No Republican can afford to bolt any of the Republican legislative candidates—the next legislature elects a United States senator.

If there is such a thing as Republican failure in this election, it will be due solely to the lassitude and indifference of Republican voters. On a full vote this State is safely Republican by a majority of not less than 40,000, and all that is necessary to insure Republican success is to get the Republican voters to the polls.

It is conceded by Duluth Democrats that Page Morris will have a big majority in that city and St. Louis county over Truelson. In the district at large, with the possible exception of Stearns county, Mr. Truelson is no stronger than Towne was, hence there cannot be much room for doubt as regards the result in November.

THE UNION extends congratulations to Miss Bird Craig over her nomination to the office of superintendent of schools by the Republicans of Sherburne county, and the Sherburne county Republicans are to be congratulated on having such an excellent candidate. Now it is in order for the gallant Democrats of that county to endorse Miss Craig and make it unanimous.

ALBERT BERG, the big fat secretary of state, is making a tremendous campaign for the legislature in the 63rd district, where he is campaigning along with Congressman Eddy, and is said to be making a very favorable impression among the voters of his new home. It is said that Gov. Lind has served notice on his friends to defeat Berg at any cost but that seems not to have had any marked effect upon the big fellow, who is pursuing the even tenor of his way and making a winning fight.

E. W. RANDALL should be retained in his position as secretary of the State fair association for life or as long as he cares to hold the place. It is mainly owing to Mr. Randall's untiring energy that the fair has been lifted (financially) out of the slough of despond and placed on a solid paying basis, and what is better, the fair, under his intelligent planning, is growing more attractive and popular each recurring year. As secretary of the State fair Mr. Randall is certainly the right man in the right place.

CHAIRMAN JONES, of the Democratic national committee, has figured out that "if" the rest of the country shows a Republican loss in proportion to that of Maine, and "if" the loss is distributed in just the right way, and "if" the Democrats make gains proportionate to the Republican losses, and "if" Bryan carries Indiana, the Democrats will win in the election this fall. "If" this is all the encouragement the Democrats have, they will do well to take one final tap at the Tammany barrel and go out of existence as a national party.

THERE is not half as much talk now about imperialism as there was 32 years when the country was undergoing the reconstruction process after the civil war. Then, as now, there were a few timid ghost dancers who cried "imperialism" and declared that the Republican leaders were driving the country on to empire and threatening the dissolution of the republic. The country lived through that period, and came out of it greater and grander than ever, just as it will live through this and come out of it the first nation of the world and the best governed under the sun.

WHENEVER we hear a man say that he is going to vote the Democratic ticket in the hope that the Democratic party will "do something on the trust question," it seems to bring to mind the case of the man who rushed into a drug store with a pain in his stomach and grabbed the first bottle he came to for relief. It did not matter to him what there was in the bottle—he was willing to take chances on it because he was in pain. To submit the trust question to adjustment at the hands of the Democratic party, which, since the day of its birth has never done anything but tear down, would be just as foolish as for a man to select the medicine that he takes by the color of it. There is a possibility that it might afford relief, but it is 16 to 1 that the remedy would be worse than the disease.

REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

The Republican legislative convention for the 45th district, which was held at Elk River last Thursday, simply ratified the action of the several county conventions by nominating Henry Lee of Anoka, N. K. Hunt of Sherburne, and Emmet Mark of Mille Lacs—Isanti has the senator and had no candidate for the house. At each of the county conventions, as well as at the district convention, resolutions endorsing Senator Knute Nelson and instructing the nominees, if elected, to vote for him and use all honorable means to secure his return to the United States senate were unanimously adopted; in addition to the public instructions each of the nominees is personally pledged to work and vote for Mr. Nelson.

Mr. N. K. Hunt, of Haven, Sherburne county, is an intelligent, progressive farmer and is the right kind of a man to send to the legislature. He will make an excellent representative.

Mr. Henry Lee is cashier of the Anoka State bank and is also engaged in agricultural pursuits. He has served three consecutive terms as treasurer of Anoka county to the entire satisfaction of his constituents. He is a well-informed gentleman and his large experience in county affairs will enable him to talk and vote intelligently in the legislature on matters pertaining to taxation and county and township measures.

Mr. Emmet Mark, the Mille Lacs county candidate, is not the man the UNION would have selected for the place, but he is the choice of the Republicans of the county and is entitled to the support of the Republicans of the district. Mr. Mark is an extensive dealer in horses and cattle and a wide-awake business man. He does not pretend to be much of an orator or scholar, but he is endowed with a large amount of good common sense and will hold his own with the average legislator. On the whole the ticket is a good one and undoubtedly all three of the nominees will be elected by safe majorities.

THERE is cause for congratulations in a great many of the districts where the Republican conventions have been held to nominate candidates for the legislature. There was at one time a great deal of danger that the Democrats would take advantage of the primaries to run in "soft shells" and "half-baked" on the Republican legislative ticket for the purpose of creating a deadlock in the senatorial election. So far as heard from the conspirators have met with very poor success in their attempts, and the nominations thus far made appear to have been generally quite satisfactory.

THE Democrats are very much disposed to howl their anathemas at the senate of 1899 because of the failure of that body to act as Democrats now talk. The Democrats have no occasion to boast of their reputation in the senate. The bill to reduce the interest on deferred payments on school lands, which was one of the most important measures before that body, and one which most directly interested the farmers of the State, was defeated because of a Democratic caucus, in which that wing of the senate decided to act as a unit against the bill. Even on the gross earnings tax the Democrats have no license to say very much, because their percentage of opposition to the bill was fairly well maintained with that of the Republicans. When it comes to talking about boodlers in the legislature, the Democrats had best keep quiet.

COL. BRYAN is having troublesome times in his round of speaking. His worst difficulty seems to be to establish a paramount issue that will remain roped long enough for him to get firmly established astride of it. In his acceptance speech he paramounted the issue of imperialism, and threatened to stick to it until the cows came home. In his travels through the east and south he has found that the bugaboo of imperialism does not scare the people as badly as he expected that it would, and he now shows a disposition to switch to the trusts. As he drifts further west, he switches again from the trusts to free silver, and when he swings around to the north, he gets onto the declaration of independence and rides it until its ribs fairly stick through its hide. On the whole, we should say that Col. Bryan is straining both his physical constitution and his intellectual capacity in the effort to ride three or four horses going in different directions.

THE new primary law resulted in the nomination of Dr. Ames on the Republican ticket for mayor of Minneapolis. The primary law has evidently accomplished the re-election of "Jimmy" Gray.

WHAT EDITORS SAY

Paragraphs Collected at Our Exchange Table.

BACK IN THEIR FATHER'S HOME.

The feature of the campaign thus far has been the return everywhere of the Populist and Silver Republicans to their old allegiance. The bulk of the one party and the whole of the other came originally from the Republican strength. The Silver Republican party has ceased to exist. It was never an organization that amounted to anything, and now those who held it together have quietly dropped out of sight and memory. Two of its members, Senator Teller and Charley Towne, are Bryan Democrats. The rest of them have rejoined the Republican ranks.—Red Wing Republican.

WHAT BRYAN STANDS FOR.

Bryan stands for exploded ideas and repudiated theories. He first advocated free trade, but the country rejected that. He then took up free silver as the issue upon which he hoped to win, and the country wouldn't have it. He is now for free Aguinaldo—free to burn, to loot, to murder, to carry on an anti-foreign war in the Philippines such as the Boxers have been waging in China. And the last end of the eager aspirants for preferment will be worse than the first.—Minneapolis Journal.

HAS MET THEM ALL.

The McKinley administration has not sought to avoid one of the many emergencies which have developed since his inauguration. Are the voters prepared to place the affairs of the government in the hands of a political party that is trying to evade its own platform?—Hubbard County Clipper.

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Senator Johnson, in his St. Peter Herald, says that political economy is the art of getting the most votes for the least amount of money. Johnson has had experience. Therefore his refusal to become the Democratic candidate for congress in the Second district is consistent. There were not enough votes in sight to warrant the expenditure of the money necessary to get them.—St. Paul Dispatch.

COUNTING HIS MAJORITY.

Henry Truelson was the choice of the Democrats for congress at their convention, held at Aitkin, last Wednesday. Aside from the St. Louis county delegation, Truelson had practically no opposition. Baldwin seemed to be an unknown quantity outside of his own county. Baldwin was by far the more capable man and would have given Page Morris a much harder race than the ex-mayor of Duluth can hope to do. Unless the Virginian is greatly mistaken, Page Morris will be elected this fall by over 1,000 majority.—Virginia Virginian.

JUMPED THE JOB.

Charley Towne, who was to have camped on Roosevelt's trail, but decided that it would be better to go ahead and attempt to blow Teddy off the track with hot air blasts about silver, has just been heard from after a strange disappearance of a couple of weeks. He is now on the Pacific coast, where he is perfectly safe, as Roosevelt will not go that far west.—Pioneer Press.

SOMETIMES QUILTS BROWSING.

Colonel Watterson's estimate of Richard Croker is delicately set forth in the following paragraph in a recent issue of the Courier Journal: "Croker now thinks he would like to exhibit himself in the United States senate. This is singular modesty. The natural assumption would be that Croker would buy him a little United States senate and add it to his string of race horses and kennel of bull pups." The colonel is back in the pasture but every little while he tries to nose a rail off the fence.—Minneapolis Times.

BRYAN AND BONDS.

The Democrats are doing their best in the eastern states to run away from the free silver issue. They try to allay the fears of those who know what disaster would be wrought by the adoption of Bryan's financial ideas by saying he could do no harm with a Republican senate to prevent free silver legislation. The New York Herald, an anti-expansion paper, put the question squarely to Bryan whether, in the event of his election, he would pay the "coin bonds" in silver, but he hasn't answered the question. When approached about it he refused to be interviewed upon that question. He does not dare come out and say yes or no.—Todd County Argus.
