Local Intelligence.

ST. VINCENT'S HOME FOR DESTITUTE BOYS.—The friends of this, one of the most worthy of our Catholic charities, have had in contemplation the holding of a grand festival on the twenty-ninth of November. The committee of arrangements, in the meantime, have prepared a series of entertainments to commence at St. Stephen's Hall, in the Sixth District, on the first of June, of which due notice will be given.

ST. THERESA'S SCHOOL.—The pupils of St. Theresa's school entertained their friends with a grand concert and exhibition last evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. The concert was given at St. Stephen's Hall, in the Sixth District, on the first of June, of which due notice will be given.

PLAYING POLICE.—John Tate has got into disgrace for attempting to take money by representing himself as a policeman. He was handed to the harbor men. He was not a success in his assumed role.

LARCENIES.—William Johnson for stealing chickens, and Jack O'Neill for pilfering from the levee, and Abraham Alexander, a youth of fifty-five, have been committed to the police jail on charges of larceny charge.

INDISCRETION.—Two youngsters, who give their names as Alfred Johnson and J. Monette, have been locked up in the Jefferson police station for indiscretely exposing themselves by lighting a fire in a street about a city ordinance. A warning to the rising generation.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—An Perkins was before Recorder Houghton, yesterday, on a charge of stealing a pair of boots and shoes from James Lewis, No. 270 Lafayette street. Sam Jones before Judge Auld under a bond of $10, and so on.

DROWNED.—A little boy, about nine and a half years old, named James Flanagan, was missed by his parents while on his way to school, about a week ago, and his protracted absence gave them great grief. His body was found yesterday morning in the river, head of Canal street, and was fully identified. The coroner issued an inquest, and the verdict was accidental drowning. His mother lives at No. 115 Liberty street.

SOUTHERN LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—This association is devoted to the intellectual culture of the young men of this city, and now numbers many aspirants for improvement.

Applications for membership are solicited. Regular meetings every Tuesday evening, at the Boys' Central High School, on Burgundy street.

Fire of Eighth Street.—A fire broke out about half-past ten o'clock last night in a two-story frame building at the corner of Eighth and Canal streets, which caused a damage of about $100. The lower floor was occupied in part as a grocery store, the remainder as residences for several families. The owner, whose name could not be ascertained, lives in Carrollton.

Seizures of City Property for the Mrs. Gaines Law Suit. Mayor Wilz has received a communication from Marshal Packard, setting forth that he has been notified by Judge Campbell, attorney for the Mobile, New Orleans and Texas railroad, and of Gardner & Butler, trustees, that certain property of the city, as pointed out in the letter of the Mayor, to be seized in the Gaines case, is beyond the control of the city, the Legislature having given the above railroad company certain privileges to occupy this property as depots, and the United States marshal therefore requests the Mayor to point out some other city property to be seized.

To this Mayor Wilz replies that the title to the property in question pointed out by him is unquestionable in the city, in that it was ceded by Edward Livingston and others, before H. Lavergne, notary public, September 23, 1830, to the city, under act of compromise between the Second Municipality and the then owners of the battery, of date June 30, 1831, and under act of the Legislature, March 21, 1830, the title became absolute.

These vested rights, says the Mayor, are also protected by the constitution of this State and of the United States, and the Legislature had no power to abrogate or affect the city's title by the act of 1830, or thereafter. The company and the Texas Railroad Company and of Gardner & Butler, as trustees, are of no value whatever.

The Mayor adds that the property pointed out by him to the United States marshal is of great value, and concludes as follows: "I have therefore now to require that you do proceed with the seizure and sale of the above property so pointed out by me, and in the event of your refusal or failure so to do, you are admonished and notified that you and your securities will be held responsible in damages."

Pass-Not-Due. The following dispatch received by Major Howell Saturday afternoon will no doubt prove of interest to those having friends on board the steamships General Meade and George Washington, which left for New York on Friday evening:

Pass-A-Not-Due, May 17, 1873. Captain C. W. Howell, New Orleans. Depth of channel at extreme low tide, seventeen feet; width for that depth at mouth of river, fifty feet.

Steamer General Meade, drawing sixteen feet three inches, crossed at 2 P. M., and steamer George Washington, at 2 P. M. Capt. L. B. DAVIS, First Lieutenant of Engineers.

These are the first vessels drawing over sixteen feet of water that have crossed Pass-a-Loutre bar since 1830. The steamship Frankfort will cross to-morrow at high water, drawing seventeen feet eight inches, and without detention, we trust.

Departures Yesterday. No less than four fine steamships left our port on Friday evening and Saturday morning, all with full cargoes, and in passengers and crew numbering nearly a thousand souls. The steamships General Meade and George Washington, of the New York line, had a full list of passengers. The steamship, also, for Liverpool, had a fair share, while the steamship Frankfort, for Bremen, was full to a berth. The officers' rooms were given up. In fact, each member of the ship's company that had an available space set apart for his benefit, freely gave it up to those who sought pleasure in the trip across the Atlantic.

As one stood upon the quarter deck of this noble specimen of marine architecture, when everything had been put in the best order possible before the arrival of the passengers and their friends, he could not help noticing the self-satisfied look of every officer, seaman and boy on board. All from the commander down to the ordinary seaman seemed to look and feel that they were each entitled to a portion of the credit of their successful voyage.

Surely the most nautical eye could not detect a "ropes yarn" out of place. It was truly a twenty days' home so invitingly prepared that ever and anon as the eye rested upon some newly discovered shining corner the loaden pang of parting bore less heavily down; and were it not for the sound of the voice of either father, mother, brother or sister soon to be left behind, tears would have been omitted.

But alas, that cruel bell though dumb at 3 A. M., unloosed its tongue and spoke more effectively than did the hundreds that were speaking a second before. A few no, morns cleared the deck of all that were not booked for the voyage. Embraces and kisses were freely bestowed. Even the less intimate farewells on this occasion, the general disposition being to leave with a balance in favor, rather than owe any one even a kiss. Handkerchiefs were next in order, from the delicate lace of our fashionable, to the more modest hem-stitched of our sterling, the good old reliable handkerchiefs of our fathers.

At this juncture the "tiny tug boat" employed for the purpose of swinging the Frankfort's prow down stream commenced her work, and before many moments her mission had been performed. The gallant ship showed a full broadside, fired two parting salutes, the Blue Peter at the fore was hoisted down, and amid the waving of the handkerchiefs the stars and stripes were down to the breeze in its stead.

We congratulate those having friends on this fine ship, not only in the security of the vessel itself, but, being personally acquainted with her officers, we know them to be men of the most thorough ability, and can guarantee that nothing on the voyage will be left undone for their comfort.

This is the Frankfort's last trip this season, also the last of the line. All these ships have been unusually fortunate, having had no detention at the bar. We trust this, the last one, may wind up a successful season in that respect, thereby giving the owners and proprietors no cause for complaint.

The Frankfort carries away seventy-five first cabin passengers and 100 in the steerage, to all of whom we wish "bon voyage."

Important Appointments by Governor Kellogg. Yesterday quite a number of important appointments were made by Governor Kellogg. Among others, it is understood that the following commissions were signed:

First District.—Webster Long, Judge; Paul Trevigne, clerk; Robert M. Johnson, clerk.

Second District.—Eugene Stas, Judge; C. F. Hall, clerk.

Third District.—Webster Long, Judge; Paul Trevigne, clerk; Robert M. Johnson, clerk.

Fourth District.—W. M. McCallagh, Judge; Charles H. Duponceau, clerk.

The important appointments of levee commissioners and State engineers were also taken under consideration, and it is believed that the gentlemen selected will prove satisfactory to the planting and commercial interests of the State.

These positions are about the only ones that remained in the Governor's gift.

Railroad Time Changed. On the Jackson railroad, commencing today, the express train will depart at 7:50 A. M., and arrive at 11 A. M. The mail train will depart at 9:55 P. M., and arrive at 2:15 A. M., and the accommodation train will arrive at 8:50 A. M. Two express trains will leave daily on the Mobile road, from the head of Canal street, at 8 A. M. and 2 P. M., making connection with Eastern lines.

The thermometer at Louis Frigero's, No. 20 Chartres street, yesterday stood as follows: At 8 A. M., 70; at 2 P. M., 87; at 6 P. M., 87. Lowest point during the night of May 16, 69.

VALMARA IMPROVED REAL ESTATE, ETC., AT AUCTION BY THE SHERIFF.—Particular attention is called to the sales at auction to be made to-morrow at noon, at the Merchants and Auctioneers' Exchange, Royal street, by the sheriff of the parish of Orleans. Said sales comprise:

1. A lot of ground, with the buildings and improvements thereon, situated in the Second District of this city, on Conti street, between Old Levee and Chartres streets.

2. And the costumes, musical and dramatic libraries, decorations, scenery and other accessories acquired by the Opera House Association since the eighteenth of May, 1870, and given in pledge.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Purgation and Prostration.—Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment, is fast passing away. It is now as well as it was, to be found only among the ignorant and the superstitious. The sounder the sense of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago, when Horner's Stomachic Believers began its triumphant progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and toning, and we wish that all the unscrupulous and ignorant, as well as purgative, who are together under the fourth process of the Standard Restorative of the age.
