

THE DEMOCRACY AND CIVIL RIGHTS IN 1872.

The National Democratic Convention at Baltimore, in 1872, adopted the following resolution:

"We recognize the equality of all men before the law, and hold that it is the duty of the Government to maintain with the people the same equal and exact justice to all, of whatever race, color, or persuasion, religious or political."

In Horace Greeley's letter of July 18, 1872, accepting the democratic nomination for President, he said:

"Gentlemen, your platform, which is also mine, assures me that Democracy is not honorless to stand for one thing and Republicanism for another, but that those terms are to mean in politics as they always have meant in the dictionary, substantially one and the same thing—namely, equal rights, regardless of creed, or clime, or color. I had this as a genuine new departure from out-worn feuds and sectional contentions in the direction of progress and reform."

The Democracy of Tennessee on May 9, 1872, adopted the following, among other "cardinal points" of their faith:

"The equality of all men before the law, and equal participation of all citizens in the rights and benefits of the government."

The Democratic nominees for the Presidency, a few weeks before he was nominated at Cincinnati and Baltimore, made a speech at Poughkeepsie, New York, to a convention of colored men, in which he said:

"I trust the day is not far distant when the common rights to any public conveyance, and in public meetings and institutions will be recognized as they were not recognized of old, and as they are but imperfectly recognized still. I hope the time will come when our educational institutions and seminaries will be open to men of all races, with a freedom and hospitality which has never yet been enjoyed."

In the New York Tribune, of January 16, 1872, Horace Greeley, in reply to a question from a Lynchburg editor, said:

"We have already assured the Virginian that the editor of this journal went to the same school with black children, not for a few days, but for three winters; sat on the same bench, and recited in the same classes with them, and received no possible damage therefrom. Why not take notice of this assurance? And we know of no rural school district in New England from whose school colored children are excluded."

A VETERAN'S TREASURED MUSKET.

[From the Rochester Democrat.] A remarkable looking old gentleman; and he sat in the waiting-room of the Central depot with an old-fashioned gun across his knees. To one who passed him by, in a casual way, he seemed to be a hunter, on his way to some wood or field where game was to be found. But he who carried a moment learned that the old gentleman was one whom the nation had honored for his assistance in its time of need. On the stock of the old gun was a plate bearing the words:

By resolve of Congress, Presented to AMOS SOPER, For his gallantry at the siege of Plattsburg.

The inscription told the story. The old man was seventy-six. He says that twenty young fellows, only two of whom were over eighteen; formed themselves together and offered their services to the United States general in command at Plattsburg. They were supplied with old muskets, and on the 11th of September, 1814, in the simple language of the old man, they "did the best they could." His work was done so well that on the 13th of September, 1815, the musket, with the above inscription, was given him as a tribute of the nation's esteem.

PROSPECTUS OF THE LOUISIANIAN.

was established to meet a necessity that has long, and sometimes, painfully been felt to exist. It was proposed through this Journal to furnish to OUR PEOPLE the information—guidance—encouragement and counsel which they so much needed in the transition from their former unfortunate condition into the new and better estate of American citizenship.

In resuming its publication, we re-assure our readers and friends, that, holding this journal true to its original aims, we shall honestly labor to make it an efficient agent in furthering the interests of the colored people of the Nation, and elevating the race that it especially represents.

POLICY.

As our motto indicates, the LOUISIANIAN shall be "Republican at all times and under all circumstances." We shall advocate the security and enjoyment of broad civil liberty, the absolute equality of all men before the law, and an impartial distribution of honor and patronage to all who merit them.

Desirous of allaying animosities, of obliterating the memory of the bitter past, of promoting harmony and union among all classes and between all interests, we shall advocate the removal of all disabilities, foster kindness and forbearance, where malignity and resentment reigned, and seek for fairness and justice where wrong and oppression prevailed. Thus united in our aims and objects, we shall conserve our best interests, and elevate our noble State, to an enviable position among her sister States, by the development of her illimitable resources, and secure the full benefits of the mighty changes in the history and condition of the people and of the country.

Believing that there can be no true liberty without the supremacy of law, we shall urge a strict and undiscriminating administration of justice.

TAXATION.

We shall support the doctrine of an equitable division of taxation among all classes, a faithful collection of the revenues, economy in the expenditures, conformably with the exigencies of the State or country and the discharge of every legitimate obligation.

EDUCATION.

We shall sustain the carrying out of the provisions of the act establishing our common school system, and urge as a paramount duty the education of our youth, as vitally connected with their own enlightenment and the security and stability of a Republican Government.

FINAL.

By a generous, manly, independent, and judicious course, we shall strive to rescue our paper, from an ephemeral, and temporary existence, and establish it upon a basis, that if we cannot "command," we shall at all events "deserve" success.

PROSPECTUS.

THE REPUBLIC.

The REPUBLIC, now entering upon its second year, has been favorably received by the earnest friends of just and energetic governmental and economic progress.

In the future, as in the past, the REPUBLIC will discuss with candor and with such ability as it can command the present and practical questions affecting the material, intellectual, and moral progress and well-being of the nation, the States, and people. It will record with fidelity the action of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Government which may be of national importance or of general application. It will do what may be done, within its sphere, to inform the people and improve the Government.

The REPUBLIC holds that, as this is a Government of and for the people, the people should be thoroughly informed of its action and purposes, and that the Government should be equally well advised as to the opinions and progress of the people; that the obligations of both are mutual; and that it is the duty of each and all to promote this common knowledge, advance these common interests, and enforce these common obligations. To these ends THE REPUBLIC will work faithfully and constantly, and it earnestly invites the cordial co-operation of every citizen in this essential labor.

Special attention will be given to important Departmental and Judicial decisions, and valuable and novel inventions will be duly noticed. The REPUBLIC, a monthly magazine, published at Washington, D. C., and containing sixty-four pages of matter, exclusive of advertisements or appendix, will be supplied to single subscribers, subject to postage, at $2 per year, or six copies for $10. Where postage is paid by the publishers, 25 cents will be added to the price of each yearly subscription. Remittances should be made by postal money order or registered letter. The REPUBLIC, for 1874, will be furnished at the regular subscription price of $2 per year, in magazine form, or at $2.50 in a bound volume, with Index.

Any person sending five subscribers and $10, may send for setting up the club, either on a subscription for the current year, or on a subscription for 1874. Sample copies forwarded on receipt of ten cents.

WAVERLEY MAGAZINE.

For Family Instruction and Amusement.

EDITED BY MOSES A. DOW.

Office, Waverley Publishing House; ORDER BOX 41 COURT STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

This paper is the largest weekly ever published in this country. Its contents are such as will be approved in the most sedulous circles, nothing immoral being admitted into its pages. It will furnish as much reading matter as almost any one can find time to peruse, consisting of TALES, HISTORY, BIOGRAPHY, Music and Poetry,

The paper contains no ultra sentiments, and meddles with neither politics nor religion, but is characterized by a high moral tone. It circulates all over the country, from Maine to California.

Terms—Always in Advance.

One copy for 12 months, $6 00. One copy for 6 months, $3 00. One copy for 3 months, $1 50.

Postmasters and dealers may take subscriptions at the above, and deduct twenty-five per cent.

Subscribers in the Provinces, the same.

A new volume commences every January and July; but if a person commences at any number in the volume and pays for six months, he will have a complete book, with a title-page.

When a subscriber orders a renewal of his subscription, he should tell us what was the last number he received; then we shall know what number to begin at without hunting over our books. Otherwise we shall begin when the money is received.

Monthly price, $7 a year, in all cases. We will send one copy of the weekly WAVERLEY MAGAZINE and either "Lady's Gazette of Fashion," "Atlantic Monthly," "Harper's Magazine," "Weekly," or "Dazar," or "Godey's Lady's Book," one year.

All letters concerning the paper must be addressed to the publisher. We make no discount on clubs.

The Way to Subscribe.—The proper way to subscribe for a paper is to inclose a money-order in a letter, and address the publisher direct, giving individual name, with the post office, county, and State very plainly written as per marks are often illegible. We take no risk of the mails.
