The book of books teaches us to live for others. Those who do this make the most of life.

Many appreciative words are spoken of the instructors in the summer school. I wish particularly to mention Mrs. C. E. Guthrie.

One young lady said in my hearing "Life has seemed almost a dream, in fact scarcely worth living till I met Mrs. Guthrie and heard her address to the young woman's christian temperance union."

Several said "what a chance she must have had to be so competent." But how many have taken three years work in one and passed in seventeen subjects because they were determined to fit themselves for higher work.

Her mother was a noble christian woman who died and left a large family. The seven girls all became teachers. The father is still doing a lucrative business.

The self-made man and woman always find a place among the best in this busy world. We make our own chances if we succeed.

If the readers of the Youths Companion will read the story, (in March 15 number) "Cupid the Freshman Manager," you can be introduced to one of the three brothers of Mrs. C. E. G. A boy who has taken Jesus as his guide and lived an earnest christian, not ashamed to have it known that he was a church member, neither was he afraid to decide against what was wrong in principle, though all stood against him for a time.

Pride too often stands in the way, to begin at the bottom is unpopular. Not so with the hero of this story—he started out for himself without a cent. He took the first work offered him and was so faithful in the discharge of duty as office boy that he soon found a better position.

At 15 he was express manager from Pipestone to Heron Lake with a salary of $45 per month. The mail clerk on the train was an old soldier, in feeble health and young Stephen Hart with his heart in the right place, used to help throw mail until he learned to do it so quickly and well and relieved the sick man so much that he urged upon him half his salary of $120 per month.

Finally when the Soldier's Home claimed the worn out veteran, Cupid took his work in connection with his own, receiving full pay. Later he took the required examinations and got a seventeen hours run from LaCrosse, Wis., to Woonsocket, S. D., with a salary of $1,000 a year for half his time.

In the two weeks he had for himself he employed a private tutor and prepared himself for college, saving in the mean time sufficient means to take him five years to N. W. University, Evanston, Ill.

This is written to encourage boys. The classmate who wrote the story appreciated the manliness in Stephen Hart.

The world appreciates true manhood. There is room for all at the top. Jesus our elder brother helps us to climb the ladder step by step. How many young men everywhere need his help. Truly the harvest is great. Who will help reap for eternity?

A "Woman's Rights Person."

An old Virginia gentleman arose in a car the other day and with a great flourish of his slouch hat offered his seat to a beautiful and handsomely dressed woman.

"Take my seat, madam," he politely requested. The lady demurred. "Take my seat, I beg of you, madam," he insisted. "I could not allow a lady to stand, unless," he added under his breath, "she was one of those women's rights persons."

The lady bristled visibly. "I," she said in a freezing tone—"I am a 'woman's rights person.'"

"Take my seat just the same, madam," said the gallant old gentleman smilingly. "You are too good looking to be suspected of it if you hadn't confessed."—Leslie's Weekly.

Makes Brilliant Flames. People who live on the New England coast like to use ocean driftwood as fuel in open fireplaces. It is impregnated with copper and ocean salts and when burned gives out the most brilliant colored flames. It is asserted that a New Bedford dealer has orders for the wood from all parts of the country, and even from Europe, and ships hundreds of barrels of it yearly.

Various attempts have been made to imitate this wood by artificial process, but without success. Long submersion in the sea water is necessary to produce the brilliant flames.—New York Tribune.

Prevented a Tragedy. Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her; and she writes, this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of its power to cure all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. A. Jack's drug store.
