No Remedy For Wounded Feelings. The supreme court of Michigan has just handed down a decision which declares that the law furnishes no remedy for wounded feelings.

The case in question was this: The plaintiff was the widow of a man prominent in Michigan politics. After his death a cigar manufacturer put on the market a cigar labeled with the name and likeness of the deceased politician.

All men are not possessed of the same delicacy of feeling or the same consideration for the feelings of others. These things depend greatly upon the disposition and education.

The law in most states makes libelous anything "tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead." There was nothing libelous in the use of the picture of this Michigan politician on a cigar label.

In forming an estimate of the Boer character one must take into account the strong religious admixture which obtains therein and which is a factor not to be ignored in the present hostilities.

Kansas is now the enthusiasm and noise center of the universe. General Funston and the Twentieth Kansas volunteers have returned from their valorous campaign in the Philippines.

A recent cablegram from Berlin announces the purpose of the German government to reorganize its entire consular service with sole reference to commercial interests of the country.

Vermont is not likely to get over throwing bouquets at herself for several hundred years for having produced George Dewey. Why, indeed, should she? The state that produces such specimens as the hero of Ticonderoga and the hero of Manila and a whole lot of other heroic "Green Mountain boys" has a good deal to her credit.

As news of late events in this country is wafted over to Manila Hobson is probably busy telling himself what he would do if he was in Dewey's place.

Even Dewey is not without enemies. Some persons propose to make a scrapbook of all the poetry written about the admiral and send it to him.

The Case of the Scotsman. That men and women should be robbed and treated with gross indignities off the coast of Newfoundland because there is a strike at Liverpool seems rather singular.

The steamship company doubtless can be held for the valuables stolen from the passengers or thrown into the sea, but no financial consideration can compensate them for the indignities and sufferings.

The University of Virginia has just paid a fitting tribute to the memory of Edgar Allan Poe, once a student of that institution, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of the poet's death.

It is reported that President McKinley in his next message to congress will lay much stress on the need for a cable line across the Pacific and will again ask congress to authorize the laying of such a cable.

The Minnesota Valley Historical society has decided to build a granite shaft 52 feet high to the memory of Indians who befriended white settlers during the Sioux rebellion of 1862.

A Pennsylvania woman has recently become a mother for the twenty-fifth time. Assuming that a fair proportion of her children are boys, she ought to be able to command the solicitude and consideration of Pennsylvania politicians without much trouble.

Oom Paul may trust in Providence without injuring his chances, but it will be well for him not to get Providence confused with certain New York newspapers, which have gratuitously taken upon themselves the task of settling the whole Transvaal trouble.

While President Kruger's favorite beverage heretofore is said to have been lemonade, he is now partial to Orange Juice.
