DELAZED TRAINS.

Sunday's Hazyard Tied Up Seven Passenger Trains in Western Michigan.

Notwithstanding the storm of Sunday, the railroads were able to run trains nearly on time yesterday.

The G. & I.'s Traverse City train was about five hours late. At least seven trains on the different roads were stuck in the snow Sunday night, but all the tracks were clear yesterday.

The Sunday train from Muskegon was not the least out until 10 o'clock yesterday morning. It was snowed out at Rock's station. The passengers were taken care of in a farm house. The postoffice division of the C. & W. M. was completely blocked Sunday, but it was shored out in time to do business yesterday.

Work for the Fair.

Officers of the Kent County Agricultural society have issued a circular to the residents of Kent county giving notice of the fair to be held September 12 to 18, in which they say its future success depends upon the success of this fair, and that there can be no doubt about the result if they all feel the responsibility of the occasion.

"I don't think the light burned at the charity meeting the other night was any sign that Grand Rapids people are not charitable," said Crawford Angell yesterday. "Nor I don't either," said S. P. Wormley, who stood by "Grand Rapids is a very charitable city, indeed," said Mr. Wormley. "Look at all the various charities which have been established only here this winter. Piece of stuff of every description given away; but now if we only had some head center for all these movements how much better it would be. My idea would be to have each ward established, and certain persons who are familiar with the neighbor's circumstances see to their needs. That, I believe, is the plan contemplated, and I believe it will be a very useful one."

Will Nominates Officers.

M. H. Sorenson, president of the Local Union of Christian Endeavor societies, has appointed one member from each of the thirteen societies as a nominating committee to select officers for the ensuing year. The committee will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building on Friday evening and will report at the annual meeting to be held in the First Reformed church March 13.

her nervous appetite. She always felt hungry, and ate nearly enough for two persons. She soon felt the moving of some creature within her, and the occurrence of her drinking out of the bucket at the well was remembered. Physicians were consulted, and they decided that Miss Moore's body was the dwelling place of a snake. They tried by various methods to kill the reptile, but without success. As she continued to enjoy good health, and for weeks at a time was not bothered by the creature, it was decided best to permit nature to take its course, in hopes the snake would some time come out of its own accord.

Years passed on, but the snake continued to make its abode in the young woman. Once when she ate honey it crawled up into her mouth and part way out between her lips. Its body was not more than a quarter of an inch thick, there were no eyes and the general color was green. Her mother grasped the hideous reptile and attempted to pull it out altogether, but the slithering body slipped through her hands and down the girl's throat as though it had been greased. Miss Moore frequently ate honey after that in hopes of the snake again making its appearance, but it never came up further than her mouth.

One day while in bed she was awakened in her sleep by something cold crawling over her breast. She screamed and the snake quickly drew itself back in her mouth and down her throat.

Late Saturday night she was seized with a choking sensation, which came on during the night, and she lay in bed, and early Sunday morning the snake crawled out of her mouth several inches. With great presence of mind she closed her teeth on the body of the repulsive creature and ran to her mother, who succeeded in entirely relieving her daughter of the unwelcome tenant. The snake was fifteen inches long, and died a few minutes after being in the air. Miss Moore fainted several times on Sunday, and during the night bled profusely. Her stomach refuses to hold food except in liquid form. She is 30 years old and weighs 135 pounds, and until the present time has enjoyed exceptionally good health.

A MULE-FOOTED HOG.

Here is the queer member drawn from Nature.

The following communication to the St. Louis Republic is dated Rodney, I. T., January 31. The foot mentioned therein was duly received and the picture made from it. The hog to which the foot belonged was evidently converted into pork. Here is the letter:

"I have noticed within the last three months several communications to your valuable paper in regard to the 'mule-footed' hog of this territory. During the six months of my residence here at this place I have been often informed that hogs of this kind were numerous throughout this part of the Choctaw country, both domesticated and in a wild state, but I had not been able until today to see a specimen of this 'mule-footed' hog. A citizen brought two hogs to town and they were brought by one of our employes. One of them was an ordinary, everyday hog, but the other had the feet of a mule. I send you by express a foot taken from this hog and if any of your readers are skeptical on this subject, you will have the evidence at hand to convince them that such an animal as this is to be found in the Indian territory."

Reverend Jokers.

In a certain western town, according to the Coxon Sittings, the clergy of the various religious sects were very tolerant toward each other. On the occasion of the Jewish rabbi's silver wedding, he invited the Protestant clergyman, and also the Catholic priest. While the reverend clergymen were enjoying the good cheer set before them, the Catholic priest said to the rabbi: "I know that you are a very liberal-minded gentleman, but could you kindly permit me to eat pork?" "Certainly I could," replied the rabbi, "at least on one occasion."

And that would be?

"At the marriage dinner of your reverence."

Every Man in His Trade.

A Yarmouth captain thought himself a handy fellow with a paint brush. He decided to put the name of his schooner on her bow, and as he could not reach high enough from a boat and did not wish to swing a stage, he leaned over the bow and thus did the lettering. He went ashore, after doing the work on one side, to view the effect from a distance, and this is what his astonished eyes beheld: "YIPPOK."

A Fair's Walking Stick.

Some ingenious contrivances are used by the trades. The latest is an ordinary walking stick, but is so arranged that by pressing a spring at the handle the ferule will spread apart and form a sort of spring tip that will take hold of anything that is within reach.

The Modern Invalid.

Has failed medically, in keeping with other invalids. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really to be consulted a physician, if consulted he will use the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

COL. SULLOWAY SPEAKS.

What a Colonel of Gen. McClellan's Staff Says.

He Saved President Lincoln From Capture.

He Was the Preserver Also of John Jacob Astor.

Col. William A. H. Silloway is sixty years old. He resides at Bellevue Park, Va., and is connected with the Bellevue Falls Turf. He has something of the most vital interest to say to his fellow soldiers of the U. S. A., and to his fellow men the world over.

In "Rifle Shots and Bullet Shells" there can be found a sketch of Colonel Silloway, wherein it is shown he indirectly saved the Union, when, in 1863, he prevented the capture of Lincoln by the confederates. He also saved John Jacob Astor from a similar fate in 1862, in the Peninsula campaign. Colonel Silloway served four years, and eight months in the army and navy during the war, and from April, 1861, to February, 1863, he served his country without pay or reward of any kind.

He knew all the union generals and Secretary Stanton and Mr. Welles. He was lieutenant colonel on General McClellan's staff in 1862. Colonel Silloway is a practical printer, engineer and linguist. He has set up work in Greek, French, Spanish, Latin and Hebrew. He was employed during five years at Oxford, Eng., on Honan's Greek Bible. And that, in 1859, the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him. His first wife was a daughter of Sir Richard Houghton. His present wife is a relative of the Hon. William M. Evans, and a very gifted lady.

Colonel Silloway is a very modest man, and only consented to talk with the writer after it was shown that it would be criminal for him to keep his knowledge to himself while others suffered.

So here is his story as it fell from his lips. He saw it written out and he indorsed every word of it.

"On the 19th of April, 1861, I enlisted in the army of the north. I weighed 162 pounds. After serving four years and eight months in the army and navy, and suffering from wounds and rheumatism, I was discharged. I weighed the mule-footed 100 pounds. Every year I had attacks of nervous prostration; shortness of breath and loss of appetite were not the least of my misfortunes. I tried numberless things. Nothing did me any good.

"While employed in Boston, I was compelled to resign my position on account of ill health. I consulted several eminent physicians and took their medicines. No use—I grew worse day after day. They told me I could not live. I could not walk along the street without falling or clinging to railings. At times I would shake and twitch. Had spells of falling down in the office and on the street. In the house I had to lie down or drop down. Several times I believed I was at death's door.

"I had been commander of three different U. S. R. posts and my comrades advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I bought a bottle and when I had taken two-thirds of it I began to improve. I kept on taking it, improving all the time. I now weigh 130 pounds and feel like my old self again.

"You can put it in your paper that I attribute my good health to nothing but Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I am perfectly satisfied that it saved my life. I am 60 years of age, but as you can see for yourself, I am as active as a man of 40 and can do a good day's work as a people here well know. My friends in Boston, New York and other places are surprised at my recovery. Indeed, I am surprised myself to be so well. I advise every body afflicted by any of the troubles of the Nervura blood and nerve remedy at once."

"At this season of the year when everybody needs and is using a spring medicine we advise the use of this wonderful health restorer. It is by all odds the best spring medicine ever discovered, and immediately invigorates the blood, strengthens the nerves and restores a healthy action of all the organs.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy is as healthy as the good, and is a purely vegetable. It costs $1 per bottle. Physicians recommend it to their patients as a safe and reliable medicine. It is the discovery of that eminent specialist, Dr. Greene, who can be consulted personally or by letter at 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41, 43, 45, 47, 49, 51, 53, 55, 57, 59, 61, 63, 65, 67, 69, 71, 73, 75,
