Local Intelligence

THEY DID NOT RALLY.—It was the night before election when the leading Democrats of the third ward called on the assembly in Turner Hall and the other fraction to gather at the corner of Bertrand and Poydras streets. Turner Hill was nearly half filled by an indifferent audience, and Mr. M. Bonner was chosen president. Mr. J. D. Hill had something to say, but "the boys" did not enjoy his speech.

Mr. Carleton Hunt followed and made a very excellent Republican speech, or would have been had he omitted his remarks concerning Mr. Packard. "The boys" did not relish his speech and they gave unmistakable signs of their temper by occasionally interrupting him, especially when he drew on printed documents to back up his assertions. Mr. Walter H. Rogers met with a better reception, perhaps because he cut his speech short at both ends. Mr. R. L. Gibson said something, entirely non-committal, excepting his excuse for not making a speech. The audience seemed greatly relieved when announcement was made that the meeting stood adjourned sine die. The other meeting was at the corner of Bertrand and Poydras streets, in the open air. Bonfires and torches warmed the speakers, but there was really no enthusiasm. Messrs. Gibson, Forester, Kelly and McHenry made short speeches, so short that the short-haired were well pleased when somebody proposed an early adjournment.

TWO VERY LOULY SHOTS.—Last evening Mathew Keppler, keeper of a bar room on Decatur near Elysian Fields street, was mortally wounded by Charles Lockaby.

It is stated that Lockaby hires a house from Keppler and that they had quarreled concerning payments. No one was present when the trouble began, but Mr. King was in an adjoining room and heard a part of the noise. Keppler was shot twice, once in his left hand and once in his right side, the latter doubtless fatal, at least the victim was informed that he could not live long, and he believed such to be the case.

Judge Long was called in and took Keppler's dying declaration, who was able to barely state that Lockaby shot him.

Lockaby was arrested just as he was leaving the saloon. He says that he shot Keppler, but did it in self-defense, as he saw him reaching for a pistol that was behind the counter, where Keppler was standing when wounded. Keppler's dying statement apolls that story entirely, especially as accused could not see that Keppler was reaching for, if he tried to reach for anything.

A GREATLY MIXED HOSTILE MEETING.—At two o'clock Sunday morning Officer

Hennessey became aware that a considerable row was progressing in a dance house at the corner of Girod and Commerce streets. He, being unwilling to enter the place alone, called for assistance. Officers Coleman and Kerrigan responded, and as they entered the house somebody mashed a heavy chair on Coleman's head, stunning him and the blood nearly blinding his eyes, but he quickly recovered. Coleman, believing that H. C. Steele was the person who floored him, drew his pistol and fired, wounding Steele in the left side, below the shoulder. Officer Dignan stepped in at that juncture and Coleman told him to arrest a man who was pointed out; Dignan refused, whereupon Coleman gave him a punch. Dignan, not fully understanding the situation, told Coleman to look out for himself, as he intended to shoot him, at the same time leveling his revolver. Coleman told him not to shoot his belly and turned his back, receiving the bullet near the shoulder. This closed hostilities and the entire party was taken to the first precinct station. It was then learned that both Steele and Coleman were so seriously wounded that it was necessary to send them to the Charity Hospital.

It is not pretended that this statement is perfectly correct, but the story is so mixed that the real circumstances will probably never be known. It appears that there was but little cause for such desperate measures.

SWAN AT NO. 20.—The thirty horses are hereby informed that Mr. William Swan has actually and for a solid fact, opened a saloon at No. 20 Royal street, in the old

Postoffice building, and he requests all of you who do not wish to see him to keep away from No. 20.

COMMISSIONER SOUTHWORTH.—This Federal official had but little business to attend to yesterday, but he promptly attended to that little. Several persons who had been reported as "not found" made their presence known and were instantly released, so they can vote to-day as they please.

A FATAL BATH.—Yesterday when laborers were engaged discharging the cargo of the steamboat Governor Allen, the boat's stern was drawn out from the wharf so far as to cause the stage-plank to drop into the river. Three roustabouts were on the plank at the time and were dropped into the river. One of them, John Monroe, was drowned.

The others succeeded in making a landing.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.—Henry Pratta, a lad, was last evening accidentally shot by his brother John, on the corner of St. Ann and Chartres streets. The wound was a most unfortunate one, and will disable the youth for life.

JOHN BAILEY DEAD.—This man who was wounded by William Monroe on the thirtieth ultimo, died yesterday on Constance, near Asselstier street. Monroe is in prison.

FIRE-ARMS.—At dark last night there was not a pistol to be bought in town. Side arms were evidently considered the chief qualification for service as election officers.

BRIEF MENTION.—Joseph Alexander, one who loves his toddy not wisely but too well, staggered around the corner of Baronne and Toledano streets and offended somebody, when that somebody stabbed him two or three times and then disappeared.

The tipsy man was sent to his home.

Officer Coleman, who was shot at the corner of Girod and Commerce streets, was able to be about yesterday, as his wound is not as serious as it might have been. When he sits down he takes care to find the front edge of his chair.

Mr. Ned Lillenthal, full of jolly health and fat enough to kill, has returned from his centennial trip, and he does not care who knows it. He may be interviewed at any time at his Canal street store.

Do all your voting as early as possible, but do not vote early. Republicans should remember that every "alleg" dropped into a ballot box carries considerable weight.

The New Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago railroad will not receive any freight shipment on Tuesday, November 7, 1876. No freight will be delivered on that date, except perishable, stock and cotton; that will be delivered as usual.

The body of Joseph Johnson, drowned by the steamboat Lee running down his skiff last week, was found at the head of Erato street Sunday. The father's body has not been recovered.

Sunday evening one Callis was found in the house of Benjamin Lee, on Gentilly road, and as he was there without invitation Lee resorted to force to eject the intruder.

Callis was stabbed, and Lee, supposing that Callis would die, escaped.

The fire at three o'clock Sunday morning was in a small house on Independence near Rampart street, owned by Jacob Mescher. The building was destroyed.

The fire alarm sounded Sunday evening was turned in by a supernumerary policeman, because a chimney was burning. The officer was suspended from duty by Captain Rey.

The residence of Mr. W. M. Smallwood, corner of Pitt and Lyons streets, was robbed Saturday night of silverware, a watch and $50 in currency.

The loud statement published in the Bulletin Sunday morning concerning Mr. John Donellan thrashing his brother is pronounced incorrect by Mr. Donellan. He is not a member of the Typographical Union and never was. His published card asserts that he is such.

Voters, look up your registration papers and keep them in a safe place, ready for the great event, and do not fail to put in square tickets for Hayes and Wheeler for the Packard State ticket.

Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court of the State met yesterday, inaugurating the November term. The commission of Judge Edwards and Justice John G. Taliferro, was presented by Mr. Justice Howell, and he took his seat on the bench.

Hon. William H. Hunt presented the commission of Hiram E. Steele as Attorney General.

After a few cases had been fixed for hearing, Hon. W. W. Howe called attention to the death of the late Associate Justice John G. Taliferro, and out of respect to his memory the court adjourned.

Superior Criminal Court.

vember 4 and 5, 56°.

Honest and courageous people have very little to say about either their courage or their honesty. The sun has no need to boast of his brightness, nor the moon of her effulgence.

Staub has just located himself at Gold-walt's new book store, on Exchange alley, just around the corner from Canal street, where he offers patrons improved facilities and an assorted stock of the best periodicals published. The "Lakeside Library," with the wonderful new novel, Daniel Deranda, in two numbers, twenty cents each, is his latest specialty.

United States Supervisors.

All persons who have been appointed

United States supervisors, and have not already been sworn in as such, are notified to report at the office of Mr. F. A. Wolfley, chief United States supervisor, at the Castlehouse, for the purpose of being sworn in, between the hours of 6 and 9 P. M. today.

Appointments.

Government Kellogg has made the following

appointments:

Orleans parish—A. Gandolf, assistant superior of registration, seventh ward, vice W. J. Moore, resigned; G. W. Wright, assistant superior of registration, ninth ward, vice H. C. Bartistie, resigned.
