

OF THE NEW WORLD

Quadrennial Celebration Begun in New York.

COLUMBUS IN ALL CHURCHES

Sunday Sermons and Services All Devoted to the Great Discovery and Its Lessons.

New York, Oct. 9.—The second day of the quadrennial celebration of the discovery of the new world was devoted to religious services. Both in Roman Catholic and Protestant churches the services were of the most impressive character. The more important services were held in St. Patrick's cathedral, where Archbishop Corrigan celebrated high mass. Trinity church and Grace church, where the Rev. Dr. Huntington preached and the Madison Square Presbyterian church in which the services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, were all crowded. At Trinity church services began at 7:30 o'clock with the celebration of holy communion. A plain morning prayer was given at 9:30 and at 10:30 the high celebration was begun. At the latter service Dr. A. H. Messer held an excellent musical service. The Rev. J. Nevill Steele preached a sermon on the discovery of America. The hardships and triumphs of Columbus were recounted and lessons were drawn from his trials. His text was "He that exalteth himself shall be abased, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Dr. Dix, the rector, was the celebrant.

Full List of Church Observances.

At the Madison Square church Dr. Parkhurst spoke from Deut. xxvii, 1-3, "If thou shaltarken to the voice of the Lord, he will set thee high above all nations."

At the Fourth Presbyterian church Columbus services were conducted by the Rev. Joseph B. Kerr, D. D. "Discovery" was the subject of the morning discourse. "Development and Duty" of the afternoon.

At the Asbury Park church Dr. Stone conducted the special Columbus exercises. "Voyages to America" was the Rev. Dixon's subject at Association hall.

At the Scotch Presbyterian church Dr. Wylie selected for his subject, "Christianity and National Life." All Scotch churches sounded with the praise of the discovery. The Rev. Theo. C. Williams preached in the morning on the "New World."

The services at the Bloomingdale church were especially noteworthy. Patriotic music preceded and followed the Rev. M. C. Rogers' Columbus sermon. "How to escape the fatality of historic republics."

At the church of the Holy Sepulchre the Rev. Thomas P. Hughes took for his subject in the morning "The Life of a Soldier of the State," and at night "Columbus."

All the collegiate reformed churches of New York held a service morning and evening. The Rev. James Burrell, D. D., took as his topic "Columbus and the Pilot of His Fleet" at the Fifth Avenue collegiate church.

At the church of the Divine Paternity the Rev. Charles A. Eaton, D. D., pastor, conducted the services in recognition of the Columbus celebration. His subject was "Beligion in 1492 and in 1892, or Columbus' Contribution to Religion."

At the Central Baptist church "The Moral Significance of the Discovery of America," formed the subject of the sermon by the Rev. M. W. Walker.

The church of the Messiah celebrated the Columbus idea in a Sunday school re-opening, after which the Rev. Robert Collyer preached on "How Columbus found this new world by faith."

Calvary Baptist church had a social service with patriotic music arranged for the occasion. The sermon preached by Dr. MacArthur had for its theme, "Columbus and the New World."

At the second church the children's baptism was followed by the Columbus commemoration service, conducted by the Rev. William Justin Kasseau.

The Rev. Karl Schwartz, M. A., at the churches of Zion and St. Timothy conducted the special service commemorating the discovery of America.

of the country which he discovered.

City Profusely Decorated.

It is probable that no city was ever so beautifully, so gaily, so artistically, and above all, so universally decorated as New York to-day. The citizens have responded with remarkable unanimity to Mayor Grant's request to aid in the Columbus celebration by the decoration of their homes and their office buildings. It was to be expected that the city's buildings, federal buildings, hotels, club houses and prominent business houses would be resplendent in gala attire, but the ready response of private citizens comes as something of a surprise in the history of celebrations, even in patriotic New York. Some of the residential streets are as gay as Broadway. The flag seen everywhere in all sizes and arranged in every conceivable form. Huge breadths of cotton, dotted with stars and barred with stripes, and, of course, colored, red, white and blue, are also used, extensively, for drapery purposes. Next to the stars and stripes most frequently seen are the red and yellow colors of Spain and Italy's cross in its center of green, white and red. The three flags blend and are effectively used together in thousands of cases. The port of Columbus occupies a prominent place in all the more elaborate decorations. The great discoveries are shown in many different situations. The favorite picture represents his landing for the first time on the soil of the new world. Usually a few pretty female natives are clasping their hands over their breasts and peeping out at Christopher from a convenient clump of bushes. Thousands of cheap prints showing Columbus with a sanctified look and earnest expression, being hawked about the city by peddlers at a dime each. Every small shop has one in the window with an appropriate frame of stars and stripes hanging.

Some of the Chief Displays.

Broadway and Fifth avenue, of course, carry off the palm for brilliancy and profusion of effect. From the battery to Thirty-third street Broadway runs between two banks of color, every building showing some device. Bowling Green, with its historic memories, begins the blaze. The Washington building is the most notable. The new building, designed to catch the eye by its profusion of decoration is the Equitable, which is literally covered with flags, banners, shields, streamers and pictures. Across the way old Trinity joins in the gaiety. A Walk from Broadway down to the Wall Street district, the walls of many public buildings hide their soiled front under panoplies of color. The Drexel building, sub-treasury building and Custom house are the most profusely decorated. Coming back to Broadway, one notices the buildings as the petroleum exchange, the stock exchange, the maritime exchange, the Western Union building, monuments of modern enterprise, are swathed in brilliant colors, chiefly the red, white and blue of the nation's flag.

CLOTHIERS' LOCK-OUT.

Contractors Association and Garment Workers Union at War. Boston, Oct. 9.—In accordance with a vote taken at the last meeting of the clothing contractors association, nearly every member of the body declared a lock-out against their employees beginning yesterday afternoon. The contractors gave as a reason for their action that the Garment Workers' union of this city have been unjust and are arbitrary, and have made it impossible for a man to conduct business with a chance for a fair profit. They further allege that the action of the unions during the past year has been driving the work out of Boston and some of them say that they propose leaving the city and taking such work as they may be able to obtain with them. The number of people affected by the lock-out is estimated as being from 300 to 1,300 men and women, only about 200 of whom are members of the garment workers union.

Letter from Gen. Stevenson.

New York, Oct. 9.—The following letter has been read at the democratic national headquarters: "Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 3.—Hon. W. F. Harris, chairman of the democratic party, has returned home. Heretofore I have returned home with a very satisfactory visit to the south. I have had with great pleasure Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance. I am in full accord with him upon all the questions discussed. My only regret is to reflect the views of the democratic party upon the currency question. I need hardly say to you that I fully and earnestly endorse that part of his letter. He is the able exponent of the democratic doctrine. I would like to state I will, to best of my ability, cooperate with him in giving practical effect to the views contained in his letter. Yours very truly, A. E. STEVENSON."

BOLD BAD RED MEN

A Repetition of the Indian Troubles Apprehended.

MESSIAH SPIRIT IS NOT DEAD

Sioux, Crows and Utes Said to Be Confining in Secret With the Medicine Men.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 9.—Dr. V. T. Gillicuddy of Rapid City, S. D., well known as one of the best posted men in the world when the character of the Sioux Indian is concerned, is in Omaha, having come from the Pine Ridge agency. Today he gave some rather startling information on the subject of the Indian sentiment at present. "I do not wish to pose as an alarmist," said the doctor, "for I would not say anything that would cause unnecessary worry to anybody, but the situation at Pine Ridge is not at all satisfactory just at present and there is no reason to believe that the Indians are improving. The Indians are sullen and in many ways show their resentful feeling, and unless something is done to counteract this there is danger of trouble next spring. One thing that gives me reason for saying this is the fact that the Indians are no longer acquainted were extremely reticent when I tried to converse with them and rather exhibited a desire to avoid talking."

Survival of the Messiah Spirit.

The Messiah spirit is not dead and the whites must not depend on the statement that the Indians are no longer considering the promises made by old Sitting Bull and the other medicine men who led the trouble two years ago. The most significant thing is the fact that there have been communications between the various tribes of a secret and friendly kind during the summer. No water was on a secret mission to the Crows, and old Red Cloud had just returned from Casper, Wyoming, where he went in hopes of meeting a delegation of the Utes, although his ostensible object was to meet the Indians and to catch the eye by its profusion of decoration. I had a long talk with Old American Horse, who seems to think the situation is serious enough to warrant careful consideration."

STORM-RIDDEN MEXICO.

Forty Houses Destroyed in One Town and One Person Killed. CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 9.—The severest storms ever known in Mexico have prevailed along the eastern coast of the republic for many days, causing much damage to vessels and coast towns all the way from Tampico to Vera Cruz. In the state of Vera Cruz there has been great destruction of property. The Vera Cruz railroad was compelled to suspend operations for several days. The town of Saltillo was struck by a terrible cyclone and forty houses were raised from the ground. A large number of others were so badly damaged that they cannot be occupied. There was one person killed outright and several injured at that place. No further reported loss of life has been received.

MUCH MARRIED MAN.

Number Eight Goes and Now Number Nine Comes. VALPARAISO, Ind., Oct. 8.—To tell the tale of woe of Samuel Irvin, a prominent Lake county farmer, would be to relate the experience of eight marital ventures in which the Hoosier farmer would appear in the role of the much married man. Eight times has Mr. Irvin donned the nuptial tulle, and excepting two wives, who died first, his wives with a singular unanimity of mind have hankered after divorces successfully. The last obtained her decree on last Friday, but the alert Samuel is content with a half-ping. On Tuesday evening he will lead to the altar a blushing female who will form No. 9 on his list.

GOLDEN WEDDING OFF.

Curran, of Baltimore, who was superintending the building of a bridge, and three other men who were going to work. Three of the hand car men, including Mr. Curran, were killed instantly, and the fourth lived until evening.

LOOK OUT FOR COMING WINTER.

City Resumes Its Usual Aspect. HAMBURG, Oct. 9.—The outlook for the coming winter among the poor and benighted of this city is very gloomy. The money that was subscribed for the relief of distress caused by the cholera has already been entirely spent with very little visible result. The need of relief is more urgent than ever, and unless something is done that is speedily accomplished famine will follow the plague. For the first time since the plague broke out the city has resumed its usual appearance. Many of the streets are charged with mud and rotting was washed away. The jury was unable to agree and was discharged.

The Students at Ann Arbor Are Ready FOR THE COMING SCHOOL YEAR

Not Many Changes in the Faculty—The Students Lecture Course—Football Notes.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 9.—The hurry and bustle of opening week at the university is over. The freshmen has begun to find out where he is at, and the old timer has gotten his work so well systematized that he can contemplate a trip to Ypsilanti any evening, or even a run down to Detroit, as a little relaxation from his arduous duties. The number of faculty changes this year are noticeably less than heretofore. Two instructors have also been appointed, increasing the teaching force in this department to four. The object of the reform is to give graduate students an opportunity to specialize in the study of economics. Several additional instructors have been appointed in the language departments, materially increasing the whole corps of teachers. In the medical department Prof. Howard has resigned the chair of physiology to accept a similar position at Harvard.
