

GOLD WILL BE USED

Cleveland Has Announced His Financial Policy.

PARITY TO BE PRESERVED

He Wants the Paper and Congress to Help the Administration Out of a Hole.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—To a representative of the United press the president said tonight: "The inclination on the part of the public to accept newspaper reports concerning the intentions of those charged with the management of our national finances seems to justify my emphatic contradiction of the statement that the redemption of any kind of treasury notes except in gold, has at any time been determined upon or contemplated by the secretary of the treasury or any other member of the present administration. The president and his cabinet are absolutely harmonious in the determination to exercise every power conferred upon them to maintain the public credit, to keep the public faith to preserve the parity between gold and silver, and between all financial obligations of the government. While the law forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month, provides that the secretary of the treasury, in his discretion, may redeem in either gold or silver, the treasury notes given in payment of silver purchases are the declaration of the policy of the government to maintain the parity between the two metals and to regulate their redemption in gold.

CHANDLER ON CLEVELAND.

If Gold Takes a Premium the President is Hated.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Senator Chandler has some positive views on the financial and other questions of the day. "I can state the position I take," said the senator, "in a single proposition and that is that the secretary of the treasury ought to use the hundred millions of the reserve if it becomes necessary, and not issue any bonds until he is obliged to. That large fund was made to be used; that is what it is there for, and it should be called upon before any other steps are taken. The law requires national banks to retain 10 per cent of their earnings for the purpose to be used in an emergency; and why should not the government resort to the same policy? I am afraid that gold will soon go to a premium and the country be forced to a silver basis."

WILL LOSE MR. WINBLOW.

The English Embassy Will Have a New Secretary.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The elevation of the British legation in Washington to the grade of embassy will lead to the departure from this country of one of the best known and most efficient members of the diplomatic corps in this city—the Hon. Michael H. Herbert, first secretary of the legation. Mr. Herbert was promoted to his present position from that of second secretary in May, 1892, after the departure of the late Henry C. Edwards, who was also promoted to the position of first secretary of the British embassy. He was chosen over a number of other eligibles under a belief that his acquaintance with American affairs would make him of special value to the legation. It is the testimony of those who have come in contact with Mr. Herbert that his services have fully vindicated the judgment of those who selected him; but he is so far from the head of the list of first secretaries of legations as to practically preclude the possibility of his promotion to the first secretaryship of the embassy.

REPECT OF DEATH.

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The chief of police of this city has notified by the Wheeling authorities to be prepared for the arrival of the ocean steamer Andes, in this city tomorrow morning, as the crowd on the boat was drunk and rioting. The police authorities have detailed a squad of officers to await the landing of the boat. The Andes left Pittsburgh last night for a trip to Steubenville, Ohio, Wheeling and Moundsville, W. Va. She had 700 persons aboard, comprising the worst element of the two cities in this city. There were forty barrels of beer and one barrel of whiskey on the steamer. By the time the boat reached Wheeling the crowd was very drunk and disorderly, and the entire police force was called out to keep those of the excursionists that got off the boat there, within bounds. The band that accompanied the boat left the party at Steubenville. Fights were in progress at all times and blood flowed as freely as beer. It is reported two men fell off the boat at Steubenville and were drowned. When the boat reached Wheeling, on her way to Moundsville, the crowd on board began to riot. Women were running around in a half-nude condition; men and women were occupying state rooms indiscriminately, and the balance were fighting or acting in the gutter. The police were unable to control the riot. The boat left Wheeling at 10 o'clock on her return trip to Pittsburgh. Reports from Wheeling say that such scenes of disorder have never before been witnessed and that murder may be committed before the boat reaches this city in the morning.
