ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR CORONER.

We are authorized to announce as THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE for Coroner of the Second and Third Districts, Parish of Orleans.

Louis P. Pijcaux,

Subject to the ratification of the Republican Party of Louisiana.

We were agreeably surprised on Thursday night to hear the familiar voice of our "familiar friend" H. A. CORNIN, Esq., who had just arrived on the Jackson train from his trip and a visit to his friends in Cincinnati.

The most recent information of the condition of Hon. W. Jasper Blackburn, who was shot some days ago after speaking with the Kellogg party at Minden, La., is that he is not yet out of danger. We hope our able cotemporary will even survive this last attack on his life, because he dared to utter the honest sentiments of his heart.

A recent copy of the Pittsburg Weekly Dispatch contains the obituary notice of Major Henry Beares, who died in Pittsburg, Pa., on Aug. 29 last, in the eightieth year, of his age. The veteran gentleman served with distinction in the war of 1812, and for wounds received during service was pensioned by the government. The Major was the father of our late State Senator, Hon. James Beares, and also of our popular follow-citizen George Beares, Esq.

MORE CONVENTIONS.

"Not many days hence" this city and parish will be all astir with parish nominating Conventions. There are now calls for no less than three different party Conventions to put in nomination three different candidates for each respective office. It is of the utmost importance that caution and circumspection should distinguish the action of the Republican Convention, inasmuch as beyond all doubt the best and most available men will be brought to the front. Through the narrow-mindedness, greed, and illiberality of our political adversaries who fancy they are masters of the situation, little can be hoped for in the way of compromise, and some doubt and uncertainty may follow us to the ballot-box. Having then "no part nor lot" in the counsels, the proposals, nor the successes of such men, we are interested only in knowing the best and the surest way to save this city and parish to the Republican Party, which is really the only party that will and that can administer the affairs of the municipality and parish, for the best interests of the whole people. But our party with its prestige and its qualifications must itself avoid splitting on the rock which has hitherto invariably foundered the Democratic ship.

Our convention must direct its attention towards nominating for judges of the various District Courts men who are not only legally qualified to fill the places, but who also command the respect and the confidence of the bulk of those on whose votes their election depends. For Mayor and Administrators similar painstaking is absolute necessity. The laborers, and the responsibilities of the Administrators of the City affairs have vastly increased and the expansion of the City, the improvements going on, and the constant demand for the display of integrity, industry, and sagacity, demand that our best men should be selected to fill these places. Herculean efforts will be made to obtain control of the City government by the Democracy, and nothing but similar labor on our part can defeat the machinations and the combinations against us. What is true of the principal offices, is also true of the secondary and lesser positions. The Republican party being a unit will find its labors considerably less embarrassed in this work than in its labors in the State affairs, and if it set up to the suggestions and demands of the occasion by a just recognition of the claims, and the qualifications of the representatives of the various elements composing the voters of the Parish of Orleans we entertain no doubt that success will crown our efforts in November.

The Donaldsonville Chief is extraordinarily versatile and jubilant over the winner of the "fastest race on record." This event according to the Chief has settled the question; hear it: "The salvation of Louisiana is due to but one man, and that man the most talented, able and worst abused in the State—Henry Clay Warmoth. His indomitable energy, keen perception and wonderful executive ability have freed us from the yoke of Grantism, and if his wonderful trip from New York to New Orleans in the unprecedented time of 62 hours, by which he triumphed over the enemies of himself and Louisiana, has not excited the admiration of even his worst defamers, and the gratitude of the opponents of Grant and Kellogg, then are we greatly mistaken."

Now friend Bentley are you not just a trifle in advance of events? Are you "freed from the yoke of Grantism," which in reality means the overthrow of Republicanism and the ascendancy of Democracy? Are you not too enthusiastic in this anticipation? We can abide your making the most of whatever there is in Governor Warmoth and the railroad men in collusion, outraging personal liberty and unlawfully imprisoning a rider on their cars. You can chuckle over the sagacity and all that sort of thing, and roar and clap hands over the joke of the season, and we can take "a little of it in ours," but we must demur to your rejoicing under any circumstances at the prospect of Democratic success.

Nast is inevitable. His latest cartoons are immensely satirical. See Harpers Weekly.

MORE HARMONY.

That the Republican party of Louisiana could not elect a single candidate with a division in its ranks, was a fact so plain and so patent that as long as two State tickets remained in the field, no one was visionary enough to look forward to anything but certain defeat in November. It was the attachment to Republican doctrines and the power of this impression that dictated the conferences of the two Republican committees, the compromise on the two State tickets, and the agreement to have one ticket, the consolidation of the two State Central and Parish Committees, and indeed the inauguration of all the measures calculated to secure one party, one set of leaders, and one set of nominees.

In this noble and patriotic work the party leaders have steadily proceeded, and completed on Monday last their last changes. These are in the selection of one Congressman from each of those districts in which two had been nominated. Our State ticket as corrected to-day presents the candidates as selected by the State Central Committee and recommended by them to the support of the Republicans of Louisiana.

It is but just we should say that the majority of the candidates confided their fate to the ballot of the Committee. The only exception to the above rules being Senator Butler, of Plaquemine, who in the interest of harmony and with characteristic magnanimity declined his nomination in favor of J. Hale Sypher.

Acquiescence in the work of the Committee in the cases they dealt with will we believe be soon secured.

CAMPAIGN PARTY.

On Monday afternoon the steamboat Frazer, chartered for the purpose, left this city, having on board Lieutenant Governor P. B. S. Pinchback, Hon. S. B. Packard, Harry Lott, W. B. Phillips, C. W. Lowell, W. B. Barrett, T. De S. Tucker, J. Henri Burch and others, on a canvassing tour through a number of the river-side parishes. An abundant supply of the good things of this life, some wine that "cheers," a fine band and cheerful companions will doubtless enable these gentlemen to while away the time as they are temporarily imprisoned, as they go from one point to another. When they land at any place and hold their meetings nothing but welcome and enthusiasm will be witnessed all around them.

Their first point has been reached and the telegraph has told us of the complete ovation they have received in Baton Rouge, while they have roused and inspired their audience with the forcible eloquence which the speakers are gifted with.

On Wednesday the party arrived at Bayou Sara, having stopped en route at Waterloo. A mass meeting was immediately called and presided over by Mr. S. S. Henderson, "one of the largest planters in Pointe Coupee." Telegraphic news says: "The people came flocking into town early in the morning from all quarters, and all in high, good spirits and almost boisterous in their enthusiasm for the Republican ticket in general, and Kellogg and Antoine in particular."

Governor Pinchback was the first speaker to address the meeting, which he did in a telling and eloquent speech. He was followed by the Hon. J. R. G. Pitkin, who in turn gave way for the Hon. Harry Lott, Dr. Worrall, Judge Phillips and Mr. L. Weber also addressed the attentive audience, and were well received and much applauded. After which the crowd became almost ferocious in its calls for another address from Governor Pinchback, and did not go away until he had satisfied their demand by another fine speech."

The canvassing party left in the evening for Alexandria, where we will follow them in time.

HON. H. M. TURNER, LL. D.—The Savannah Journal gives its readers the following pleasing information, which we cordially transcribe: "Rev. H. M. Turner has been made an LL. D., by one of the leading Universities of Pennsylvania, a testimonial to the ability and eloquence he has displayed in defending his race since the commencement of the late war. This is a high compliment, and one that has seldom been paid in this country to a colored man."

AUDITOR GRAHAM vs. LAW AND COURTS.

We always had a natural sympathy with the oppressed and persecuted, we therefore, feel extremely sorry for the law and the courts, that Mr. Graham is determined, if necessary, to "rot in jail" to defy and defeat. There were times in human history when persecutors of the innocent, and the slayers of the spotless were canonized, and the idea some how struck us that the Auditor's re-election would be equivalent to sainthood, and hence his alacrity to pander to momentary Democratic clamor, and contempt law, judges and courts. Constituting himself, not only a ministerial State officer, but the reviser and resister of judicial decisions and the impudent censor of the legislative departments of the government. Poor Legislature! Poor Law!! and Poor Courts!!! Judge Cooley essayed to vindicate the injured honor of his Court and a telegraphic pardon from a Governor a thousand miles from the State set the Auditor free. Judge Dibble's notions of propriety dictate to him to deny the Governor's right to pardon such contempt and to send the Auditor to jail again, with these instructions:

"It is ordered that the respondent, James Graham, be remanded into the custody of the Sheriff, who is instructed to imprison him in the Parish Jail and there to hold him under the commitment made in this case by the Hon. W. H. Cooley, presiding in this Court, Sep. 13, 1872. The Sheriff will so hold the respondent until the further order of this Court, unless directed to release him by the Supreme Court of the State."

How far this "rotting in jail" is going, or how summary and violent may be the conflict between the Executive and the Judiciary departments of the Government it is impossible to say. Yesterday's papers teem with appeals to Democratic sympathy to sustain the Auditor in his crusade. Of course they do. Have they not been all along denouncing the law-makers, and is it not perfectly consistent for them to denounce and repudiate the binding force of the laws?

COMPLIMENTARY.

The nomination of Hon. J. Henri Burch for the State Senate is a most fitting acknowledgement of the merits of that able representative colored man. As we fought against Mr. Burch while he and ourselves followed opposing leaders, following one standard to-day, and striving for a common victory, henceforth shall our voice and pen be raised to do battle for him. The bitterness with which we assailed him when he was the champion of a faction, shall be compensated by the zeal with which we will advocate his claims, as the standard-bearer of a united party.

The above we elip from the Iberville News, and in return will say to "Charley" and "George" that we willingly clasp hands across the inky chasm, forget the bickerings and misunderstandings of the past, and now that the future is so bright we propose to go hand in hand with our contemporaries in their resolves.

The above is from the Grand Era of September 21st, and the friendliness breathing all through the "compliment" and the acknowledgment of it makes us feel good, and as we think we know friend "Burch," and "Charley," and "George," well enough to offer to make four in the game, suppose we play partners. Joking apart, we are sincerely glad of the cessation of partizan "bickerings and misunderstandings," and no course suits us better than going "hand in hand" to struggle and to triumph.

CHANGE OF BASE.—We copy the following item from a recent copy of the Lafourche Times. Mr. John P. Hartman, one of the proprietors, withdraws from the editorship, and his place is supplied by Mr. M. Keith:

"Our readers will perceive that the LAFOURCHE TIMES places the National Republican and State ticket up as its preference in place of the Liberal ticket, State and National. The reason of this change is in the fact that the senior Proprietor has allowed his columns to be open to the Republicans of the parish and they have never allowed themselves to be drawn out of the National Republican party. And as there is no longer a Liberal ticket for the State the senior proprietor declines to have any thing further to do with the advocacy of doctrines which are a share in themselves. Mr. John P. Hartman is therefore no longer responsible for any article which may appear in the Editorial columns of this paper which will run in the interest of the republican party, state and National."

There have been discovered within a short time near Rio Vista, California, a number of bones of an animal of immense size. The portions in the best state of preservation were the teeth, one of which weighs ten and one-half pounds. The grinding surface is ten inches in length and four inches wide, the tooth measuring 20 inches in circumference at its part, and seven at the point where it is broken from the jaw. The length from grinding surface to the break of the prong is ten inches. The neck bone, one of the vertebrae, is twenty four inches in circumference. The remains were found in adobe formation underneath a stratum of rock four feet thick. The nature of the overlapping rock is not stated.—Ex.

IBERVILLE.

ENTHUSIASTIC MASS MEETINGS.

The town of Plaquemine was all alive on Saturday last with busy preparations for a Republican mass meeting in the Court House in the evening, under the auspices of those "war horses" C. E. Halstead, P. G. Deslonde, and Geo. B. Loud. The news that the services of the United States Band had been secured by Mr. Halstead and would be in attendance infused additional enthusiasm in the people, and early in the day couriers were on the road to "see" if they were coming, but no sign was visible. At 11 o'clock however the sound of music came floating "sweetly down the river," and an indiscriminate rush was immediately made for the river bank. Sure enough there was a steam tug approaching with the "boys in blue." The landing of the boat and the disembarkation of the passengers were soon performed. In addition to the musicians were Lieutenant Payne, U. S. A. and a number of other gentlemen from Baton Rouge who feeling interested came down to see what was going on.

A line of march was soon formed and the party started for the residence of Messrs. Halstead and Loud, inspired on the way by "music by the Band," attracting crowds to the procession, and peering heads out of all the windows along the route.

From this time to evening the neighborhood of their location was literally thronged by listeners to the sweet notes they sent out occasionally. In the meantime there were hourly arrivals from various parts of the parish with the cheering intelligence of numbers preparing to "come to town" by night.

As the "evening shades" prevailed it was evident that the population had been largely increased, and the neighborhood of the Courthouse presented a lively appearance. A number of tables were placed in the court yard, and preparations to dispense cake and cream and the multitude of et cetera that are in demand at public gatherings, were actively going on. When the hour of meeting arrived, the Courthouse was literally packed, and still hosts were outside. Interest and enthusiasm were on tiptoe. We had the gratification of being present on the occasion, and took our notes of the speakers and their subjects, but by one of those teasing accidents, they are "among the missing" and our memory protests against any tax, to supply the loss. The meeting was called to order by C. E. Halstead, Esq., who briefly stated its objects. Temporary and permanent organization were soon effected, with Hon. P. G. Deslonde, for President, and Geo. Loud, Esq., Secretary.

The first Speaker was Wm. G. Brown, the Republican candidate for Superintendent of Education. But what he said and how he said it, "we ain't a going to tell." Then followed W. B. Barrett who entertained his audience for over an hour with a good, honest intellectual speech, during the delivery of which he was repeatedly interrupted with cheers.

H. Williams Esq., of Baton Rouge then delivered a telling address. Several other gentlemen whose names we regret to have forgotten, spoke at great length, and with evident effect. Nothing occurred to mar the good feeling between the Republicans, while every indication points to Republican harmony and promises success in the pending struggle. The meeting continued till about 11 1/2 p. m. when it dispersed amid great enthusiasm, and after cheering Grant, Wilson, and the State Ticket.

CORRESPONDENCE.

DEAR EDITOR LOUISIANIAN.—I was made to rejoice in reading in your issue of the 14th ult., under the head of "Cane Presentation," the name of my devoted friend and pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Dardis, which came was presented him as a token of "friendship and admiration." I have found in Rev. Geo. Dardis a true, constant and sincere friend, tried and proven. I can say with confidence, from what I have seen in him that he is worthy of the present and his tokens. I am happy to congratulate my worthy christian friend, and Sister Fredonia Gant] on her presenting to our worthy Pastor "the cane" in behalf of the ladies of "Union Chapel." I am thrice joyous of the friendship existing between the church I so much love and its beloved Pastor, but one thing I am sorry about is that I was not present on the occasion. I have served under Brother Dardis in the Superintendency of Sunday School, Secretary, and Conductor of Sacred Music, but to say that a better minister to serve under is hard to find, is but faint praise. The "adversary" tried to make me say otherwise, but I knew him by his "cloven foot," and thus I was not beguiled.

Long live Rev. Dardis, family and flock. Your friend, ARNOLD P. ALBERT, Cave Springs, Ga., Sept. 19, 1872.

PRETTY WOMEN.

After all, is the world so very absurd in its love of pretty women? Is woman so very ridiculous in her chase after beauty? Her aim from very childhood is to be beautiful. Even as a school girl she notes the progress of her charms, the deepening color of her hair, the growing symmetry of her arm, the ripening contour of her cheek. We watch with silent interest, the mysterious reveries of the maiden; she is dreaming of a coming beauty, and panting for the glories of eighteen. In-sensibly, she becomes an artist, her room is a studio, her class an academy. The joy of her toilet is the joy of Raphael over his canvass, of Michael Angelo over his marble. She is creating beauty in the silence and the loneliness of her chamber; she grows like any art creation, the result of patience, of hope, of a thousand delicate touchings and retouchings. Woman is never perfect, never complete. A restless night undoes the beauty of the day; sunshine blurs the evanescent coloring of her cheek; frost nips the tender outline of her face into sudden harshness. Care plows its lines across the brow; motherhood destroys the elastic lightness of her form; the bloom of her cheek, the quick flash of her eye, fade and vanish as the years go by. But woman is still true to her ideal. She won't know when she is beaten, and she manages to steal fresh victories even in her defeat. She invents new conceptions of womanly grace; she rallies at forty, and fronts us with the beauty of womanhood; she makes a last stand at sixty, with the beauty of age. She falls, like Caesar, wrapping her mantle round her,—"buried in woolen" 't would a saint provoke!" Death listens pitifully to the longings of a life-time, and the wrinkled face smiles with something of the prettiness of eighteen.—Saturday Review.

SCRIPTURAL MOTTO.—The members of a certain Bible-class in Baltimore were recently studying St. Paul's matchless rules for Christian living in Romans xii. The question was asked by the superintendent:

"What motto is to be adopted when strangers are to be entertained?"

The correct answer, of course, is, "Given to hospitality;" but one young lady held the opinion that it should be "Patient in tribulation."
