REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.
—AND—
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.

REORGANIZATION OF THE PARTY.

A NEW STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

The Republican State Convention of Louisiana was called to order at 12 m. by Chairman Dumont of the State Central Committee, May 24, 1880, who announced that it had assembled in answer to the call of said committee issued on the 15th of March, 1880.

The chairman ordered the secretary to call the roll.

Delegate Allain, of Iberville parish, rose to a point of order, to-wit: That according to all rule and precedents there should have been a meeting of the State Central Committee convened by its chairman to prepare a roll.

The delegate thereupon moved that as the committee had not met it be called together before further proceedings.

Chairman Dumont replied that a roll had been prepared and ordered the secretary to read the call.

The instructions when delegate Beattie, of Lafourche, took the floor, declared that he did not recognize the man in the chair, who was himself a delegate, whose right to seat was contested, and thereupon moved the nomination of delegate Demas, of St. John, as temporary chairman, which vote was carried by a large majority.

Chairman Demas approached and mounted the platform.

Dumont refused to yield the chair and persistently ordered the secretary to read the call.

Demas declared he would be heard, and he put forth his best efforts in that direction, but without effect, as Dumont's club still continued to rise and fall, and the delegates still continued to yell and groan.

Pinchback at last appealed to Demas to allow the reading of the call to be proceeded with, saying, "Demas, that's all right, let the call be read."

Demas responded, "I know it, and that is what I wanted to say to the convention."

After a reading of the call, the roll prepared by Dumont was then read by the secretary of the committee who was frequently interrupted by objection from delegates who had been elected and whose names were omitted from the roll prepared by Dumont.

Vigers announced 163 delegates present.

Immediately upon reading the last enrolled name, while numerous delegates were endeavoring to file contests and protests against the roll, delegate Leonard, of Caddo, moved the election of delegate Dumont whose seat was contested, and delegate Allain, of Iberville, nominated Henry Demas, of St. John, whereupon Mr. Dumont declared nominations closed.

Confusion arising Mr. Vigers, notwithstanding there were two persons in nomination, arbitrarily and without a vote, declared Mr. Dumont elected temporary chairman, whereupon the legally elected temporary chairman advanced to the platform, where Dumont, armed with a heavy bludgeon, and backed by numerous desperate retainers in Federal employ (neither delegates nor contestants), and others who had been admitted to the hall by Dumont, Chairman Demas was repeatedly hurled with violence from the platform; and, finding that he could not get possession of the platform without bloodshed, mounted a chair, called the convention to order, which, upon motion adjourned to another room in the same building where the temporary organization was completed by the election of delegate Drury, of Assumption, as temporary secretary, and H. C. C. Astwood, F. Berhel, assistants.

Chairman Demas ordered a call of the roll as prepared by Dumont when the following 115 delegates answered to their names, not including the contestants from the parish of Orleans:

After the chair announced that thirty-six parishes and twelve delegates out of 185, according to the roll of the Customhouse men themselves.

On motion of delegate Martinet, of St. Martin, a committee of fifteen on credentials was appointed, as follows:

L. A. Martinet, Phil Roberson, A. A. Maurice, M. A. Ledet, W. B. Morehant, Ed. Butler, O. P. Fernandez, Wm. Roy, Gov. Hawkins.

On motion of delegate Allain, of Iberville, the following committee on permanent organization was also appointed:

T. T. Allain, C. B. Darrall, Fred Burns, T. C. C. Cage, A. J. Berhel, John Cayolle, J. B. Gaudet.

On motion of delegate Pitkin the following committee on resolutions was next appointed: J. R. G. Pitkin, P. B. S. Pinchback, J. S. Davidson, M. Hahn, J. B. Beckwith, C. B. Darrall, F. R. Barthelemy, T. T. Allain, J. Brookshire.

T. T. Allain now offered a resolution indorsing Gen. Grant as the candidate of the Republican party for the Presidency. Referred to the committee on resolutions.

At 8 o'clock p. m. the committee on credentials made their report. The Iberville contesting delegation had previously withdrawn all opposition in the interest of harmony. Chas. Bourgeois, on the part of the contestants, claimed that the committee had not even given him a hearing.

After an explanation by the chairman of the committee the report was adopted.

Delegate Allain moved that a committee be appointed to conduct chairman Beattie to the chair.

Senator Demas in introducing Judge Beattie took occasion to make a speech, in which he said that Judge Beattie was a man who had a public record superior almost to any man since the reorganization of the Republican party. That he was a Republican not for what he could get, but because it was the party of the people; that he had remained a Republican notwithstanding great troubles and threats. He referred in no complimentary terms to the mob that was meeting "down stairs." He thought that, even including the Customhouse employes, there were not five men in the party who were not Grant men. He said that it was a disgrace to have in the party men such as there were "down there;" such men are sent to the Parish Prison nearly every day. Those are the men, he said, who knock you down or thrust a dagger in your side when you wish to assert your rights.

Judge Beattie then addressed the convention. After tendering his thanks he assured the convention that whatever his rulings might be they would have only one object—the success of the Republican party; he had no ax to grind and no favorites; he wanted the success of Grant and harmony in the party. This morning he had hoped they would be in a convention of the whole Republican party, but they were unable to do so by a packed mob, the Republican party was for Grant. He referred to the conference and its failure—a failure at which he was not surprised, after what he had seen. He urged the maintenance of the organization of the party—adding: "We know that the gentlemen down stairs represent only an infinitesimal portion of the party." Referring to the occurrences of the day he said that this was not a split, and he hoped that the action of the members was not for the purpose of getting office, which was the object of the corrupt ring. He spoke then of opening the doors of the party and a fair counting of the votes. He hoped the same rat in which the party had been running would not be kept, for if it were many years of trouble might be expected. Today's manifestation, however, showed a determination to get out of it.

NINE-TENTHS OF THE DEMOCRATS in South Louisiana are with us," he said, if the true principles of the party are shown. He predicted the eventual success of the Republican party in the State, and said that the next time they met they would find many of the best men in the State sitting by their sides. It was only the fools and knaves of the opposite party who sought to convey the impression that a third term meant to make Grant emperor. He was wanted to give the people a good government. He (Judge Beattie) for one, would not give Grant his vote if he thought there was any intention in electing him to destroy our republican institutions, but would meet and resist him with arms in his hands if necessary. Grant's determination would carry out the laws laid down by the Supreme Court of the United States and secure their rights to the people—that's what the third term means. To carry out the principles of the Democratic party meant the loss of property and of individual rights.

A short discussion arising as to the method of selecting delegates
