WEATHER
WASHINGTON, July 6.—For Lower Michigan—Fair, winds shifting to southeasterly; slightly warmer in northwestern Indiana.

DEPLORABLE TRAGEDIES
Yesterday's tragedies at Homestead were precipitated by the wanton attempts of hateful spies, emboldened by temporary authority, to intimidate the locked-out ironworkers who had given notice that Pinkerton's minions would not be allowed to land on what to them is as sacred as a workman's home can be. It will answer no good purpose to multiply adjectives in describing the appalling catastrophe. In the fierceness of the brawny men who fought for their homes, there is an object lesson that will serve as a warning to all oppressors of labor. Before their passions were aroused the men, through their leaders, gave notice that they would protect the property of their former employers with their lives if necessary. They also declared that they would protect their homes and the mills from invasion by armed guards at the same price. The men are determined in their cause and the deplorable war, attended by grievous loss of life, which was begun yesterday will excite a general as well as a merited sympathy for them. There is a limit to the aggressions of organized capital. When it seeks to subjugate with Winchester free American workmen who peacefully assert their rights, it oversteps that limit and calls down upon it the righteous condemnation of all. The unholty butchery of yesterday will go down into history as the blackest chapter since the war of the rebellion closed.

CRUEL AND UNJUST
Machine organs distort the palpable truths appearing in other papers not controlled by the machine and hurl vile and cruel epithets at the friends of Mayor Pingree, at the same time denouncing as unrepentant the men which their disordered fancies conjure into realities. They build a mountain out of fog and then proceed to annihilate it with a battering ram of billingsgate. They seem to think it is a sin against the Holy Ghost for a patriotic republican newspaper, abreast of the modern demand for impartial and independent utterance, to say that in its opinion one man is strong and another weak as a gubernatorial candidate—and yet by specious intendo and cowardly indirection they exert themselves to do the very thing that in spiteful and mercenary language they so stoutly condemn in others. It is the belief of many good republicans that Mr. Pingree is the strongest man in the field and that belief implies that Mr. Rich is weak. If the friends of Mr. Pingree shall be disappointed in the coming convention, they will not sulk nor withhold their support from the nominee, but will be found in line fighting the common enemy without throwing stones at their fellows.

MORE PROTECTION NEEDED
It may be expected that vicious attacks will be made on the protection system by the democratic free trade papers following the awful troubles at Homestead, but they will have little weight with the thinking masses. The protection policy does not insure against acts of violence on the part of men who are unjustly denied the rights and liberties secured to all Americans. Nor is it a fair charge to say that protection is answerable for the greed of those individuals who seek to profit by its benefits at the expense of honorable toil. The protective policy has made it possible for the extensive mills at Homestead and elsewhere to exist and to pay their employees greater wages than are paid in any country on earth. That selfish men conspire to reduce these wages is not proof that the system is wrong, for on the contrary they unconsciously pay tribute to its beneficence and wisdom. If such labor troubles come through a system that shuts our markets to the cheap iron products of the pauper labor mills of Europe, who can measure the trouble that would follow if our doors were thrown open to the free and unrestricted competition of those mills?

WARDLY INTRUDERS
With a unanimity singularly suggestive of previous arrangements, the organs hostile to the nomination of Mayor Pingree attack The Herald and other papers and in one voice declare that their policy in the present preliminary campaign is controlled by other than patriotic motives. To all of these assaults The Herald has but one reply to make, and that is that The Herald has said nothing but the truth. It has not been subsidized, nor purchased by anybody for any purpose and it cannot be. It is a sorry commentary on the patriotism and honesty of these anti-Pingree organs to find them all ringing the same false and cowardly charges at the same time. The Herald will not belittle itself to retort that these organs are inspired by a consideration in hand duly paid, but it has the right to believe that where the construction and words of the epithetical charges are identical, and that source can be no other than the machine which seeks to throttle the independent and outspoken utterances of the republican press in favor of Pingree.

DESPERED PINKERTONS
Yesterday's bloody battle at Homestead terribly illustrates the deadly wrong of employing armed hirelings to assist in adjusting grievances between capital and labor. There is not and never has been any legitimate reason why Pinkerton detectives should be employed in quelling strikes, and when capital employs them it is a virtual admission that its cause is weak and that it intends to accomplish by intimidation and force of arms what it could not accomplish by law or arbitration. Never was an organization in this or any other country more hated, despised and derided than the Pinkerton agency. The state has civil officers to enforce its laws and a state militia to quell mobs. Such an organization as the Pinkerton Detective Agency is uncalled for, unnecessary in the manipulation of a free government, and the work it does is virtually accomplished without any consideration for right or justice. No good has ever been done in any strike by the employment of the agency. Men resent the presence of the hired detectives as an insult and an intrusion upon the rights of a free, self-governing people. They have never failed to exasperate the men and make grievances infinitely harder to adjust satisfactorily. They have shot down workmen without leave or license as if they were cut-throat guerrillas rather than honest men demanding what they conscientiously believe to be their true rights. It is a fearful stain upon the escutcheon of a free government that such an institution for lawless butchery should be permitted to ply its barbaric trade.

OUR ESTEEMED NEIGHBOR, the Democrat, managed to pluck up courage enough one morning to denounce the socialistic platform adopted at Omaha, but the next it suddenly recalled that it had ventured to express the shade of an opinion and hastily crumpled by saying that some parts of it were not so incendiary as they might be.

It staggers the sleepy and purblind newspapers that have never asserted an independent truth, for fear of injury to their party, to discover that the people rebel against the same old doses administered without change for thirty years. Fearless independence and outspoken candor on all questions are what republicans demand these days.

ONE OF the surprising features of the anti-Pingree oppression is that the champions of machine politics say nothing as to the merits of their cause, aside from trite generalities, but launch their false and mendacious invectives at the newspapers that support the Detroit shoemaker.

IT is authoritatively announced by friends of President Harrison that if the silver bill shall pass the house it will be vetoed, and that the president's veto message will be of such a character that the silver men will wish they had not passed the bill.

MR. CLARKSON has peremptorily declined to be chairman of the national committee. His decision will be received with regret by enthusiastic republicans, for he is a brilliant campaigner.

IT is reported that both the racing attractions are losing cards. This is not at all strange, for it was confidently expected. Experience is a costly but an infallible teacher.

THERE is one decidedly redeeming feature of the betting at the races this week. The men that are losing money are persons that can amply afford that kind of amusement.

WHEN matters come to such a pass that Grand Rapids highwaymen are forced to row out in the lake in order to rob persons, it is about time to call the tubs.

VETO BY THE MAYOR

The Sherman Street Improvement Will Stand. A SUPREME COURT DECISION Sustains Him in the Point of Order Raised at Tuesday Night's Session of the Council.

Mayor Stuart yesterday filed his first veto since taking office. It dealt with the action of the council in voting to reconsider the resolution for the grading and graveling of Sherman street, from East street to the east city limits. The resolution was passed February 15, 1922. At the session of the council Tuesday evening Alderman Hauser moved to reconsider the resolution on the ground that a sewer was being built in Sherman street, and that the property owners along the line of the proposed improvement wished it postponed until next year. Alderman Dregge said that it was not true that a majority of the frontage wished the improvement postponed. Alderman Gilden said that it would make taxes on property owners in the vicinity too heavy if the improvements were not postponed. A vote resulted in a majority for reconsideration. The mayor took the ground that as a five-sixth vote was required by the charter to pass the resolution, a five-sixth vote would be necessary for reconsideration. Today he found that the supreme court has twice passed upon similar cases, and has declared just so many votes necessary to carry a motion for the reconsideration of a resolution as is absolutely necessary for passing the resolution itself. The cases in question are found in 17th Michigan, 226, and in 6th Michigan, 190.

ROBERT'S Rules of Order, which is quoted by the aldermen not sustaining the mayor, says that only a majority is necessary to reconsider, but the council must govern itself first of all by the decisions of the supreme court.

THE mayor gives as his reason for the veto his belief that that of the aldermen acted under a misapprehension of the law, and he considers the veto the quickest way of bringing the matter before the council for final settlement.

BADLY MIXED. A Gentleman Who is His Own Great Grandfather.

The following was told by a well-known and highly esteemed gentleman, an old settler, residing near this city: "I am the father of five children. My oldest son married a young lady and my youngest son married my oldest son's wife. My second son married my oldest son's wife, and my third son married my oldest son's wife.
