LENTEN REGULATIONS.

Bishop Richter's Official Letter to His Diocese.

The official letter of the Rt. Rev. Joseph Richter, Roman Catholic, to his brother priests in the faith, is in its full text as follows:

"The Rev. Dear Father: On account of the sickness, commonly called 'influenza,' prevailing in nearly every part of our diocese, and anxious for the health of both the body and the soul of his spiritual children, he has granted to the archbishops, bishops and ordinaries of all places where the above named sickness exists, dispensation from the law of fast and abstinence. From the date of this special faculty we dispense all the faithful of this diocese from fast on all the days of Lent except the Ember days and Good Friday; and from abstinence on all the days of Lent except the Ember days and Fridays.

"It is the wish of our holy father that the dispensation from fast and abstinence stimulate the faithful to greater zeal in works of piety and charity, in order that, his anger being appeased, God withdraw his scourging hand from the people.

"We recommend the soul of the late perfect of the propaganda, Cardinal Simeoni, to your prayers and to the prayers of your congregation. By prayer, in a measure, cancel the debt of gratitude for his truly paternal solicitude during many years of the welfare of the church in the United States.

"On the first Sunday in Lent the collections will be for the Indian and negro missions. The importance of these collections may be learned from the third pastoral letter of the second plenary council of Baltimore, which refers to the subject in these terms:

"In nearly all European countries there are foreign mission colleges, and also associations of the faithful for the support of the missions by their contributions. Hitherto we have had to strain every nerve in order to carry on the missions of our own country, and we were unable to take any important part in aiding the missions abroad. But we must be more zealous in our local efforts, and make a more liberal contribution to the support of the missions in foreign lands to whom the light of the Gospel has not been carried, and their condition appeals to the charity of every Christian heart. Among our special Indian tribes, for whom we have a special responsibility there are still many thousands in the same darkness of heathenism, and the mission among our thousands of Catholic Indians must equally look to our charity for support. Moreover, out of the 6,000,000 of our colored population there is a very large multitude who stand sorely in need of Christian instruction and missionary labor; and it is evident that in the poor diocese, in which they are mostly found, it is most difficult to bestow on them the care they need, without the generous co-operation of our Catholic people in more prosperous localities. We have therefore urged the establishment of the society for the propagation of the faith in every parish in which it is not yet erected, and also ordered a collection to be made yearly in all the dioceses. For foreign missions and for the missions among our Indians and negroes. We have done this through a deep sense of duty, and we trust that our people hearted people will not regard it as a burden imposed upon them, but as an opportunity presented to them of co-operating in a work which must be especially dear to the heart of our Lord.

"The offerings at the Cross of Good Friday are for the Holy Land. 'You will please read this letter to your congregation and missions today. Your faithful servant in Christ, 'BISHOP JOSEPH, 'Bishop of Grand Rapids.'

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Occasioned by a Sale on Monroe Street.

Spring & Company Delegates to Sell the Thirty Three and Dollar Stock of Vosses Bros.

Would you like to see excitement? Would you like to mix in the busy throng? Go into the vortex of the busy marts of life, and see not one, but hundreds struggling for the supremacy, the great ultimatum, viz: to be able to get to the counter of Spring & Company's, in order to obtain some of the advantages of the great sale now going on at that Emporium of Western Michigan. There never was nor ever will be a better opportunity—for the purchase of goods. This immense store, one of the largest in the state, filled to overflowing, is a scene well worth looking at, and one to be well remembered by the citizens of Grand Rapids and the surrounding country. It seems that the Vosses Brothers had, in anticipation of the spring trade, laid in a large stock of goods, mostly before their failure, and this complete stock has been turned over to Spring & Company for sale. The stock by examination is found to be complete in all lines usually carried by first class dry goods houses, and thus is thrown upon the market in a bankrupt sale, the very latest of spring goods.

In the line of shawls, blouses, cottons, underwear, cloaks, hosiery and dress trimmings, the stock is complete, and the latest that could be obtained by the bankrupt firm, chosen especially for their spring trade. Surely, never was there a better opportunity to get bargains than now. That the sale is bonafide is without question, the very names of Spring & Company are a guarantee for that. A firm known not only in Grand Rapids, but over the whole state of Michigan, as one of the firms second to none in integrity and fair dealing. The name of Spring & Co., is a household word, and a sale under their auspices cannot help but be as represented. Never before in the history of the city have the people had such a chance for bargains, and they will be astonished at the marvellously low prices at which all dress goods, suitings, silks, and in fact all articles embraced in this sale will be sold at.

Mr. Spring, on being interviewed, says this immense stock cannot be sold off in a day, but the sale will continue until the entire stock is sold out, and will probably last until April 1, by which time everything must be sold, and the firm known as Vosses Bros. would disappear. The store yesterday had the appearance of a carnival, or an exposition. Although many changes had to be made, order reigned supreme, and yesterday the store was a vast mart, reminding one of a gala day for the ladies more than a special sale.

Mr. Spring, ever the genial gentleman, looked on with complacency as he saw the gathering throng, and his only anxiety was to see that his corps of well-trained clerks, experts in their business, were able to handle and wait on the visitors and patrons of the store. This will not be for today, but for many a day until the entire stock is disposed of. Should the crush continue, the time will be short, for the largest of stocks could not help but melt away before the anxious buyers, the multitudes daily visiting the store. The crowd became so great last evening that Mr. Spring was forced to close both entrances, and simply requested those outside still desiring admittance to return home and "come again tomorrow," assuring them in the mean time that this is not one day or two days' sale, these prices will continue until everything has been disposed of. So do not crush or crowd. If you can not be waited on the first day, you can come again. From 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 at night the doors will be open, and the employees willing and anxious to take your orders.
