PRINCETON, MINN., FEB. 21, 1895.

HAYWARD should have a new name. The way things look, for him, at present, Hellward would be a good substitute.

THE Alexandria Republican has passed its first annual mile stone, and now stands out as a full-fledged legal newspaper. It is a clean, well-gotten-up paper and richly deserves the liberal patronage that its advertising columns show.

THE council of Stillwater have passed an ordinance prohibiting children, under sixteen years of age, from running around the streets after nine o'clock in the evening. The ordinance is a move in the right direction. Why not try it in Princeton?

THE junketing committee of the legislature had a very pleasant time during their visit to the State Reform School. That institution is crowded and more room is needed. Otherwise, some of the legislative districts would probably be shy a member or so.

DR. KEELY, the jag cure man, says "Grip can be easily cured by taking four grain doses of asafoetida four times per day for a few days." Asafoetida is like a certain kind of cheese, more on the smell than it is on the taste. It is a remedy well worth trial.

THE State senate did the proper thing last week by unanimously passing a law making husband and wife both liable for the wages of their servant girls.—Slayton Gazette.

Let that bill become a law. It is a step in the right direction. It will find unfavorable comment only in the language and acts of those people who make such legislation necessary.

THE failure of the Whitmore Bros. in the milling business at Montevideo, is a hard blow to that community. From the Leader it appears that the assets are $24,000 in excess of the liabilities. With this preponderance in their favor, it is hoped that some means may be derived for the continuation of the business under the old firm name.

A GOODLY number of exchanges have favored us with words of encouragement since we began work as editor of this paper. The Minnetonka News of last week added another paragraph which is very much appreciated. Bob's shoes are big ones, and we can not fill them, but while we hold our present position, an honest effort will be made to get out a partially respectable UNION.

IN many States, the law makes $5,000 the maximum amount to be collected from a railroad in case of death by accident on the road. There should be no limit whatever placed on the value of human life. When people are crushed to death by negligence, or carelessness, the penalty should be such that every available means will be taken to prevent the recurrence of such dreadful calamities. A great many of the shocking disasters are traceable to neglect, and when that is the case, the companies should pay roundly for them.

THE State census will be taken this year. About sixty thousand dollars will be required to enumerate the 1,640,000 souls in this rapidly growing State. Sixty thousand dollars distributed to probably 1,500 men, as enumerators, and for other incidental expenses, is not money foolishly expended. "It is a good thing, push it along." An official showing, as the completed census will give, of the development of our State within the past five years will be worth more as an inducement to promote immigration and influx of capital than any other thing outside of the political complexion of the State. This is no dream, but an actual corker.
