

TAKEN INTO A DEN

A Young Girl From the City of Muskegon

FALLS IN WITH EVIL WOMEN

Who Feed Her With Wine Until She Becomes Drunk and is Lodged in Jail.

Belle Gordon, a girl 15 years old, was arrested on Canal street at 2 o'clock Thursday morning for being drunk and disorderly. When she was arraigned in police court yesterday morning she told the judge that her home was in Muskegon and that she came to the city a few days ago to visit her sister-in-law, but could not find her. She had been staying with some newly formed female acquaintances and Wednesday night accompanied them to some of the wine rooms and drinking stails, where she met a young man who was particularly attentive to her. Drinks were bought at frequent intervals and Miss Belle grew increasingly hilarious. The night's debauchery was continued until early in the morning when the young man deserted his companion and left her on the street to be arrested by the police. Word was sent to the girl's sister in Muskegon yesterday morning and the case was held open until she arrived in the afternoon to look after the erring young female. The sister promised the judge that if he would suspend sentence upon Belle she would take her to her home at once. The court was lenient and sentence was suspended.

Dr. W. H. Gunn Returns. Albert Dodge, attorney for W. H. Gunn, armed with a writ of habeas corpus to secure the release of the doctor, visited Stoughton yesterday morning. He was met at the train by the doctor who had been released by the Montcalm county officials the evening before. Several days ago a bond, with Hon. William T. Powers of this city and other responsible sureties, was presented to secure his release, but they refused to approve it. Mr. Dodge thinks they feared of the habeas corpus proceedings and concluded to approve of the bond rather than face the new turn in the case.

Will Observe Columbus Day. Columbus Day, which has been appointed a national holiday by the United States government, will be observed by the Western Michigan College faculty October 21. A concert of a high order is being prepared, and a musical program will be the order of the day.

Suspended Sentence. John Doherty and Andrew Aird, the two old soldiers who were arrested for fighting in Doherty's saloon Wednesday night, were released on a hearing in police court yesterday on a charge of breach of the peace. Sentence was suspended upon the payment of costs.

Pleaded Guilty to Larceny. Willie Bozmaier, Fred Walkinski and Guy Brentiss were arraigned in police court yesterday on a charge of simple larceny. They pleaded guilty to the accusation and their case was referred to the county agent, who will report August 20.

Charged With Larceny. A partial examination of Fred Needles on a charge of stealing a gold watch from Clark, the Arcade bicycle dealer, was had in police court yesterday. A further hearing will be had August 19. The complaint is for larceny from the person.

Genie Does Not Mind. Gertrude DeZonge, a Holland girl 13 years old, was arrested yesterday on complaint of her mother, charging her with being disorderly and a truant. The case was referred to the county agent to be heard August 20.

Circuit Court Matters. A. Cornelius Ruck filed a bill in foreclosure with the county clerk yesterday for the sum of $800 on lot No. 12, block 8, Winsor's addition to the city, John F. Quigley and wife being the defendants.

Jury trials will be resumed in both circuit courts next Tuesday, the large number of jury cases making it necessary.

No business was transacted in Judge Adair's court yesterday.

Police Court Notes. John Brandes, the street dog, who was arrested on a charge of being disorderly a few days ago, was fined $3 and costs yesterday, amounting to $7.75.

The examination of H. B. Grady for violating the state liquor law, was adjourned until August 24.

Adrian Lobensky's disorderly case was adjourned in police court yesterday until August 25.

James P. Roe's liquor case was adjourned again yesterday until September.

Circuit Court—Part I. Lewis Grove. John E. Baker and Edwin S. Dwight vs. William N. Coope and Elroy M. Reed, chancery; order modifying injunction so as not to restrain defendant from disposing of his undivided interest in partnership property, and that injunction as modified be continued until final hearing.

Lewis M. Cutchson, et al. vs. Augustus Buchanan et al., chancery; hearing on pleadings and proofs.

Josiah Brown vs. the Township of Brown, trespass on the case; continued by consent.

James A. Coye admitted to practice as an attorney, etc.

NULIFICATION. Sixty years ago next November a general convention was in session in South Carolina. Its members represented the sentiments of that arrogant slaveholding oligarchy whose influence a few years later induced the southern states to attempt the dissolution of this republic by armed force. They were by birth, training and interest opposed to the elevation of workingmen and women, and viewed with alarm the growth of the army of intelligent free labor in the northern states under the shelter of the protective system. So they hated protection with an all consuming hate, and had called this convention for the purpose of formally serving notice on the president and congress that the protective tariff of 1828 must be repealed, so far as South Carolina was concerned, or South Carolina would secede from the Union. The convention passed an "ordinance" of nullification, of which the gist is contained in the following extracts:

Whereas, the congress of the United States, by various acts, purporting to be acts laying duties and imposts on foreign imports, but in reality intended for the protection of domestic manufactures, etc., hath exceeded its just powers under its constitution. We therefore, the people of the state of South Carolina, in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the several acts and parts of acts of the congress of the United States, purporting to be laws for the imposing of duties and imposts on the importation of foreign commodities, etc., are unauthorized by the constitution of the United States, and violate the true meaning and intent thereof, and are null, void and no law.

The answer of that great Democrat, Andrew Jackson, who was then president, was to order South Carolina to submit to the tariff, and he dispatched troops and gunboats to see that his orders were complied with. Congress, however, saw fit to modify the tariff significantly to appease the South Carolina nullifiers, they receded from their position and bloodshed was postponed until twenty-eight years later, when the pretensions of South Carolina were stamped upon by the American people for good, and all at a cost of half a million precious lives and untold sufferings. They hoped that they had heard the last of nullification and the absurd tariff views of Calhoun and his fellow nullifiers. But they were mistaken. Just about twenty-eight years after the closing scenes of the tremendous struggle in which it was believed the principles of the nullifiers were buried forever, another convention was held, not in South Carolina this time, but in the native state of Abraham Lincoln, which has reasserted the teachings of Calhoun. Here is its denunciation of protection as a fraud, a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the few.

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue only, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government when honestly and economically administered.—Democratic Platform of 1862.

For the first time since the civil war a political party has dared to incorporate into its platform the utterances of the ordinance of nullification, and to profess that the tariff laws supported and advocated by Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Adams, Madison, Clay, Webster, Jackson and Lincoln were unconstitutional and mere legislative robbery of the people.

There is no mistaking the meaning of the Democratic tariff plank, and we are glad of it.

CONCERNING BACKS.

How the Shoulder Blades Betray Age. Backs should be straight. "Young looking, isn't she?" "She does look so in the face, and her bosom is becoming, but I thought by the spread of her back that she wasn't very young."

It was a scrap of conversation overheard in the street. Although the criticism was made laughingly, it betrayed the fact that the speaker was neither kind nor refined, as the other woman's shoulder blades betrayed her age; but it hinted at one of the secrets of a youthful looking figure. The back should be straight; I don't mean the spine—that contains a curve in the most exact figure; but the line across the back from shoulder to shoulder. A stick laid across here should touch all the way along. The line of beauty is straight here, for a change.

The muscles of the back are like elastic; they should spring back into place, but they grow weak from age, the shoulder blades fall away from the spine and throw the shoulders forward, and the edges of the blades stick out, making the back round in a fat person and angular in a thin one, and always broad—"spreading."

The comparison to elastic is not perhaps the best one, since elastic wears out from use, while a muscle becomes stronger and tauter by use.

What backboards did for a past generation was to keep the back flat, but there are better ways now. The point is to exercise the muscles and not let them get flabby. This is the secret of the fact that many women who have worked hard all their lives and who might be expected to be worn out are what is called "spry" and young looking.

Bad making and sweeping and any work that uses the arms without having to bend over develop the muscles of the back and tend to make the shoulder blades when at rest return to their normal position. Sedentary work, in which the hands are used in one position, as sewing or writing, draws the shoulders forward. The woman who does not need to work, if she happens to be too indolent to exercise for the love of it, and to incline to easy chairs and morning naps, will pay the same penalty and will need to look to it that her bosom is becoming.

Any one can correct this tendency, however, if she will. Dumbbells are grand exercise for the back. To swing them with the arms straight you must stand upright. When they meet behind the back, still standing upright, the shoulder blades seem to shut in like doors.

to spend in this way don't give up, like Mrs. Dombey, without an effort. You can at least go through the motion of throwing the shoulders back fifty times a day. It takes no time, for you can do it sitting, standing or walking, and a determined effort of the will to keep them back will soon pass into a habit. M. H. F. LOVETT.

The Rattlesnake's Alarm. The rattlesnake's rattle is like the sound which would be produced by the rattling of a number of peas in a paper bag. This represents the slightness of the sound. We are accustomed to pictorial representations in which the rattle is made to look very angry and energetic, the tail erect in a manner to suggest a loud alarm. Accordingly, when one hears it for the first time one is surprised to find the noise so slight. The sound, instead of being a rattle, is rather a tinkle, and perhaps it has a rather more metallic character than the notion of the shaking of peas in a paper bag would represent. But, slight as the sound is, the person who has never met one of these reptiles before and who, without seeing the snake, hears for the first time among mountain rocks or prairie grass its delicate yet wonderfully distinct warning, knows instantly who and what his neighbor is.

The Fighting Mole. A writer in the "Zoologist" gives us a new idea of the characteristics of the mole.

People ordinarily look upon the mole as a sluggish and harmless creature, spending its life in groping blindly underground. As usual, the popular idea is a mistaken one. The mole is in reality the most ferocious and most active of animals. Imagine it magnified to the size of a tiger and you would have a more terrible beast than the world has yet seen. Though with defective powers of vision and therefore incapable of following its prey by sight, it would be agile beyond conception, springing this way and that as it went along, leaping with lightning quickness upon any creature which it met, rending it to pieces in a moment, devouring the yet warm and bleeding flesh and instantly seeking with hunger insatiable for a fresh victim.

Proof of Merit. The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self-praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are. Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for ALCOCK'S, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

SIXTY MILLION BUSHELS OF Wheat.—A Bushel for Every Inhabitant of the United States.—The Kansas Crop of '92.

Never in the history of Kansas has that state had such bountiful crops as this year. The farmers cannot get enough hands to harvest the great crop, and the Santa Fe Railroad has made special rates from Kansas City and other Missouri River towns, to induce harvest hands to go into the state. The wheat crop of the state will be from sixty to sixty-five mill bushels, and the quality is high. The grass crop is the largest ever raised; the early potatoes, rye, barley and oat crops are made, and are all large. The weather has been propitious for corn, and it is the cleanest, best looking corn to be found in the country today. Cheap rates will be made from the Santa Fe east of the Missouri River, to all Kansas points, on August 30 and September 27, and these excursions will give a chance for eastern farmers to see what the great Sunflower State can do. A good map of Kansas will be sent free upon application to Geo. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill., together with reliable statistics and information about Kansas lands.

An Original Prize Contest. To the first person who by taking two letters from the word "Plague" can make the name of a disease that is common in portions of both Canada and the United States, will be given an elegant upright piano (valued at $325, or its equivalent in cash, as preferred). To the second person will be given a pony, cart and harness complete (valued at $300, or its equivalent in cash, if preferred). To the third person will be given an elegant gold watch valued at $75, or its equivalent in cash. Fifty other prizes, ranging in value from $25 to $5, will be awarded to the next fifty persons sending correct solutions strictly in order as received. If you have tried other so-called prize competitions without success you must not condemn those offered by this company, as they are perfectly reliable, and are carried on in good faith. Contestants must enclose U. S. postal note for thirty cents, (or fifteen two-cent U. S. stamps) for one month's trial subscription to the Ladies' Pictorial Weekly, which is the handsome and best illustrated weekly publication for ladies on this continent. The only object in offering this competition is to introduce it into new homes, and we guarantee that no party will be shown in the awarding of prizes. Persons living at a distance, or in the United States, have as good an opportunity, as the date of postmark on letters will be given precedence, so answer early. Address, Ladies' Pictorial Co., "D," Toronto, Canada.

A Wonderful Statement. Proprietors of Dullian's Great German Remedies. GENTLEMEN—I have for the past two years been troubled with a serious and very severe Liver and Stomach difficulty. Served Almost Four Years

In the Late War—Contracted Terrible Complaints.

EDMOND TRIPP.

Formerly Member of Grand Rapids, June 1, 1892.

To Every Person That May Read These Lines: That I, Edmond Tripp, an ex-soldier of the late war, who served in the Third Ohio Cavalry, in Company B, from the 11th of September, 1861, until August 27, 1865, and who was discharged from service on account of disability, and am now 51 years of age, did apply to DR. W. H. GUNN for medical treatment on or about April 1st, 1892, in case of my disease, namely diarrhoea, kidney complaint, nervous debility, chronic inflammation of the bladder and prostate gland with a continued dizziness in head; in fact I was a total wreck and had been for years. Dr. Gunn told me that he knew well he could cure me of every complaint I had. I determined to make an attempt with him though I had exhausted almost all faith, and had done so with many physicians (called good ones) and they had done me good only for a short time. Now I am prepared to state that I am satisfied I am cured, well man of every affliction, and I would further say that Dr. Gunn cured me of the army diarrhoea in less than two weeks. I now eat anything my appetite will permit, in fact I eat greatly increased in weight, and only hope that the sufferer from these complaints may consult Dr. Gunn.

EDMOND TRIPP. Sworn and subscribed to before me this 6th day of July, A. D. 1892, and I certify that I am well acquainted with Edmond Tripp, the above named witness, that he has charge of the dynamite in the Michigan Soldiers' Home; also that his statements are entitled to full credit.
