Our People—Their Duty and Their Opportunity. NEW ORLEANS, March 5, 1877.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN: I notice in the papers of yesterday a letter addressed to E. B. Wheelock, Esq., president New Orleans Pacific Railway Company, from Messrs. Gibson, Ellis, Levy and others, in which, after informing that gentlemen of the defeat of his bill by the Forty-fourth Congress, occurs the following passage:

We believe that the bill requiring the incorporation of the United States of the bonds of the company and parcels will pass the Forty-fifth Congress if earnest and concerted efforts are made and kept up by those who are vitally interested in its success.

And again: The nationality of the enterprise, the depressed condition of our section, the stunted manner in which the Federal government has extended aid and bounty to the South, combine to strengthen our claims in this matter.

I also notice by the telegraphic dispatches that the bill providing for rebuilding the levees of the Mississippi river also failed, but that General Gibson felt sanguine of its passage by the next Congress.

It is further stated that the Brazilian mail subsidy was defeated, thanks to the efforts of Messrs. Clymer and Blount, Democratic members of the House.

Now, Mr. Editor, what I desire is information as to the date on which the opinions of our Representatives in Congress are based, so as to warrant the assurance of their passage by the Forty-fifth Congress.

If these gentlemen admit that they stand no possible chance of any relief from the Democracy of the North, as was very clearly shown by their action in the session just closed, when, with a majority of over sixty, they defeated every measure of practical benefit to our section, I fully concur with them; but if they expect the support of the next Republican Congress, as I believe it will become by the accession of five or six members of the House who have heretofore acted with the Democratic party, but whose conservatism will not permit them to impede the wheels of government, the members of the Mississippi valley must strike out boldly on a new departure, ceasing the constant abuse of every leading Republican of the country, conceding some honesty of purpose and patriotism to those with whom they have heretofore differed, and give a frank and cordial support to the administration of President Hayes.

Can they consistently and will they pursue this program? I fail to see the slightest inconsistency in such a course, more particularly after the refusal of their Democratic allies of the North to consider even one practical measure of relief, coupled with the indisputable fact that between the two great parties which struggled for supremacy during the late campaign there was not a single political principle involved, but it was solely a contest for power and place.

What our people need is peace, quiet, the appointment of unexceptionable men to office, as to capacity and integrity, and government aid and assistance to complete those measures within which we can have no propriety.

That it can be easily obtained by our people (and in using that term I wish to be understood as meaning all the voters of the State, regardless of old party lines), no one that has watched the course of political events in the past two months will deny, yet fearlessly taking the initiative, and through our Legislature, instructing the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Louisiana to give an unqualified and hearty support to the administration of President Hayes, requesting, at the same time, the co-operation of our sister States of Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri by taking similar action.

Let our leading public men of all political parties rise above mere party affiliations, petty jealousies and prejudices with our honest difficulties, in a legal, just and honorable manner, demand that the people of all classes and conditions shall be protected by the law, making one united effort for the redemption of our city and State, thus insuring an era of prosperity, peace and good feeling, hereby deserving and winning the gratitude of the whole people as well as the approval of their own consciences.

GEORGE A. FOSDICK.

STATE NEWS. From the Sugar-Bowl, March 5: Last Friday a most unfortunate event took place in the coffee-house of Mr. Corrig. In a business quarrel between Messrs. Laurent Bains and Ambrose Groussat, pistols were drawn and both fired several shots, we believe. Mr. Groussat received a severe wound in the hip and thigh, and Mr. Bains was shot through the left fore arm, when bystanders interfered and prevented further trouble. We presume the matter will undergo legal investigation. The carrying of weapons in town should by all means be prevented, for such quarrels endanger the lives of innocent parties as much as the participants.

Washington Matters. The Senate, in executive session yesterday, continued all day the Cabinet nominations. Mr. Bruce, of Mississippi, is chairman of the Committee of the Levees of the Mississippi River. Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, takes West's place as chairman of the Senate Railroad Committee. No public business was transacted by the Senate.

Southwest Pass, March 10, 1877. To Captain C. W. Howell, Corps of Engineers, depth of channel at mean low tide, eight feet. Least width for that depth, 100 feet. High tide at 5 P. M. Height above mean low tide, one foot six inches. Depth of channel at high tide, nineteen feet six inches. Bottom soft.

C. H. KILWELL, Master of the Moakwater.

Stanley Matthews' Day. A Washington dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette says: The number of Ohio Republicans here is increasing who think that the first duty of Stanley Matthews to his party was to stand bravely up to the contest with Banning, and fight it through in the next House. With as good a case as it is argued on by both sides exists, he would have had a fair chance of success in a House as evenly divided as the next will be. If he refuses to do this, and so fails to secure the Republican member for Cincinnati, there are those who say he ought not to lay claim to election as Senator.

The Jewish mission at St. Patrick's Church closed last Sunday evening, an immense congregation being present. As among the fruits of this most successful mission, we may mention that during the time it was in progress 4000 persons received holy communion in St. Patrick's Church, and that last Tuesday morning the most reverend archbishop, accompanied by several bishops, of whom thirty-two were converts. The celebrated General James Longstreet was among those who were received into the church at this mission.—Morning Star.

Kellogg's Chances. The Chicago Tribune says: The case of ex-Governor Kellogg, who holds credentials as Senator elect from Louisiana, was yesterday referred to the Committee on Privileges, a sufficient number of Republicans being present to prevent a vote to admit Mr. Bayard's substitute for this effect. This action, though a temporary defeat for Mr. Kellogg, who has the case in charge, and favored strenuously, does not, however, indicate that he is to be considered as an indication of the final result. Kellogg's chances for admission are excellent.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS. A Matamoros dispatch of the ninth says: Notwithstanding the telegraphic order received yesterday from President Diaz to send General Cortina to the City of Mexico, the military court last night at ten o'clock pronounced sentence of death on him. His counsel published a protest to legal against the sentence, declaring it illegal, as it was pronounced ten hours after the receipt of the order of the chief executive of the nation to transfer the accused and the proceedings in his case to the capital.

Cortina's organ declared to-day the pretense of sending him to the City of Mexico is merely to have an opportunity to shoot him on the way, under the plea that he attempted to escape. It is not known that General Canales has telegraphed that he will obey the order to send Cortina to Mexico, and it is believed that Cortina will be started on his way to the capital under a strong escort, but that it is doubtful if he reaches his destination.

A Reuter from Constantinople reports that the Montenegro and Turkish representatives are unlikely to agree. A duel in which the Marquis de Campagna was killed at Cairo was caused by M. Meyer, a person connected with the Egyptian Geographical Society. He accused the Marquis of having supplanted the German geographer, Schweinfurth, in the secretaryship of that society. During the altercation which followed, M. Meyer struck the Marquis. A challenge was sent and accepted, and the duel was fought with the result previously reported.

The Egyptian finance committee has accepted the proposal of M. de Lesseps, made in the name of the Suez Canal Company, to complete and work the canal between Cairo and Ismael, provided the company be authorized to levy certain dues upon vessels passing through the canal. The works were formerly abandoned for want of funds. By the execution of Lesseps' plan, large tracts of land will be reclaimed to cultivation.

The Paris Unions announce an important conference of five ambassadors with Generals Ignatieff and Schouvaloff at the French foreign office to-day, to deliberate on the tenor of a collective note demanding of Turkey guarantees calculated to satisfy Russia.

Minister to France. The Cincinnati Gazette says: The President will tender the post of minister of France to Ex-Governor Noyes, of Ohio. It is presumed that the way has been cleared for this by the tender of resignation by Mr. Washburne, Ex-Governor Noyes is a soldier of the war of national preservation, and an efficient campaign orator, well known throughout the State. The members of the Republican National Convention will recognize him as the orator who nominated Hayes to the convention in a very effective speech. He rendered effective service in the political campaign, and was generally recognized as a special representative of Mr. Hayes. His nomination to this post is a recognition of the zeal and service of a personal friend and of a good worker for the Republican party.
