

HELD UP TWO KIDS

Two Youthful Highwaymen in Jail.

THE ELDER IS ONLY TWELVE

They Held Up Another Boy and a Little Girl and Took All Their Money.

Percey Yerec and Peter Thompson, aged 10 and 12 years respectively, are locked up at the police station on a charge of highway robbery. The boys were arrested by Transit Officer Fee on complaint of John E. Moore, Jr., who said the youthful bandits held him up on James street Thursday in broad day light and went through his clothes.

Convicted of Assault. Douglas Blakney, the Cannon township farmer that was arrested for assault and battery upon Will Ward, Jr., his brother-in-law, was convicted of the charge yesterday in Justice Brown's court and fined $25 and costs. He had a good lawyer, but it is expected the parole will go into court this morning and settle the matter. The prisoner asked for an adjournment of the case and the motion being refused he made no defense. The motion for an adjournment was made on the ground that the prisoner's wife, his principal witness, was not able to be present on account of sickness, and a sworn statement of her condition from Dr. Landers of Rockford was read. It was learned, however, that the witness was in the court room at the time the affidavit was read and the motion was denied.

McQuillan's Family Troubles.

Thomas H. McQuillan has been arrested on complaint of his wife for failure to support. They are elderly persons and have a grown-up family. They lived together peacefully until about three years ago, when they had some difficulty and agreed to live apart. By the terms of their separation McQuillan was to furnish a certain sum monthly for the support of a 14-year-old son who was living with the mother, but Mrs. McQuillan says the payments have lapsed for several months. When the case was called in police court yesterday it was adjourned until August 4. Upon granting the adjournment Judge Haggerty said he hoped in the meantime the parties would settle the matter between themselves, as it did not properly belong to the court.

Cut Another Man's Hay.

Constable Jackman arrested Joseph M. Wise and John West yesterday on a warrant issued by Justice Brown. The two men had been cutting hay on a farm owned by John A. B. Mead & Co. at the corner of Burton avenue and East street. The men moved upon the property with mowers and equipment and were intending to settle down for the season's operations. They had already cut and carried away several acres of grass before the company was informed of their work. It is charged that they did the same thing last year and sold about $400 worth of hay. They gave bail for their appearance for examination next Thursday at 9 a. m.

Fined for Cruelty to a Horse.

Matt Lane, a teamster, was before Judge Haggerty yesterday on a charge of cruelty to animals. The complaint was made by the manager of Barrett & Richards of West Bridge street, who testified that Lane was working near his place and he heard him beating his horse. Upon investigation he saw him pounding the animal on its ribs with his clenched fist. He ordered him to stop and Lane dropped a small stone by his side which he had evidently held in his hand while he was pounding the horse. Lane pleaded guilty to the charge and paid $5 and costs of $3.33.

Cook Held for Trial.

When the case of embezzlement against George W. Cook, the cashier who admitted that he was a defaulter to the amount of $1,000 of the Phoenix Furniture company's funds, was called in police court yesterday afternoon he waived examination. Upon request of his attorney, James McHride, he was held to the present term of the superior court. This course is thought to be evidence that Cook will plead guilty in the superior court as the jury in that court has been excused for the present term.

Squabbled About the Children.

Mrs. Francisco Rymarkiewicz pleaded guilty in police court yesterday to the charge of committing an assault and battery upon her neighbor Mrs. Brodskie. The parties live on Fourth street and the trouble arose over a quarrel between their children. Mrs. Rymarkiewicz struck Mrs. Brodskie in the face with a strap longer than her name. She pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended upon payment of costs of $1.85.

Gardner's Case in Court.

The parties testimony in the case against Frank Gardner, charged with breaking into a room in Sweet's hotel, was read and signed in police court yesterday afternoon. The prisoner's attorney, Frank Donaldson, made a strong plea for the discharge of his client on general principles, but Judge Haggerty held the case open until July 28, when he will give his decision.

Pleaded Not Guilty.

H. Smith, S. Roelma, M. Fisher, W. Hamilton and Fred Schoeder, who were arrested Thursday for assault and battery, preferred by A. E. Allison the contractor, were arraigned before Judge Haggerty yesterday morning.

PARIS FASHIONS.

A New Reign of Modified Directoire Styles Predicted.

I think it is certain now that we are to have a new reign of the Directoire style, but they will be modified to a certain extent and the chief Directoire effect will consist in the ruffs at the sleeves, the fichus, the revers and the hats and that general ensemble that is indefinable and yet is unmistakable.

The ruffs always call forth that which shall reign in general, and two of the present leaders of Paris fashions wore bouffants that were the envy of all beholders, and since then Directoire has fairly bristled everywhere.

NEW DIRECTOIRE TOILETS.

One of the toilets was of rosea faille, cut in fourteen form in the skirt, which had a rose plaiting of the same around the bottom only one inch wide. The corsage was a marvel. It was a Spencer waist with a metal belt studded with large imitation rubies and emeralds. There was a figaro jacket braided solidly with gold, and from this laid back wide white satin revers and these edged with silver Van Dyke lace worked in with white thread and a ribbon was laid flat on them worked with silver. At the neck the bengaline spencer was drawn in a puffed ruffle. The forearms of the sleeves were of white satin embroidered with silver. A white silk and chiffon parasol, the chiffon edged with silver, and a beige straw hat completed this ravishing toilet. What is Directoire about it? Why, the revers.

The other was of Nile green bengaline and striped silk, trimmed down the front with a narrow edge of black silk grelots and with a full mull, with a full ruff of embroidery. The belt and accessories were of moss green velvet; and the Directoire heeled. The fichu, of course, and the ruffles at the wrist. Today I was told by a leading modiste that the present prospect for fall silk is for the richest brocades that can be woven, and those with even more pronounced chameleon effect than ever. And I heard, too, that dress velvets will be made with a sort of twist beneath the pile which will show iridescent effects as the lights change. Terry velvet, with very heavy cord, will be presented for cloaks and for combinations and trains. It will be in all evening shades and pure white. This will be much liked for bridal costumes, as it is incomparably rich.

How Wade Hampton Cried Cigars.

Wade Hampton never smoked cigars in a rational way like the rest of mankind. Instead, he took the cigars as he bought them and crushed them to powder between the palms of his hands and made use of the fragments as the old regime use snuff. The coarse bits were thrown away, and in the military committee room, of which he was so long an occupant, there was always a pile of cigar shavings on the floor beside his chair. The finest cigars in the market were none too good to be treated this way, and more than one genuine cigar smoker has been moved to expostulation as he has seen Hampton dispose of a fine weed in such an unceremonious way.—Kate Field's Washington.

Had to Be Introduced.

"Bridget," said Mrs. A., "have you spoken to the milkman about the wretched milk he has been leaving us lately?" "No, ma'am," said Bridget, who had recently "come over." "I never shake wild strangers till I'm acquainted with 'em."—Youth's Companion.

SWEET FACES OF BABIES

When One Is Born There Is An Angel in the House.

What One of These Sweet Human Buds Means to Parents.

Huge Albums That Contain the Likenesses of Happy Little Ones.

As babies were all interesting. And as parents there is nothing in this world interests us so much as babies. They are pictures that have no need of a frame, the homeliest one of them is more beautiful than any painting ever can be.

Almost anyone who has peeped into the store windows of bookkeepers has seen the faces of the choir of angels by Correggio, and the pictures by Raphael of that childhood which Christianity deified, and the sweet faces of Sir Joshua's cherubs. But who will say that any of the whole group of these glorious pictures, one blunt, button-faced living baby is not more lovely, more angelic, fuller of inspiration than them all!

When the baby is born there's an angel in the house. From the possession of one of these sweet human buds comes a sympathy with many things, a hundred beauties never suspected, a new world of pleasures. But babyhood is a serious affair, and many plain, homely truths must be looked in the face.

The little one must live and be well. And yet those cold affairs, the doctor's figures, show us that few do live, and that fewer still are well. And that July and August is the season when they suffer. They starve and grow sick and die, for want of proper nourishment! The nursing mother is often weak or sick herself. In cities there is proverbial danger in the milk supply. Cholera infantum comes, and half the funerals in July and August are MAJORIE.

Wise doctors and experienced mothers knew that the baby's health at this time depends on proper food. Do not, they are continually saying, experiment with cow's milk, condensed milk or doubtful preparations. If the mother's milk is, for any cause, insufficient, simply use the standard substitute for mother's milk, lactated food. In it the combination of the necessary elements of pure, healthy mother's milk is accomplished.

With pure milk sugar as a basis, there is combined the richest gluten flour of wheat and oats, which by long subjection to high steam heat under pressure, and while in constant motion, has been perfectly cooked and made ready to be easily acted upon by the important addition of pure malt extract. This extract is obtained from the finest malted barley, without the aid of heat, so that its full diastatic power is retained unimpaired.

It is combined with the other elements of the food, the result being a homogeneous product that is easily assimilated by the feeblest stomach. It is a safe, simple, invaluable food for infants, and they like it and thrive upon it, and grow healthy and strong. Half a dozen photographs were taken at random the other day from the huge albums that contain the likeness of hundreds of happy little ones whose fond parents have written to the Wells & Richardson company heartiest letters telling of the good that lactated food has done their babies.

Mrs. William May MANTER SMITH, Smith of Provincetown, Mass., a portrait of whose little son is given here, writes: "My baby was a frail little thing when he was born. He was nursed at the breast until he was four months old, when the doctor said he and his mother would both die if he was not weaned. We tried cow's milk, which was not adapted to his needs, so we used lactated food, following the directions exactly. Since then he has gained a pound a month, has had very little sickness and seems strong and bright. I have had no experience with any other child or any other food, but I am sure this child has thrived on lactated food. One friend says of him: 'I would not have given two cents for him when he was two weeks old, but now, if he was mine, no money could buy him.' And I am sure his father and mother agree with the last clause of that statement."

From Spencerport, N. Y., Mrs. L. J. Woodman writes: "My little girl was quite sick last May with bowel trouble, and after trying several things, the druggist advised me to try lactated food. I did so and she improved rapidly. She has been using the food since then, and it has kept her well! MISS WOODMAN, and strong. I shall always recommend it when I see a baby that is sick or fretful, for my experience has satisfied me that lactated food will make any child rosy, plump and well."

Mr. J. B. Henderson of Burlington, Vt., says: "The photograph of little Marjorie, which I send you herewith, shows that her use of lactated food has been perfectly satisfactory. Living exclusively upon this food for months, MINNIE HAYNER, without a sick day, is the best evidence that lactated food thoroughly nourishes. She had but little trouble while she was here, and I ascribe this to the beneficial properties of the food and that it prevents irritation of the stomach and bowels."

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Haynes, No. 4 Autumn street, East Somerville, Mass., send this letter: "Our little adopted daughter, 17 months old, weighs 23 pounds and is a very healthy, happy child. She owes her health to lactated food. It agrees with her in every respect, keeping the bowels regular. I can recommend it for keeping the bowels regular and being the best food for bottle babies. Baby is the picture of health and knows nothing of the many diseases children usually suffer from while teething."

And so they write, hundreds of happy parents, about this nutritious, palatable and easily digested food, which comes done up in a handy package and can be had at any drug store.

Smoked Meat Sale. Commencing this morning the Western Beef company will inaugurate the greatest smoked and dried meat sale that has ever taken place in this city. The sale will comprise dried and smoked meats of every kind and various special lines. It will be conducted regardless of the cost of the goods and the prices made will be far below wholesale cost. The stock is the largest and finest that the city contains, and the public will be fully aware of this fact, will be quick to seek bargains early in the sale. This will be the event of the year in meat sales of the city, and all competitors are anxiously awaiting its termination. The sale closes Saturday night at 10 o'clock.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE A Unique Country Where the Skies Are Almost Never Clouded, While the Air is Cool and Bracing, Lake Perpetual Spring

As an anomalous southern resort, by reason of the fact that there one may escape summer heat no less than winter cold, New Mexico is rapidly becoming famous. Averaging throughout the entire territory 5,000 feet in altitude above sea-level, and characterized by dry air which, unlike a humid atmosphere, is incapable of communicating heat, the temperature in mid-summer remains at a delightfully comfortable degree through the day, and at night becomes invariably brisk and bracing. The sunning is almost constant, yet the most violent out-of-door exertion may be undertaken without fear of distressful consequences. Sunstroke or prostration are absolutely unknown there. It is an ideal land for a summer outing. Its climate is prescribed by reputable physicians as a specific for pulmonary complaints, and the medicinal Hot Springs at Los Vegas are noted for their curative virtues. The most sumptuous hotel in the west, the Moctezuma, is located at these springs. Write to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, for "The Land of Sunshine," an entertaining and profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, the most picturesque and romantic in the United States.
