been in vain. For although we cannot see the results as plainly as we could wish, perhaps still it is not for the results alone we must work, but to continue to work day after day, gradually teaching the child to see and do the right.

We can see great improvements in the children. They have grown less selfish, more self-reliant, and are happier and brighter. We have grouped the work of the year around the seasons, festivals and birthdays. Through stories, songs and games we have tried to interpret their meaning.

The kindergarten opened one week earlier than the public schools this year. For this reason the first week's attendance was very small. The second week, however, thirty-two bright little faces filled our circle.

We first emphasized the family thought. Many of the little children had never left their mothers before, so with stories and songs we talked of their homes and made them feel that the kindergarten is a home also.

This year we talked a great deal about Columbus, his early life, voyages and discoveries. The Indians and their habits and the world's fair were also discussed.

Then came the autumn thought, with the gathering and storing of fruits, vegetables and grain. The habits of animals in providing for winter; also, where we get our coal and wood. From this we led up to the higher thought of how these things are provided, and by whom.

We told of the first Thanksgiving day—its difference from our's. The children were given a Thanksgiving dinner by the ladies of the circle. Then, too, they brought donations of potatoes, apples, etc., to be given to those less fortunate than themselves.

The next festival was Christmas. We taught the children to help and to do for others so that by Christmas day they fully understood the joy there is in giving.

Their parents were invited to a Christmas tree, Christmas morning, trimmed with presents made by the children; each child received a present from the circle.

Work of the New Year. After two weeks' vacation the baby, New Year came. Then we took up the trade life, and the children were for a time cobblers, carpenters and blacksmiths. They visited a cobbler one morning and received a practical illustration of how their shoes are made.

They celebrated St. Valentine's day by making little love tokens for their friends.

Next came Washington's birthday. His character as a hero was emphasized, as was also that of Abraham Lincoln and others.

Next came Easter. Seeds were planted in the kindergarten by the children and watched to see how they grow. Then came the birthday of Frederick Froebel, the founder of the kindergarten. They celebrated this by making chains and flags with the German colors and marching. Then came, bright and sunny, May. The birds, their return and habits were talked about.

was spent in singing and dancing and piano playing. Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Ed Meathway, Fred R. Clark, Al Baxter, Ed Alworth, C. E. Judd and Fred Wilcox. Miss Nellie Newcomb of Cleveland, Miss Louise Stiekney of Grand Haven, Miss Stella Paine of Toledo, the Misses Masel and Helen Lilly, Miss Gertrude Gay, Dr. P. Linley Hoag, Dr. J. Ward House, C. W. Carman, Orrin Ward, Walter Maech and Charles Paine. Mrs. Fred S. Clark captured the palm prize for the women and Walter Maech for the men.

Mrs. White's Dinner. On Saturday evening, June 10, Mrs. T. Stewart White gave a dinner at her home in honor of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Corine M. Hindill to Charles Fox. Plates were laid for fourteen and dinner was announced at 7 o'clock. The dining room was decorated in white and gold, and bride's roses were in profusion. The cards were in the form of hearts with pictured cupids dressed in fashionable attire.

On the cards were love verses selected as being especially adapted to the personality of each guest. The guests were: Miss Willard of Pittsburg, Miss Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barnhart, Oliver O. P. Hughart, Ph. C. Fuller and Roland Rowe. Mrs. White was gowned in an exquisite cream-colored crepe. Miss Hindill wore virgin white of dotted muslin and pink roses. Miss Putnam a beautiful imported green shaded silk with plaid sleeves, in the same tints; Mrs. Barnhart a white satin with the bodice covered with roses; Miss Willard blue crepe, and Miss Parker canary colored silk.

Winegar-Party. At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Pearl of No. 133 Stocking street, Miss Aurilla Pearl was married at 12 o'clock Tuesday, June 13, to Frank Bingham Winegar, June 13, to Frank Bingham Winegar. The marriage ceremony. The bride was attired in her traveling dress of soft brown wool fabric, handsomely trimmed in a corresponding tint. Twenty guests were present. The newly married couple took the afternoon train for Chicago, and are now at the Arlington hotel. They will visit the world's fair, and afterwards travel in Indiana, returning to Grand Rapids July 5. They will be at home after August 1 at No. 83 South Prospect street.

Physical Culture Club. A club of forty young women, calling themselves the Physical Culture club, meet every Monday night for practice in a room on the third floor of the Young Men's Christian Association building. Miss Julia Elliott is their teacher, and on Wednesday evening she entertained the club at her home, No. 81 Henry street. A varied program was given. Miss Lizzie Steinman sang a German ballad, and Miss Margaret Oldham of Wheeling gave some impressive Delarite posing. In a game of conversation, which followed, the Misses Odell and Reed were adjudged the best talkers.

World's Fair Concert. Thursday, June 22, the St. Cecilia society of Grand Rapids will, in accordance to a special invitation received some time ago, give a concert in the Michigan world's fair building. Mrs. Edwin F. Uhl, president of the society, has returned from Chicago, after making the final arrangements for the concert. The members who will participate are Mesdames Frank M. Davis, Andrew Fyfe, Fred G. Aldworth, L. E. Patten, Fred Clark, J. G. Stekotee, Mary Palmer, Claud C. Hopkins, E. Lampkin, and the Misses Berkeley, Maud F. Hughes and Bessie Walker.

Igdrasil Club. The Igdrasil Literary club will hold its regular Friday afternoon meetings throughout the summer. Last Friday afternoon the program had been left to Mrs. Gettie Fuller. The members answered the different authors. Most of the time was given to parliamentary drill. Some lively discussion was called out during the answering of questions from the query box. Visitors are welcome to these meetings, which are held at No. 212 North Prospect street.

Burley, daughter of Cornelius Burley, of No. 143 Livingston street, was married at the family residence on Wednesday evening, June 11, to John Vander Kolb of Grand Haven. The bride's party, the Rev. Dr. Sanford H. Cobb, pronounced the ceremony. Thirty guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Vander Kolb left on their bridal tour to Milwaukee and Chicago. They will return in two weeks to Grand Rapids and will receive their friends at No. 143 Livingston street.

Patterson-Fisher. Miss S. Esther L. Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Fisher, was married to E. W. E. Patterson, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, No. 107 Charles street. The Rev. John Heritage of the Wealthy Avenue Baptist church performed the ceremony.

Chapin-Pearce. Miss Hattie Pearce, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Pearce of No. 307 East Bridge street, was married at 8 o'clock Monday night to Theodore R. Chapin of Chicago, the Rev. Goodwin performing the ceremony. The bride wore pale cerise silk draped in lace. The bridesmaid, Miss Mildred Williams of Hastings, wore a costume like the bride's, except the color, pure white. There were twenty guests present at the ceremony and wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Chapin will receive their friends after July 1 at their home, No. 103 Washington Boulevard, Chicago.

Teachers Enjoy Themselves. The teachers of our public schools, in spite of fatigue and crowded work incident to the close of the year's teaching, are incidentally enjoying many cozy little parties before separating for the long vacation. Miss Annie Blanchard, who is one of the teachers in the Wealthy Avenue school, invited her six associates last Monday night to her home, which is five miles from the city. The Misses Mary L. Berkeley, Lettie H. Adams, Hattie M. Goodrich, Carrie M. Oliver, Martha L. Dole and Bertha Woodbury were her guests.

On Monday evening a pleasant gathering of teachers from the Union and Bridge street schools was entertained to tea by Mrs. Gertrude F. Newton of East Bridge street. Among the teachers present were the Misses Davenport, Parker, Pierce and Keller. Miss Maude Childers was also a guest.

Delightful Party. A party was given at the residence of Mrs. A. A. Barry by Mrs. Logan and Miss Mabel M. Barry. The hostess, in an empire gown and roses, did the honors. Miss Flora Heisted was attired in light green silk; Miss Gracia Richardson in cream and lace, with red roses; Mrs. Oswald in white satin and pink roses; Mrs. Logan looked her prettiest in white, with pink roses; Mrs. Chapman in brown satin, Miss LeGrange in lavender, Miss Grenlich in grey and white crepe, with pink roses; Miss Doherty in white. Among the men were: Messrs. Ballard, Smith, Febrich, Oswald, Shilling, Tyroler, Salm, Chapman, Chamberlin and Herrington.

Engagements Announced. Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Miss Maud Dendendorf and Percy Crowell of Rochester, New York, to take place Thursday evening in the Fountain Street church. Miss Dendendorf is a teacher in the city schools. Frink united in bonds of matrimony Miss Agnes Koehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koehn of North Union street to John Lemke of this city. The bridesmaids were the Misses Minnie Koehn and Mary Adrian, and the groomsmen were Henry Koehn, Jr., and Otto Uecker. Mr. and Mrs. Lemke will live on College avenue.

Discussed the World's Fair. The Reviewers held their closing meeting for the season on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Baker on Madison avenue. The afternoon was spent in giving a symposium on the world's fair, most of the members having recently returned from the great exposition. Mrs. M. J. Smiley gave many items of interest. The club will later on review the great novel "Ground Arms," by Baroness Bertha von Suttner.

Mrs. Hall's Muscular. Mrs. Charles Hall of South Lafayette street, invited about twenty musicians and music lovers to her home Thursday night. The event was in honor of Mrs. Inez Norton Hutton of San Francisco. Among the guests was Mrs. Eliza Scribner. Mrs. Hutton charmed the company by her rendition of an aria from "La Traviata," followed by the new waltz song, "After the Ball."

Unity Conference. The weekly conference meeting of Unity church was held in the parlor of the Young Men's Christian Association building Wednesday evening. The Hon. E. G. D. Holden presented the history of medieval theology. The Rev. Caroline J. Bartlett of Kalamazoo was present and gave an entertaining talk.
