Local Intelligence

FIRE NEAR KELLER MARKET—Our firemen have recently had ample opportunity to play on fires. The machines are scarce...

World—When nine and ten o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the dwelling house at the corner of Jackson and Clara streets...

On Clara street, next to Jones soap factory, a small cottage belonging to and occupied by Mrs. Springmeyer, was burned. It is not insured.

The house of G. Keiser, a small one-story frame occupied by G. Clayton, was burned. The house of Mrs. Sprague, a small cottage, was also burned.

THE OLD QUESTION—Mollie Scott was placed in quarantine for stealing Havana lottery tickets assessed as worth $15. According to a State law these tickets are not property, hence no lottery, & Bishop is the complainant.

ABSENTEE—Gaspar King, who violently assaulted G. M. Stock, has been arrested. On the road—Ex-Governor Hahn and Hon. Alfred S. Dix were spilled out of their carriage last evening on St. Charles street...

M. Johnson, a trader in stolen goods, was arrested and charged that he sold articles which he knew had been stolen. The trouble will be looked into by Judge Germon.

DEVILING THE LAW—The furniture in a house on the Holly Grove plantation, a short distance above Carrollton, was under seizure by the sheriff yesterday morning. This did not suit Oscar Pomrade, so he started in to move the goods. He was arrested by Sergeant Chamblotte.

WILL SOMEBODY TELL—Several interested gentlemen are very anxious to learn the fastest time ever made by foot racers on a course of 100 yards. Any one who can record, no matter where made, will confer a favor by informing the reporter.

THEY HAVE RETURNED—The squad of militiamen who visited Covington as peace conservators returned yesterday, none the worse for the excursion. The men were well received by the people of Covington.

Thomas Randolph worked his way into the first precinct station without having the pass word. He is charged with the prevailing epidemic.

SOCIAL BEERHOUSE CASE—Julius Socha, D. V. Schoenhansen and one other Crystal Palace were indicted yesterday for robbing Edmund Keith of $200 each. Socha signing for Schoenhansen and the grand jury will immediately take hold of this case.

BEERHOUSES CLOSED—Mayor Wiltz yesterday closed the city license given to Julius Socha for the Crystal Palace beerhouse, but could not do the same for the Royal Palace, as the latter had no city license. These beerhouses were closed by Superintendent Badger, whereupon Captain Malone was instructed to close both places.

FIRE ON ST. CHARLES STREET—At three o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out on St. Charles street, at the corner of St. Charles street, and as the flames raged furiously the firemen did not succeed in checking the flames until they were quite run out. The fire worked through a thin partition into the hat store of Mr. Harlow, which fronts on Commercial street, No. 23. That store was completely ruined.

Mr. Harlow was injured, as is Mr. Hill. The engine rendered the premises and concluded that the fire did not originate in accident.

AN EAGLE—Mr. J. A. Nixon, Jr., recently killed a regular American eagle near Mississippi City.

THE $10,000 EMBROIDERY CASE—Mr. G. T. Converse was before Judge Germon yesterday, charged with embezzling $10,000 from the Workmen's Accommodation Bank. Nothing was said in the examination, and the examination is not finished.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED HIMSELF—Mr. Rescia Soivan was hunting on the Bell plantation, a few miles above this city, and accidentally shot himself. The charge entered the abdomen, causing almost instant death.

WOMEN'S MOVE—Fanny Scott et als. who were notified to move their premises from Bourbon street, but refused to obey, were before Judge Stays yesterday, but the case was continued some more.

CHRISTIAN PORTUGUESE ASSOCIATION—President Jose Baraguan sends an invitation to the twenty-fourth anniversary of that society, Sunday morning and evening.

COURT RECORD.—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1873. First District Court. Little business was transacted in the Criminal Court, the day having been assigned for capital cases which were concluded.

The Earl and Garvey case was continued to the twenty-eighth instant. Pierre Bertin was brought up for sentence on two counts he had pleaded guilty, on the others a jury had convicted him. He was condemned as follows: Assault and battery, one month in the Parish Prison; larceny, two years in the Penitentiary; assault with a dangerous weapon, one year in the Penitentiary; assault with intent to murder, two years in the Parish Penitentiary.

THE TEMPERATURE.—The thermometer at Louis Frigerio's, No. 50 Chartres street, yesterday stood as follows: At 8 A. M., 64; at 2 P. M., 70; at 6 P. M., 75. Lowest point during the night of October 8, 57.

Shreveport Items. From the Times of last Sunday: Mrs. Nancy Moncreu, eldest daughter of Hon. John C. Moncreu, died at the residence of her father in this city, on the twenty-sixth instant, in the eighteenth year of her age.

Mr. Jake Gragard, of the firm of Keiser & Gragard, was out yesterday, looking very well, after his illness of the yellow fever. We are pleased to state that Dr. Ashton, having fully recovered from the yellow fever, has resumed his practice.

Travelers from the State from here to Monroe must meet with rather rough treatment on the route. We understand some of the towns have quarantined passengers by the stage, and keep a guard at the outlet for the purpose of making travelers get out and foot it around, to meet the stage on the other side.

We are pleased to learn from Dr. Davis, the attending physician, that he considers Mr. F. Avocke out of danger, and with proper caution will recover. This is one of the most remarkable cases of the epidemic to be recorded in this city, and has lasted for many days. Black vomit was thrown up for some time, yet he is now in fair way of recovery.

Charles Wolf, Jr., who died in this city on Friday, September 26, 1873, of the prevailing epidemic, though comparatively a young man, had endeavored himself to be a good citizen, and his demise is universally regretted. At the breaking out of the fever, and up to the time he was taken sick, he was in the habit of contributing liberally to the nursing of the sick, the success of the unfortunate and the last aid to the bereaved. Not satisfied with this, he had a number of beds made up for the beds of the sick, and he had a number of friends here, his memory will ever remain green with them, and they will long cherish his many sterling qualities. This has fallen to the lot of a young man, who has been a rising business man, and in his death Cincinnati has lost a bright and promising son.

The New Orleans Argosy has been interviewed by the Hon. J. A. Nixon, Jr., of the Shreveport epidemic, and the result is a quarter of a column of stuff in which we find a single fact. Who Mr. E. L. Fisher, who is mentioned in the article, is, we do not know, but we are glad to see that our population who have remained here "keep at home, being afraid to approach the sick," he states what is untrue. So far from desiring the sick to be removed from the city, the people who have remained here have been with them day and night. In the care of the sick every avocation has been abandoned, and we hope our country will not be ignorant, frightened or mendacious in informant as the redoubtable Mr. E. L. Fisher.

Lieutenant Eugene A. Woodruff. Among the victims of the yellow fever at Shreveport, was the Hon. J. A. Nixon, Jr., United States Marshal. Woodruff of the United States Army Corps of Engineers, one of the most popular and promising of the younger officers in that service. Lieutenant Woodruff, who will be indissolubly linked with one of the most important engineering undertakings of the year—the removal of the great Red river raft, that has, even now, so much to do with the navigation of one of the most valuable of the Southern rivers, and which yearly causes the overflow of some of the States of the South, was killed in the present year, under the direction of Major Howell, commanding the United States engineers in the Southwest, by a fall from the end of a work which was being pulled out the logs and sawing them into short pieces, so that they would float down stream, he and, in a few moments, made a passage which was thought for a single boat through forty miles of these obstructions.

As summer approached, Lieutenant Woodruff's superior officer advised him to push his work forward, so that the river might be navigable in time for the movement of the army. It was on the tenth of September he arrived in Shreveport from the scene of his operations, without having received any warning of the epidemic which was then raging. He found the people panic-stricken and fleeing from the city, leaving the sick to suffer and die without nursing or medical attendance. A few minutes after he formed the idea of the "Howard Association," and their numbers were so small that they were able to relieve but a small part of the suffering. Instead of returning to the raft, he remained in the city, and he was a single case of yellow fever, but he was not associated, and, although he was not associated, devoted himself to the care of the sick, and after fourteen days' sickness died on Wednesday.

Lieutenant Woodruff served as a volunteer in the Mexican war, and was promoted from West Point Military Academy in 1860, and was commissioned first lieutenant March 7, 1862. New York Tribune.

Metropolitan and River Report. The signal service, United States army, reports, for the benefit of commerce, the meteorological record, and use or fall of the rivers, at 2:45 P. M., local time, yesterday, as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Place, Ther. (Ther.), Weather. Rows include New Orleans, St. Louis, Memphis, etc.

WOMEN'S MOVE—Fanny Scott et als. who were notified to move their premises from Bourbon street, but refused to obey, were before Judge Stays yesterday, but the case was continued some more.

A gentleman, on taking a volume to be bound, was asked if he would have it bound in Russia. "Oh, no," he replied, "Russia is too far off; I'll have it bound here."
