It causes the liver to throw off its bile. It cleans out the entire stomach and bowels, ridding them of all effete, offensive and slimy mucous, worms and other vermin. Cure begins with the first dose. Certain as the law of gravitation.

Physiologists from the blood, liver and tissues all worn-out particles and impurities, without weakening but strengthening instead, and restores the nerves. Secures sleep, appetite, flesh, strength, comfort, freshness and bloom—in a word HEALTH.

It makes pure and rich blood, renovates the tissues, dissipates gloom and "the blues," builds up the nerves and renews life, so to speak, in the enfeebled, the careworn, the diseased.

Aided by the experience of a lifetime in his enormous private practice, and the latest and constant contributions to exact science in the healing art, Dr. Fenner is enabled to present such a remedy. I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle absolutely cured me. I have not had a good health for twenty years. Respectfully, MRS. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. Sold by C. A. Jack, Druggist.

Lady Harberton is the most aggressive bloomer in England. She blooms on all occasions, and in every place where she can wedge herself, insisting that the world shall accept her trousers whether it will or not. She strode into a London hotel not long ago, and was there refused service by a maid on account of her blooms, whereupon she sued the proprietress of the hotel. The defense said it would have hurt the business of the house to have tolerated her, and the jury agreed with the defense. Lady Harberton has now added a martyr's crown to her already unique wardrobe.

Mr. P. Ketcham, of Pike City, Cal., says: "During my brother's late sickness from sciatic rheumatism, Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by C. A. Jack, Druggist.

Many broad minded physicians are using Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Syrup in their practice. They have found no remedy that gave as satisfactory results for all throat and lung complaints as this great cough medicine. Price 25 and 50c bottle. C. A. Jack, Druggist.

The Death in the Chair.

The execution of Mrs. Martha M. Place was a triumph of grisly justice. To even write about the carrying out of the death penalty upon a woman is not a pleasant task, but justice is not instituted to furnish pleasure. There are some dire tasks which fall to the community no less than to the individual that we must contemplate with our teeth set and our resolution unbent. The law claimed and took its victim in spite of the most energetic and tireless efforts to save her. Every argument that the emotion of pity or horror could furnish was brought to bear, and a large part of the community, which is too busy with its pleasures to waste much sympathy upon the victims of the murderer, found time to appeal in behalf of the murderer. The result is a vindication of the law and a fresh respect for justice, which reassumes a new phase of inevitableness and majesty. The law is no respecter of persons, was what the governor of New York said when appealed to. The well being of the community must be safeguarded, even if sentiment is outraged, was what he meant to say. On the whole, it is a healthy return to the rigid defensive measures which society has established for its own protection. That the advancing temper of civilization is against capital punishment and that capital punishment will ultimately be modified are not at all to the point. Whatever the penalty for murder may be, let it be inflicted justly and impartially upon offenders after due conviction, without regard to other considerations than those of justice to the innocent.

BOGUS BROOK.

S. C. Nelson went to Minneapolis Saturday, to look for a job. John Hallstrom, who recently came up from Minneapolis, is now busy building a house on his farm. Judging from various expressions made about our weather, the prospects for a good corn crop are not very bright at present. The Sunday school picnic held at Chris Halvorson's, Whit Sunday was well attended, although the weather was not very favorable for out door pleasures. The children's program arranged by their energetic instructor, Mr. Edeson, was a splendid success and the tables were laden with all kinds of delicious eatables. There was no reason to complain so all were satisfied a good day was spent. TIM.
