr. Lincoln issued his proclamation making them and their free forever.

Another great change in the minds of the people is this: At the close of the war, when the Union was restored, when the Confederates were making bravely struggle to the last, furled their battle flags and surrendered their arms to three times their number and went back to their farms and shops, the Republican party did not intend to give the blacks the right to vote. It took the massacre of New Orleans and Memphis, and the experience of much suffering and bloodshed in this Southern land, to convince the Northern people that the ballot was needed by you to protect yourselves. Then came the reconstruction laws and you became citizens. Now as God has taught the Northern people by suffering and disaster to do justice to you, and they have advanced from year to year, so have the Southern whites, suffering under four years of proscription and military government, made an advance.

One of the greatest revolutions in history is occurring under your eyes. The whole Confederate South and the whole Democratic North have, with one mind, dropped the quarrels of slavery and the war, adopted the Republican principles on these questions, and taking up one of the oldest and ablest Abolitionists for their candidate, have taken one mighty step and placed themselves in the advance on the next great progress, which is to carry the people—the white and the colored—to the people and the reform of the government. This movement will sweep over all who stand in its way. If the white people of the State go with it, if they recognize in the new party your rights, give you representation at their tickets, and protect you as well as the old Republican party, then this party will be the best for you; you will be better protected by the good will of your fellow-citizens than by the bayonets of soldiers, and the white people will share in the triumphs of this new movement. If they oppose it and go with the Last Ditchers and Liberals, they will be overwhelmed. So with you. If you oppose this movement, if it is made in good faith in this State, by the Democratic party, with it you will make sure of what you have already gained for your children after you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

REVERSED AND DEFEAT.

of reversed and defeat; two years through-out which his armies were whipped and scattered to the four winds of the earth, because the "great battles" were against him. Not till then did Mr. Lincoln realize that emancipation must come, and in a spirit of almost despair he humbly prayed to God on behalf of the Union, in the privacy of his closet, and made a solemn oath that if He would give him success in the next battle the slaves should be freed. He won it, and one week after Mr. Lincoln issued his proclamation making them and their free forever.

Another great change in the minds of the people is this: At the close of the war, when the Union was restored, when the Confederates were making bravely struggle to the last, furled their battle flags and surrendered their arms to three times their number and went back to their farms and shops, the Republican party did not intend to give the blacks the right to vote. It took the massacre of New Orleans and Memphis, and the experience of much suffering and bloodshed in this Southern land, to convince the Northern people that the ballot was needed by you to protect yourselves. Then came the reconstruction laws and you became citizens. Now as God has taught the Northern people by suffering and disaster to do justice to you, and they have advanced from year to year, so have the Southern whites, suffering under four years of proscription and military government, made an advance.

One of the greatest revolutions in history is occurring under your eyes. The whole Confederate South and the whole Democratic North have, with one mind, dropped the quarrels of slavery and the war, adopted the Republican principles on these questions, and taking up one of the oldest and ablest Abolitionists for their candidate, have taken one mighty step and placed themselves in the advance on the next great progress, which is to carry the people—the white and the colored—to the people and the reform of the government. This movement will sweep over all who stand in its way. If the white people of the State go with it, if they recognize in the new party your rights, give you representation at their tickets, and protect you as well as the old Republican party, then this party will be the best for you; you will be better protected by the good will of your fellow-citizens than by the bayonets of soldiers, and the white people will share in the triumphs of this new movement. If they oppose it and go with the Last Ditchers and Liberals, they will be overwhelmed. So with you. If you oppose this movement, if it is made in good faith in this State, by the Democratic party, with it you will make sure of what you have already gained for your children after you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

REVERSED AND DEFEAT.

of reversed and defeat; two years through-out which his armies were whipped and scattered to the four winds of the earth, because the "great battles" were against him. Not till then did Mr. Lincoln realize that emancipation must come, and in a spirit of almost despair he humbly prayed to God on behalf of the Union, in the privacy of his closet, and made a solemn oath that if He would give him success in the next battle the slaves should be freed. He won it, and one week after Mr. Lincoln issued his proclamation making them and their free forever.

Another great change in the minds of the people is this: At the close of the war, when the Union was restored, when the Confederates were making bravely struggle to the last, furled their battle flags and surrendered their arms to three times their number and went back to their farms and shops, the Republican party did not intend to give the blacks the right to vote. It took the massacre of New Orleans and Memphis, and the experience of much suffering and bloodshed in this Southern land, to convince the Northern people that the ballot was needed by you to protect yourselves. Then came the reconstruction laws and you became citizens. Now as God has taught the Northern people by suffering and disaster to do justice to you, and they have advanced from year to year, so have the Southern whites, suffering under four years of proscription and military government, made an advance.

One of the greatest revolutions in history is occurring under your eyes. The whole Confederate South and the whole Democratic North have, with one mind, dropped the quarrels of slavery and the war, adopted the Republican principles on these questions, and taking up one of the oldest and ablest Abolitionists for their candidate, have taken one mighty step and placed themselves in the advance on the next great progress, which is to carry the people—the white and the colored—to the people and the reform of the government. This movement will sweep over all who stand in its way. If the white people of the State go with it, if they recognize in the new party your rights, give you representation at their tickets, and protect you as well as the old Republican party, then this party will be the best for you; you will be better protected by the good will of your fellow-citizens than by the bayonets of soldiers, and the white people will share in the triumphs of this new movement. If they oppose it and go with the Last Ditchers and Liberals, they will be overwhelmed. So with you. If you oppose this movement, if it is made in good faith in this State, by the Democratic party, with it you will make sure of what you have already gained for your children after you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

REVERSED AND DEFEAT.

of reversed and defeat; two years through-out which his armies were whipped and scattered to the four winds of the earth, because the "great battles" were against him. Not till then did Mr. Lincoln realize that emancipation must come, and in a spirit of almost despair he humbly prayed to God on behalf of the Union, in the privacy of his closet, and made a solemn oath that if He would give him success in the next battle the slaves should be freed. He won it, and one week after Mr. Lincoln issued his proclamation making them and their free forever.

Another great change in the minds of the people is this: At the close of the war, when the Union was restored, when the Confederates were making bravely struggle to the last, furled their battle flags and surrendered their arms to three times their number and went back to their farms and shops, the Republican party did not intend to give the blacks the right to vote. It took the massacre of New Orleans and Memphis, and the experience of much suffering and bloodshed in this Southern land, to convince the Northern people that the ballot was needed by you to protect yourselves. Then came the reconstruction laws and you became citizens. Now as God has taught the Northern people by suffering and disaster to do justice to you, and they have advanced from year to year, so have the Southern whites, suffering under four years of proscription and military government, made an advance.

One of the greatest revolutions in history is occurring under your eyes. The whole Confederate South and the whole Democratic North have, with one mind, dropped the quarrels of slavery and the war, adopted the Republican principles on these questions, and taking up one of the oldest and ablest Abolitionists for their candidate, have taken one mighty step and placed themselves in the advance on the next great progress, which is to carry the people—the white and the colored—to the people and the reform of the government. This movement will sweep over all who stand in its way. If the white people of the State go with it, if they recognize in the new party your rights, give you representation at their tickets, and protect you as well as the old Republican party, then this party will be the best for you; you will be better protected by the good will of your fellow-citizens than by the bayonets of soldiers, and the white people will share in the triumphs of this new movement. If they oppose it and go with the Last Ditchers and Liberals, they will be overwhelmed. So with you. If you oppose this movement, if it is made in good faith in this State, by the Democratic party, with it you will make sure of what you have already gained for your children after you.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.

At the close of General Campbell's speech Mr. Keyes, sheriff of Terrebonne, addressed the audience, but failed to change its sentiment, which was decidedly in favor of Governor Pinchback. Ex-Senator O'Hara indulged in a like effort, and as signally failed, after which the meeting adjourned.