

MADE A BOLD STAND

Citizens of Coffeyville Kill Five Bank Robbers.

THREE CITIZENS ALSO KILLED

It Proves to Be the Much-Dreaded Dalton Gang and Two of the Daltons Are Among the Killed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—News has just reached here that a gang of robbers made a descent on the town of Coffeyville, Kan., this morning and robbed the two banks of that place. The dispatch states that five men were killed in the fight which took place between the robbers and the bank officers.

A second dispatch from Coffeyville says the robbers were members of the Dalton gang, and that in the battle that ensued all of the robbers and several citizens were killed and wounded. The money of the bank was saved.

Further Particulars.

By a dispatch from Parsons it is learned that this morning shortly after the First National bank of Coffeyville, Kan., opened its doors five mounted men drew up before the bank and three of them entered, and with drawn revolvers ordered the cashier to hand over the money in the safe and vault. The cashier drew a revolver and fired at the robbers. A number of citizens were attracted by the unusual sight of five mounted men in front of the bank, and when the sound of the shot was heard they rushed into the bank and a general shooting followed. The robbers retreated from the bank and attempted to gain their horses, at the same time firing their revolvers at the citizens, who were attempting to kill or capture them. In the fight six citizens are reported killed and four of the robbers captured. Two of the latter are said to be mortally wounded. They are members of the famous Dalton gang.

Names of Killed and Wounded. The names of the robbers killed are: Bob Dalton, Grant Dalton, Tom Huddy and unknown man. Edmest Dalton received a bullet in the right eye and may die.

The citizens who were killed are City Marshal C. T. Connelly, Charles Brown and George Cubine.

Citizens wounded: Cashier Thomas G. Ayer, of the first national bank; Lucius Baldwin, Thomas Reynolds and Alfred Dietz.

LEVIED ON THE LOCOMOTIVES

For Taxes Due the City of Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 5.—The fight between Indiana tax officers and the railroad companies, which are resisting the payment of their taxes under the new law, took a new phase today. The contest hereof, however, is confined to the courts; today it was transferred to the hands of deputy sheriffs, and the scene was shifted to the yards of the existing railroad companies. This morning deputies levied on the engines and the electric light plant at the Union depot, the property of the Union Railway company, for taxes due the city. The attempt to collect the railroad taxes did not stop here. The officers went from the Union Railway company to the yards of the railroads entering the city, and one by one levied on the engines which they found and upon the electric light plants. Plants were seized upon the tracks of all the Big Four, except the Peoria & Eastern; upon the Pennsylvania lines, the I. D. & W. road, the L. E. & W. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Attorney Anderson C. Harris of the Union railway company, appeared before Judge Taylor of the superior court and entered a plea for an order restraining the county treasurer from seizing and holding the company's property. The court issued a temporary injunction against any further proceedings in the controversy and set, overruling a motion of the defendant to modify the order.

EDWIN BOOTH SERIOUSLY HURT.

The Aged Actor Suffers Severe Bruises From a Fall in His Room.

LAKENWOOD, N. J., Oct. 5.—Actor Edwin Booth, who is at the Laurel house, met with an accident this morning which has confined him to his bed. While dressing he suddenly became faint and falling to the floor struck his head with considerable force against the edge of the marble washbasin. His daughter, Miss Frances, summoned a maid and had her father carried to his bed. In addition to the blow on his head Mr. Booth received a severe cut over the eye. The aged actor has been in poor health and he came here in the hope of improving it. The accident it is feared will set him back.

THREE BRAVE GELS

Resist Three Cowardly Men, But One of Them Was Seized and Abducted.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—At Maxton, in the northeastern part of Franklin county, at 9 o'clock this morning there occurred a desperate encounter between three men and three women. A young man named Samuel Baugh has for some time been paying his attentions to Miss Lela Bennett, who has done everything in her power to evade him. This morning, Miss Baugh, accompanied by his brother Edward and a man named Quince Van Tassel, appeared at the home of the Bennett. There was no one there but the two Bennett girls, Edna and Lela, and the wife of A. E. Bennett. The ladies suspected that the fellows means no good to them, and when they rapped at the door instead of opening it they looked in, and also looked all the other doors and windows, and all three fled

ALL HOPE IS GONE

To the Friends and Watchers at Tennyson's Gate.

HE WILL DIE BEFORE MORNING

Was the Latest of the Sad News Received by Cable Last Night From the Old World.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The household at Aldworth are watching at the bedside of Alfred Tennyson and waiting for his death. Sir Andrew Clark returned to London early in the evening, but he has dismissed his carriage and will remain with his patient until the last. Sir Andrew Clark and Dr. Dabbs sent word at 35 minutes after 6 o'clock this evening to the reporters waiting outside the Aldworth gate that Tennyson was dying slowly, painlessly and consciously. Messengers were dispatched hurriedly over the Hazelmere road to convey the news to the offices of the London dailies. Then the crowd of reporters waited in silence for the next bulletin from the bedside of the dying poet. At 7:15 Lady Clark left the house and took a carriage to be driven to London over the Hazelmere route. At the entrance of the grounds she stopped to answer the inquiries of the reporters and the little group of men and women from Hazelmere who had gone to watch out the night before the house of the dying man. She said that all hope was gone.

His Mind Uncoloured.

Tennyson's mind was uncoloured and he knew that his remaining hours of life were few. He talked tranquilly of his death with his wife and his son Hollan. He seemed to be perfectly happy and free from pain. Lady Clark spoke with tears as she told of the scene at the bedside. All hope of Tennyson's recovery was abandoned between 11 and 12 o'clock last night. The bulletin at 5 o'clock this morning said that no change in the patient's condition was apparent. At 6 o'clock the gardener came out and fastened with a stout rope the rustic gate at the front entrance to the grounds around the house, and tied a basket to the latch. He explained that Tennyson was very near death and the family wished to secure perfect quiet by the exclusion of all visitors from the grounds. The basket was for the cards of friends or admirers who might come for the last news of the poet's condition. At 7 o'clock a bulletin concerning the course of the disease during the night was given to the reporters who waited at the entrance. It stated that Tennyson's condition had shown no marked change since last evening and he was extremely weak. The bulletin was fastened to the rustic gate for the information of persons who might come later, and as the morning advanced many men arrived at Aldworth from London and joined the watchers.

Patiently Waiting News.

Hour after hour passed without news from the sick chamber, yet the people at the gate waited patiently. At 11 o'clock Sir Andrew Clark and Lady Clark arrived in a carriage from London. He had come for another consultation with Dr. Dabbs, although all knew that his mission must prove fruitless. At 2 o'clock a bulletin posted on the gate announced that Tennyson was near his end and could last but a few hours.

Between 12 and 2 o'clock many people came and went. Hundreds of telegrams and letters inquiring, condolence and sympathy were brought from Hazelmere. They came by scores from all parts of Great Britain and the continent, and the man servant was kept busy receiving and delivering them at the door. At 3:30 o'clock another bulletin was posted on the gate that Tennyson was sinking rapidly and would die before midnight. Toward evening most of the watchers went to Hazelmere or London, leaving only the reporters at the gate. At nightfall the windows of Aldworth, which were lighted, and the large window, opposite the terrace steps was thrown open. Those outside thought that the poet was dead but the impression was corrected by the bulletin at 6:35.

Dr. Dabbs says that Tennyson's acute illness began on Sept. 27.

He was chilled while driving and the severe cold which he then caught developed rapidly into influenza. Tennyson's illness has developed a remarkable interest in his personality among the people of the district and in districts where he has lived for twenty years almost unobserved by them. Except Prof. Tyndall, who lives at Handhead, and a few of the poet's warmest neighbors, the people heretofore have paid little attention to his coming and going. Today, however, the simplest of his neighbors have made pilgrimages to Aldworth to gather meagre bits of information of the poet's last hours.

Revival of Chess.

New York, Oct. 5.—According to the present arrangement, Belmont, A. B. Hodges, Major Hansell, D. I. Baird, J. S. Ryan, D. G. Sim-nson and Dr. C. H. Isaacson will play matches of three games each with Lasker. The Manhattan Chess club offered a prize of $50 to the player who will make the best score against Lasker. G. A. Gilbery and S. Lloyd have offered $100 each to the player who will make the best stand against Lasker in matches of five games up. Lloyd's prize is open to any player of the United States. Gilbery's, however, is restricted to members of the New York State Chess association.

ROSES AND POLITICS

A sunny room with a big bay window from which one looks out over towers and spires, the pink roses on the walls half hidden by gracefully draped flags and silken banners displaying the faces of the Republican candidates for president and vice president; palms and violets before cabinet photographs of Doolley and Allison; a crucifix twined with the stars and stripes; a worn Bible and a tin plate card receiver on the desk

A GREAT DANGER

You May Be Prostrated in the Same Terrible Manner.

Thousands are nervous and suffer from mental exhaustion, brain fatigue, weak and irritable nerves, sleeplessness, depression of mind and shattered nerves, without realizing the danger or the fearful results which follow neglect of these symptoms.

It is nerve and brain exhaustion from overwork or nervous disease, which makes the brain tired, the arm nerveless, the limbs trembling, the muscles weak and the body without strength and energy, and, unassured, the end will be shattered nerves, fatal kidney and liver disease, heart failure, insanity, with softening of the brain, paralysis or death.

Remember, neglect alone is dangerous. Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, the wonderful restorer of health, strength and vigor, and your bad feelings will disappear as by magic. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists sell.

College Boys and Women.

It pleases the Democratic newspapers these days to refer contemptuously to the reinforcements of "college boys and women," which Republicans are welcoming to their ranks. Well, college boys have votes, and women can make ballots if they can't wield them.

What is the Woman's Republican association doing?

Talking, writing, agitating and publishing pamphlets containing good, sound Republican doctrine; trying to unite the social and educational influence of Republican women and to enlighten "the shopping women on the McKinley bill," for the latter have been repeatedly informed by the Democratic press that Mr. McKinley is not only responsible for the awful devastation of pearl buttons and tin plates, but for the riot, strikes, bloodshed, the battle, murder and sudden death in this country, as well as the price of butter.

Mrs. Foster's Literary Bureau.

Mrs. Foster, who is an eloquent and convincing speaker, will stump New York for Harrison and Reid. At the present moment she is attending to the publication and dissemination of a series of political pamphlets. The first has already been issued, and is called "Objects and Methods." The next will be "The American Renaissance." Then will follow "The Immigration Question;" "Republican Contentions and Supreme Court Decisions," written by Mrs. Foster, whose legal training eminently fits her to establish the fact that every essential principle contended for by the Republican party has been finally sustained by the supreme judiciary.

Another interesting pamphlet, "Our Finances," is written by a woman—Mrs. Margaret S. Burke, of Washington, a specialist in politics and finance.

This lady is most intimately acquainted with financial questions, and especially the practical side of the tariff question, than any other woman in the country. She is as familiar with the vanities of the treasury department as an employee. Her paper will be a complete refutation of the fallacies of the People's party theories. Mrs. Burke is the author of a book now being published in chapters in the Chicago Inter Ocean entitled "The Story of Hercules," being a history of the financial policy of the Republican party. Scenes at Women's Republican Headquarters there is much confusion and masculine hubbub, at the women's headquarters business is conducted with gentle deliberation and a mild feminine flutter. Mrs. Foster's aids are pretty, refined, educated women. No one seems unsexed; no one has as yet acquired the brazen exterior popularly supposed to accompany an interest in politics. During the three hours I spent at headquarters I did not see one woman who by the mildest stretch of imagination would answer the description of a feminine "wire puller" or "ward heeler" or shrieking sister even.

There was a graceful, yellow haired girl in a biscuit colored tail frock, Miss Romney Shaw, of Binghamton, who will travel with Mrs. Foster; there was Mrs. Flora Orvington, of Iowa, with wonderful soft little white curls framing a face of great spirituality and sweetness, and there was Mrs. E. E. Howard, of Boston, a handsome woman with snowy hair and sad, serious, dark eyes, who wears the silver cross upon the bosom of her stern black gown.

The rooms are constantly filled with an ever changing crowd of interested women seeking information and facts.

Of course Mrs. Foster is the most prominent figure. She is a fascinating conversationalist and speaks with enthusiasm of the coming campaign.

REPUBLICAN DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The republicans of the second representative district of Kent county will meet in convention at the Ada Hotel, Sunday, October 15, 1922, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent said district in the legisla-tive and to transact such other business as may prove to come before it.

By order of the committee, NELSON KELLY, Chairman.
