How a Wife Kept Her Husband Home.

A gentleman of our acquaintance, whose profession necessarily keeps him away from his room until midnight on every week day...

One Sunday evening, the wife, a kind hearted, domestic girl, full of love for her husband, home and children, succeeded in securing her husband's company for that one day.

He ate his fill, thinking how very pleasant it was to sit at the table with his loved ones at home.

Marshal Serrano.

In its issue of the sixteenth instant the Herald published an account of a visit of one of its representatives to the ex-Régent of Spain at the place of his temporary exile at Biarritz.

When a change does come, as he predicts, this cautious, long-headed old statesman may again be called to the head of affairs.

That is a most difficult question to answer. It is impossible to say what will be the result of the coming struggle.

What, then, do you think will be the ultimate form of government?

Yes, but not at present, and only in the event of all attempts to establish a republic having failed.

What between civil war, military dictatorship and national debt, the present government has insurmountable obstacles to overcome.

But the conservatives and radicals will retain power. How they will do so is another question.

But these associates had nothing in common with him. He was an old fogy, and knew nothing of the modern day development.

There were 375 deaths in Brooklyn for the week, including 154 under five years.

On application of several owners of outside booths at the Washington market today, the Supreme Court issued an ex parte order to the mayor.

At eight o'clock this evening 50 policemen, under Inspector Walling and the health inspectors, with 150 constables, commenced the work of pulling down the booths and sheds around Washington market.

With the trio of relief, acting in concert, only can the trade of this city and the Mississippi valley be remedied.

It will be seen from the award, elsewhere noticed in this issue, that the contract for putting down a square block pavement on Poydras street has been awarded to Mr. John Coleman.

Dispatches from Washington announce that the headquarters of the Department of the Gulf are to be removed temporarily from New Orleans to Holly Springs, Mississippi.

Old Jack.

Long, long ago, when kind-hearted Frank Grace first joined the police, when the Academy of Music was a circus, and before the mind of man was stirred into turmoil by the war...

His which are grayer than his age alone would warrant. His sight is feeble. His gait trembling. When he sits down, it is with a suddenness that suggests the dropping of an anchor.

He called regularly at the first precinct station while Frank Grace was officiating as the escort of late calling ladies to their parlors, and when he died, was for some time a melancholy wanderer in search of companionship.

WASHINGTON.

The Case of the Steamer Virginus—Secretary Robeson Indorses the Action of the American Fleet—A Cadet Drowned at West Point—Pickett, the Murderer.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Cadet Dennis, of Illinois, was drowned while bathing at West Point, yesterday.

The Attorney General refused to recommend a pardon in the case of James Pickett, in response to an Italian woman, in 1872, and was tried and convicted by the civil authorities of Idaho and sentenced to death.

The correspondence is published covering the capture of the steamer Virginus, the American commander of the gunboat Kansas, and the Spanish commander, Antrom, of the Spanish gunboat Bazan, in regard to the sailing of the steamer Virginus from San Domingo.

American Consul Thurston at Aspinwall, in response to a letter, said that the Virginus had the right to fly the American flag, quoting as a precedent the action of Minister Hunt in April, 1872, when the latter informed the government that the steamer had been captured by the Virginus.

On the twenty-ninth of June, Captain Rockendorf, of the Canandaigua, which had just arrived, ordered the Kansas to capture the steamer, and over-extended the Virginus as a pirate, and has officially reported to the State Department that the action of the American fleet is indorsed by Secretary Robeson.

On application of several owners of outside booths at the Washington market today, the Supreme Court issued an ex parte order to the mayor.

At eight o'clock this evening 50 policemen, under Inspector Walling and the health inspectors, with 150 constables, commenced the work of pulling down the booths and sheds around Washington market.

All the sheds on Greenwich street were soon leveled to the ground. The constables and other occupants showed no resistance to the officers of the law, but contented themselves with threats of suits for damages.

West, Pease and Eaton, blown down by a hurricane, the place will be reconstructed in the morning.

Suit has been brought against Lizzie King, Anna Stoddard, the object of which is to foreclose a mortgage on one of Goodrich's houses in Degraw street, Brooklyn.

King, Anna Stoddard, is made party defendant as the widow of Charles Goodrich. When the papers were read and it was explained to the prisoner that the object was to cut off her claims to the property, she said she had no desire to get a dollar out of Goodrich's estate, nor does she propose to claim anything; but she does wish to get certain trinkets which Goodrich presented her with, and which she says are now in his father's possession.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed by John J. Allen, ex-Assistant United States District Attorney, against the Brooklyn Trust Company.

His brother-in-law, has not been arrested, but is believed to be in New York. He is believed to be in New York. He is believed to be in New York.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 23.—At the trial of Glione, the Italian padrone, before the Circuit Court today, four boys testified that they had been in this country for twenty-one months, and had been kept in the Crosby street den in New York until they were ten years of age.

The contracts under which the padrone claims a right to hold the boys were translated and laid before the court, and it appeared that the boys' services had been secured to him by their parents for four or five years at an average rate of about $20 per year, and with the provision that the padrone should pay for medical services, and should forfeit wages and a fine of $80 if the boys should run away during the term of service.

The statute under which Glione had been indicted was passed in 1871 for the purpose of nullifying the fugitive slave law, but was never used, and the penalty is now inoperative. The court held that Glione is guilty of imprisoning free persons with the intent to sell them as slaves, and that the penalty is inoperative.

He was committed, in default of bonds, to answer the charge in October.
