Promised Editor Featherly If He Fails to Skip

OUT AND LEAVE THE TOWN

An Sable Citizens Grow Indignant and Threaten Dire Vengeance on the Offending Newspaper Man.

Oscoda, Mich., April 7.—For some time past Editor Featherly has been stirring up the good people of this burg in a way that calculated to bring things to a white heat, one way or the other.

At a meeting of the citizens of An Sable, held last evening, the committee on resolutions handed in the following report and recommended its adoption:

Whereas, A newspaper is in existence in our midst by the name of the Lake Side Monitor, edited by one Wesley M. Featherly, and

Whereas, In the issue of said paper the editor has grossly insinuated and defamed the names and characters of many of our good citizens, and

Whereas, The citizens have become very indignant regarding the same, we, the committee appointed by this meeting, do recommend that immediate action be taken at once, and that it be

Resolved, That we give the said W. H. Featherly due notice to leave this city and county inside of ten days, and that it be further

Resolved, That should he not obey said notice that we proceed to deal with him as he should be dealt with, viz.: That he be taken and marched through our streets to the outskirts of the city and then tarred and feathered from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet; and it be further

Resolved, That the paper now known as the Lake Side Monitor must, if published in the future by any other person or persons, be given another name. All of which we humbly submit for your approval.

SHE CHEWED TOBACCO. The Contentant's Side of the Palmer Will Case.

JACKSON, Mich., April 7.—In opening the Palmer will case here yesterday, T. E. Harkworth spoke for about an hour. He said the principal point the contestant would endeavor to show was that Mrs. Palmer was not of sound mind. He should not claim she was crazy, but that she was so broken in health that she could not exercise her faculties and that her daughter, Mrs. Campbell, controlled her fully, both by fear and other influences. A testator must have, he said, sufficient will power to do as he pleased in drawing any document. This, he should prove. Mrs. Palmer had not. Technically she may have had mind enough, but she did not exercise it. The will, he should show by proofs, was not that of Mrs. Palmer, but of her daughter, Mrs. John D. Campbell, the principal legatee.

Mrs. Palmer, it could be shown, he said, was much of a recluse for many years, and a constant user of tobacco. She not only smoked much, but used the strongest kind of tobacco, such as cut plug and chewing tobacco.

The republicans bob up serenely with eleven superiors out of eighteen elected in this county. The fanatics have received a black eye, and Gratiot will return to its old standard in the fall. The wool cannot be longer pulled over the eyes of our people by a few intriguers. Ithica, Alma and St. Louis are republican.

NOT AN INFERNAL MACHINE. A Story Showing the Caution of Hoosier Ostracism.

Does anyone remember Byron's famous plum-pudding? asks the Gentleman. If so, the Nikita plum-pudding story may strike them as somewhat of a parallel. When staying at St. Petersburg for Christmas some English friends of the young singer, thinking to please her, and regardless of the effects on her voice, sent her a monster plum-pudding as a surprise. Imagine her amazement and trepidation when it was announced in every morning paper that a large box supposed to contain an infernal machine, directed to the young singer, had been deposited at the nearest police station. A letter reached her from an authority—there are many authorities about in St. Petersburg—informing her that the police were chary of opening the box, fearing it might be dangerous to their lives; but did she know of anyone valiant enough to attempt the deed the box should be hers.

Her impresario undertook to die in the attempt, and, on arriving at the police station for that express purpose, was somewhat relieved to find the huge package reposing quietly in a tank of water. Now came the moment for the untying of the Gordian knot; and there reposed, wrapped in linen within an earthenware bowl, the pudding dearest to the heart of Englishmen on the 30th of December as every year comes round. The police still refused to be satisfied, and insisted that the terrible thing might shroud a mysterious bomb. After a vast amount of probing and pronging, the pudding was at length conveyed to its destination, and both it and the joke were heartily enjoyed by the Nikita party.

SAVED HER YOUNG. Hew a Small Bird Turned Aside a Large Herd of Cattle.

A herd of five thousand bees were tolling over the lonely trail from New Mexico to Kansas, says a correspondent of the Youth's Companion, leaving behind them across the grassy plains and valleys a swath as bare as if it had been swept by the fiery breath of a simoom.

Suddenly the leader of the herd, a huge steer, started back in terror, and went to a snort of warning, and moving to the right passed on. Those immediately in his rear turned to right or left, and their example was followed by each long-horned pilgrim as he reached the dreaded spot.

When the entire herd had passed a wide, trampled track lay behind, but near the middle of this dusty space stood a luxuriant island of grass three feet in diameter.

A herdman rode up to the spot and dismounted, expecting to find a rattlesnake, a creature of which cattle as well as horses have an instinctive and well-founded dread. Instead of a serpent, however, the grass tuft contained only a harmless killdeer plover, covering her nest, while her wings were kept in constant and violent motion. Seen instinctively through the grass, she had evidently been mistaken by the steer for a rattlesnake.

She did not take flight, even at his cowboy, but valiantly pecked at his boot as he gently pushed her to one side to find that the nest contained four unfledged killdeers.

A Lucky Escape. Fortunately the man or woman residing in a malaria-ridden locality who escapes the dreaded scourge. Not one in a thousand does. When the endemic is a periodical and wide-spread visitation, it is just as common to see whole communities suffering from it as single individuals. The most vigorous constitution is not proof against it—how much less a system feeble and disordered. As a means of protection against malaria, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the supreme medicinal agent. It will purify any form of malarial disease implanted in the system, and even in regions where malarial complaints are most malignant and deadly, such as the Isthmus of Panama, Guatemala and the tropics generally. It is justly regarded as an efficient safeguard. No less efficacious is it as a curative and preventative of chronic indigestion, liver trouble, constipation, rheumatism, kidney complaints and lagrippe.
