LATVARD, SEPTEMBER 27, 1873. First District Court. ARRONGED.

Anatole Decan, alias Williams, pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny.

John Nolan was brought up on a charge of assault by voluntarily shooting, and pleaded not guilty.

INFORMATION FILED. Larceny—Lewis Adler, James Bolton, Assault and battery—Thomas Connolly, N. Rogers.

SENTENCE. Mr. Eugene received one year in the Parish Prison for larceny.

John Jones got six months, and George Johnson two years, for the same offense.

John H. Brown was sentenced to one year on an indictment for murder, was sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary.

PAID BONDS. Mrs. Labadie was accepted on a bond of $500 for the appearance of Joe Labadie.

The attorney general was a commissioner on an indictment for murder, was sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary.

NEW TRIALS. The court refused a new trial to Harrison, convicted of perjury.

Nearly the whole day was occupied by the argument on the motion for a new trial in the case of Joseph Wilson, convicted of arson.

The accused was indicted under section 811 of the Revised Statutes, which contains the words, "some human being usually awake, sleeping or resting at night."

The building was a general store at the corner of Royal and Barracks streets. It was shown that part of it had been used as a sleeping apartment by the former proprietor.

The court overruled the motion. The Academy of Music. Last night at this theatre Miss Alice Harrison repeated her excellent impersonation of Beatrice.

Her acting in this character has been an agreeable surprise to those who have witnessed it, stamping her as a genuine actress, far better than most of the stars traveling.

She will prove a valuable addition to the Academy company, with which we are pleased to learn she will remain.

Tonight the "Boy Detective" will be repeated for the last time. Monday evening the sensational drama entitled "The Mother's Friend" will be performed.

In which Miss Harrison will sustain five different characters, and otherwise with a cast embracing all the favorites of the company, and with the additional assistance of Miss Elva Caruso, the new leading lady, who will make her first appearance in the character of Beatrice.

Manager Hayward does not hesitate or falter in his determination to present attractive performances at whatever cost, even at this time of financial trouble, and his effort should receive support and achieve the success it deserves.

Haley's News Depot. We are under renewed obligations to Mr. C. C. Haley, the enterprising news dealer on No. 19 Commercial place, for a most supply of the best weekly papers published at the North. Haley's variety of readable things seems to be inexhaustible.

Accident to Beauregard. General Beauregard met with quite a severe accident while going to visit the venerable Mr. Cassin, at the residence of the latter, on the 24th inst.

He started with Major Moran, Major McLane and Mr. Whiting, personal friends residing in Mississippi, and on their way to Black River, he fell from his horse, and was thrown under it and bruising it severely, and lying upon him until Major Moran hastily lifted him up, and raised the fallen animal.

In addition to the bruising, the general had his thumb dislocated, and was so bruised and hurt that he had to be taken back to Mississippi by Mr. Whiting. However, he is well, and is expected to return to the field, and still wanted to see the field, which had not visited since 1861. Mr. Whiting afterward put him in his buggy and drove him to the residence of Mr. Cassin, where the spots where he fell, Major Moran, Fisher, and carried away a pile from the mound that mark those spots.

Speakership of the House. The speakership of the House presiding at present to be more warmly than Mr. Blaine and his friends have heretofore had any idea would be the case.

The announcement made of Hon. John A. Kasson, of Iowa, as the choice of the House for the speakership, has excited a great deal of interest among the members of the House.

Mr. Bradlaugh was asked what was England's thought of the stability of the American republic. He answered: "The English people are laughing at you, and have since you fought so hard to preserve, they will never be fool enough to let slip out of their hands the only republic in America."

Mr. Bradlaugh is over six feet high and substantial in proportion. He has a high forehead, and a long, straight nose, which is light brown and behind the ears, which, in conjunction with his entirely clean-shaven face, give him a singularly handsome appearance.

He is a man of a high opinion of himself, and he can not tolerate any slight, and he likes to keep his opinion of himself straight. His eyes are very intense and watchful, and his smile is very pleasant.

His upper lip is long, and both are rather thin and compressed—prejudiced observers might say, somewhat suggestive of spite. The same time, it can not be denied that his countenance has occasionally a bright, cheerful, positive look, which is not to be mistaken for a mere affectation.

His hair is a limited quantity, but it is of a dark color, and is combed back. He is a man of a high opinion of himself, and he can not tolerate any slight, and he likes to keep his opinion of himself straight.
