We have received from Prof. J. C. Corbin, the catalogue and circular of the Branch Normal College of the Arkansas Industrial University located at Pine Bluff, Ark., for which we return thanks with the hope that under so able a management, its influence may be felt, and felt for good.

The Public Schools.

The public schools, from report, are likely to be closed for lack of funds, the remaining two months of the year. We can imagine, ordinarily, no greater harm which could befall this community. The some of the teachers who see in such an event privations, if not gaunt starvation staring them frightfully in the face, this news is as unwelcome, as it is discreditable to the public spirit of this city. It is just possible that the city finances, notwithstanding the fine Democratic theories of retrenchment and reform, are in a sickly, namby-gamby state, and cannot justify the budget in keeping the schools open continuously throughout the scholastic year; it may be most of the tax payers who belong to the party of "We the people" have too limited a confidence in their city government to entrust it with too much money at a time even for the education of children; it may even be a fact that just at this happy period when a wave of prosperity has begun to surge on to our shores which have for these many years parched up by the drought of hard times, New Orleans has so reached the bottom of the bucket that she is unable to feed her children intellectually—perhaps all this and much more accounts for the purpose suspension of the schools. But we are tempted to believe, we hope mistakenly, that the cause is nowhere within the range of the possibilities we have just mentioned. Under the Republicans who were charged by their party opponents with a steady misuse of the school funds, our schools were never closed; under the present regime, if closed, the act will have to be accounted for in some extraordinary necessity. What then is the pressure of the times which can dare embolden a municipality to turn out its educable youth for two months to ramble the streets and there get an education which at the least generally confers its diploma in the penitentiary? Looking over the whole situation with an unbiased mind, with the scrupulous desire not to do injustice even to political enemies we are forced to conclude that if the schools are closed, it is because the money is sunk in and prostituted to political purposes.

As we have above intimated, we sincerely hope we are mistaken in this; but there is little or no room left for any other reasonable conjecture. The fierce contending fight of factions between the adherents of Ogden and the supporters of Gov. Wiltz among the latter of which is the municipal government can furnish a powerful temptation to bring the strong box of the city to the aid of officials who are of opinion should they be beaten in this contest, they might fall to rise no more. We care not who turns top up, but we do care about the interrupted course of the schools. Whatever interest suffers, let the "knowledge boxes" remain to grow fat in wisdom. We write and feel with warmth on this matter; for outside of all other considerations, our people are earnestly interested in the continued maintenance of the public schools. This is the foundation on which we build nearly our all for the future. With it and time we can duly silence the batteries of those whose most congenial pastime is to asperse our race and pronounce us "no good." Democrats can fight and decimate each other as long as they may—that is none of our business, but in the name of humanity let the contents of the school fund be deemed consecrated and devoted to the uninterrupted working of the public schools.

Eyrich sends us a copy of the "Earl of Mayfield" elegantly bound. The opening scenes are laid in the South. The price is $1.50. We shall take occasion to notice the work another time and at length.

Hon. J. Henri Burch has arrived. He has been in the Ohio canvass and predicts the election of Foster and the Republican ticket by a handsome majority.

Postmaster McMillan has returned.

Gen Grant.

The hearty orations thus far tendered Gen. Grant on his return home from wandering in foreign lands must be as pleasing to him as they do credit to the heart of the American people. The proverbial ingratitude of republics has for once found an exception in the sincere greetings of welcome to the hero who gave his country a second and renewed existence. The mistakes and blunders of his two administrations for which he was at times criticised with unbecoming bitterness by his open political foes and insidious partisans within his own party are all happily forgotten and only the worth of the great man to great occasions true is recalled and chanted to the enlivening strains of "Hail to the Chief." Gen. Grant has returned home to be idolized at a time when the unwisdom of the Democratic party in the extra session has caused the sentiment of patriotism to revive and burn with redoubled fierceness. Revered and esteemed as is the President by those who stood true to their country in the day of her dire extremity, their affection would not perhaps well over for him had he been gone never so long, if it were not that, in view of impending danger from the political heresies of the Democracy which, if successful, would fritter away the substantial results of the war, they associate him in mind with a rescued Nation. Whatever the future may have in store for Gen. Grant, be it to enjoy in private retreat a life of domestic ease accompanied with the nudiating admiration of his countrymen, or be it to enter again on the troubled seas of statesmanship to lead to a haven of safety the healthy principles evolved out of the late civil struggle, we wish him unbounded happiness and success unmarred by the errors of inexperience in the past.

A CARD.

DELTA, La. Sept. 30th, 1879.

There was a letter written by some nincompoop of this parish over the signature of "Aosta," and appeared in the New Orleans Observer on the 18th inst., which sought to misrepresent myself, and the correspondent "New Guard" of the Observer. Now then, as the tenor of "Aosta's" letter, in other words a combination of infamous lies, however, was intended as a blow at myself, and written through a spirit of jealousy, envy, malice, etc., I had "New Guard" to reply to it on the 16th inst., but the answer has been suppressed through the intervention of some cowardly friend, who, by a forged telegram to the Observer, using "New Guards" signature, and advising that "New Guards" reply be not published, that all differences had been amicably settled. Now, to set myself right in the premises, and lest some of my friends should be misled, I take this method, in justice to myself, to inform the public, that the letter, which was referred to by "Aosta" of the 13th inst., and written by "New Guard" on 18th ult., contained nothing more nor less than facts, from beginning to end, and if "Aosta," or any one else says that such is not true, they simply lie, and so far as "Aosta" is concerned, he has proven himself by that letter, to be the "climax" liar of the period. And for his benefit, I care not who he be, if he takes offence at this refutation and desires satisfaction, he is at liberty to designate time, place, and manner, and there, as all honorable men should, get his full satisfaction.

Very Truly Yours, M. G. BORE.

The Grant boom is rapidly spreading throughout the West. The ovation extended to him in San Francisco is said to have been unequalled in the annals of grand celebrations in this Country.

The name of Hon. Taylor Beattie is being mentioned for the Republican nomination of Governor, with no perceptible opposition. Our candidates for Lieut. Governors are as numerous as they are N. G.

Republican Prospects.

The New Constitution.

DELTA, La. Sept. 29th, 1879.

Each number of your valuable paper seems more interesting and carries with it decided marks of improvement, editorially and in general make up and appearance. The LOUISIANIAN is more than ever welcome to your readers in this parish. The political cauldron is boiling in old Madison and all the small fry of the party have risen to the surface. Professional politicians and chronic office seekers are unusually busy hunting the soft paying places under the proposed new constitution. No'es are being compared and slates made up and there is a general buzz and bustle among the little politicians, every one counting that one more election will lift him a step or two higher on ladder of fame. Our parish Nominating Republican Convention will assemble in Delta on the 7th proximo and each aspirant to office has already brunched up his steel for the contest and patiently awaits the day of his triumph or defeat.

There all important issue in this canvass with the Republicans of this parish is the adoption or rejection of the new Constitution. The canvass opened with a mass meeting at the Hecla Church in this parish on the 23d day of August, and the campaign has been vigorously prosecuted. Mr. M. G. Bore a delegate to the Constitutional Convention champions the cause of the new Constitution and Mr. Philip Joseph as determinedly opposes it. Although opposed by every candidate and leading Republican in the parish Mr. Joseph has succeeded in solidifying the masses of the party in opposition to the new Democratic Constitution. Your correspondent will venture the assertion that the approaching Parish Convention will pass resolutions rejecting the new Constitution and Madison parish will on election day vote solidly against it, thus crowning the efforts of Mr. Joseph who is the only Republican actively and openly fighting the new Constitution with ultimate success.

SWAN.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE 7th SENATORIAL AND 26th JUDICIAL DISTRICT CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Court House, Parish St. John the Baptist, September 27, 1879.

At the hour appointed Hon. C. A. Bourgeois, of St. Charles, the President of the District Executive Committee, mounted the rostrum and called the convention to order. The convention concluded the temporary organization by electing Mr. J. C. Bauman, of Jefferson, temporary secretary.

A committee on credentials was appointed which reported the following named gentlemen entitled to seats in the convention, to-wit: Jefferson—Wm. King, Edward Roben, G. W. Wilson, J. C. Bauman, Gilbert Miller and John Brown.

St. Charles—C. A. Bourgeois, C. Colly, M. Bennett, Pierre Darenbourg, George Essex and Edward Dancan.

St. John—Henry Demas, John Webre, Richard Gordon, James Cole, T. Voisen and Wm. Hill.

The report was adopted by a unanimous vote. The convention then permanently organized by electing Hon. Henry Demas permanent president and Mr. J. C. Bauman permanent secretary.

Nominations for State Senator being in order, accompanied with an eloquent address, Hon. C. A. Bourgeois, of St. Charles, nominated Hon. Henry Demas, of St. John.

On motion, duly seconded, it was resolved that the nomination of Hon. Henry Demas for the State Senate, from the 7th Senatorial District, be made by acclamation. Amid deafening cheers, and while the Demas Brass Band played "Hail the Chief," Hon. Henry Demas was announced the nominee of the convention.

On motion, duly seconded, the convention took a recess of fifteen minutes.

The time having expired the convention was again called to order by the president.

The secretary having withdrawn, the convention declared his seat vacant.

Hon. C. A. Bourgeois nominated A. P. Albert, of St. Charles, to fill the vacancy.

The election was made by acclamation.

The chair announced nominations for District Judge to be in order.

Mr. E-sex, of St. Charles, obtained the floor, and in an eloquent manner submitted the name of ex-Gov. Hahn, of St. Charles.

Mr. Colby, of St. Charles, in a flowery speech, seconded the nomination.

Mr. Cole, of St. John, in very complimentary terms, nominated Mr. Gervais Loche, of St. John.

On motion of Mr. Bourgeois, the nominations were closed.

Mr. Bourgeois moved that a majority of the votes cast elect. Adopted.

The vote stood—Hahn, 7; Loche, 5.

On motion, duly seconded, amid rousing cheers, and while the band played "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye," the nomination was made unanimous, and the Governor was declared the choice of the convention for District Judge of the 26th judicial district.

Nominations for District Attorney being in order Messrs. Gervais Loche, of St. John, and H. F. Sewell, of St. Charles, were placed in nomination.

The vote stood—Loche, 11; Sewell, 1.

On motion, duly seconded, the nomination was made unanimous, and Mr. Loche was declared the nominee of the convention for the District Attorney of the 26th judicial district.

Mr. Bourgeois moved that the chair appoint five members of the party from each of the parishes constituting the 7th Senatorial and 26th Judicial District, to compose a District Executive Committee.

Mr. Voisen moved to amend the motion to make the president and the secretary of the convention ex officio president and secretary of the committee respectively.

The amendment and the original motion were both adopted.

Mr. Bourgeois moved that the chair appoint a District Campaign Committee of seven members. Adopted.

Speeches were made by ex-Gov. Hahn, nominee for District Judge, Hon. Henry Demas, the nominee by acclamation for the State Senate and the accomplished lawyer and gentleman, Mr. J. A. Duvigneaud.

The convention adjourned sine die after which the delegates partook of a sumptuous repast tendered them by Senator Demas.

A true copy: A. P. ALBERT, Secretary 7th Senatorial and 26th Judicial District Convention.

Among the many candidates for political place subject to the nomination of the Republican convention in Iberville parish, is Mr. Chas. H. Gordon, who has for four years been the efficient and courteous clerk of the parish court. Mr. Gordon is a young man, modest and unassuming in his manners, but withal a genial and whole-souled gentleman. The colored people need just such young men—those who combine honesty with education to represent them in public office.

Mr. Gordon declined a nomination in 1872 in favor of Mr. Durand, was nominated in 1876 and elected. The Republicans of Iberville, without any disparagement to other candidates, ought to re-elect him at the coming election. His standing with the members of the bar, his interest in the parish as a landed proprietor, and his general fitness for the position he seeks, are enough in our judgment to make his candidacy not only available but absolutely necessary.
