CHAPTER XVI.

Griswold had landed in Wahaska on the day following his flight from St. Louis, too ill to care much about anything. But he was sane enough to find a bank, to rent a safety deposit box and to lock the treasure into it before he resigned himself to the inevitable, allowing himself to be put to bed in his room at the St. James, with hot water bottles at his feet and a bag of chopped ice on his head.

For a fortnight he hung tremulous on the verge of collapse, and was kept from tumbling in only by a just horror of being seriously ill in a hotel. At the end of the fortnight he made shift to go out and find a boarding place; and the effort, coupled with the conviction that he might safely trust himself in the hands of motherly Mrs. Holcomb, pushed him over the verge.

Here Dr. Farnham found him tossing in delirium, and his verdict was promptly pronounced. "Typhoid-malaria, Mrs. Holcomb; and a relapse, at that. What are you going to do with him?"

"What should I do but take care of him?" said the motherly one. "You can't do it alone; it's no woman's job."

"Then we must get a man. There's Sven Oleson; he's out of work." The doctor smiled. "Nobody but you would ever think of making a nurse out of that great, overgrown child. But maybe he'll do. I'll hunt him up and send him over. Where did you say this young man hailed from?"

"New York, he says." "Humph! that's odd. I should say he has been soaking himself full of malaria in the Yazoo swamps. But how about the expenses? Has he any money?"

"Plenty, I think. He paid a month in advance, and when he went to bed he told me where to find his pocket-book."

"Poor fellow! I guess he was glad enough to find somebody he could trust. Well, we'll do what we can for him, and I'll send Sven."

So it came about that the mild-eyed Swede was installed as Griswold's nurse. Luckily Oleson understood but little English, and the sick man's ravings about the bank robbery meant nothing to him; but Dr. Farnham heard them and wondered. Curiously enough a small thing satisfied the wonder, and that was the mention made by Mrs. Holcomb of his patient's calling.

"H—m; an author, is he? That accounts for his harping so continually upon that bank robbery story. It's a part of his plot."

It was the first of May when Griswold took possession of Mrs. Holcomb's spare bedroom; and it was a full month later when Dr. Farnham pronounced him out of danger and in a fair way to recover if he took care of himself.

During the weeks of convalescence he met many of Mrs. Holcomb's friends and neighbors, and among them the Raymers. The mother and daughter came with dainties for the widow's invalid; and later on they brought Edward, who was bookish enough in his leisure moments to be interested in one who was even a potential writer of books.

That acquaintance ripened into friendship, and Griswold's first outing was a ride in Raymer's buggy to the iron works.

Here the two young men met upon new common ground. Raymer was, or he meant to be, a model employer; and when he found that the convalescent was an enthusiastic student of the vexed problem of master and man, he unbosomed himself freely.

Raymer laughed, and then blushed. "They won't be there. That is—Oh pshaw! I suppose I may as well tell you first as last. There are two social cliques here, a big one and a little one. Miss Grierson is la dame d'honneur of the first, and my mother and Gertrude affiliate with the other."

"I see," said Griswold. "And you hold an even balance between the two." "No—not exactly. But I'm under obligations to Grierson, and can't afford to be offish. But Miss Margery is a very clever little person, and well worth knowing on her own account. I'll call by for you with the buggy at nine."

"Thank you," said the convalescent; adding, as if it were an afterthought: "Will Miss Farnham be there?" "Hardly," rejoined Raymer, gathering up the reins. "She is with the minority, too. Queer little world, isn't it? So long, till this evening. Letter go in and lie down awhile."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

A large number of corn harvesters are being sold to farmers in this vicinity this fall. Farmers are finding out the value of corn fodder for feeding stock and are leaving the wire grass alone, as it is on awful lot of bother and has little nourishment to it.

The September sale of the E. Mark Live Stock Co. last Saturday was well attended and quite a good many horses were sold. There was a good cleanup of stock on hand. Six cars of western horses that were expected to arrive in time for the sale were delayed and are expected to get in this week.

The special school meeting called for last Friday night to discuss the question of putting in a heating plant in the Whittier school, was poorly attended. There were just fourteen who attended. A motion was made that a heating plant be put in and the motion prevailed by a vote of nine to four. A motion that bonds to the amount of $2,000 be issued and that the school board advertise for bids was adopted on a viva voce vote. The matter is now up to the school board which will take some action soon.

Company G left this morning for Anoka to join with the members of Company B in a military parade, drill and inspection. The Princeton and Anoka companies belong to the same battalion, and they will be inspected at Anoka by Major E. S. Person of Zumbrota. On Friday of next week the Anoka company will reciprocate by being present and joining with Company G boys in a military parade and drill at the fair grounds. In the evening there will be a grand military ball at the opera house.

Schools opened Monday and at the call of the school bell the school children wended their way to school to take up their studies for another year. There was a friendly greeting by the teachers and in a short time the school rooms looked like old times. There is an increased attendance over a year ago, the enrollment in the two schools being 400. In the high school building the rooms are crowded and many new seats will have to be placed in some of the rooms. In the high school proper there are forty-six students, and the number will probably be increased to fifty in a short time. By Tuesday night the school work was well laid out and teachers and scholars have settled down for good hard work.

Roosevelt Day at St. Paul.

President Roosevelt will be at St. Paul on Sept. 25th, and the Great Northern road will sell half-rate tickets from Princeton to St. Paul and return, good going on Sept. 24th and 25th and good returning on the 26th.

Water Cure For Chronic Constipation. Take two cups of hot water half an hour before each meal and just before going to bed, also a drink of water, hot or cold, about two hours after each meal. Take lots of outdoor exercise—walk, ride, drive. Make a regular habit of this and in many cases chronic constipation may be cured without the use of medicine. When a purgative is required take something mild and gentle like Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Princeton Drug Co.

BLUE HILL.

We had a good rain last Friday. It helped potatoes and corn.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hartman Camp, a nine-pound boy. All doing well.

The grove meeting in the grove of J. Johnson was well attended last Sunday.

Some of our young people were at the dance in Greenbush last Saturday evening.

Wm. Chisholm moved to Milaca last Tuesday. He sold his farm in our town to Mr. Kormann.

Rev. Paul Haight took in the State fair last week, and also visited with his sister and his family in Minneapolis.

At the Galbraith home the ice cream social was a success. The cream proved somewhat chilly, so some ordered it warmed.

The next social at the home of Mr. H. Mergel, will be a poverty social on Sept. 17th. All are invited to come; you must wear your old clothes, and represent poverty. It will be after the primary election. Some will feel poor, anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. Mergel made a start to attend the fair, but at Big Lake Mrs. Mergel was taken very sick, and Friday Mr. Mergel telephoned for Dr. Whittemore of Elk River, who came to attend her. At this writing she is confined to her bed, but is slowly improving at the home of E. L. Morford, near Big Lake.

A Boy's Wild Ride For Life.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma, but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of consumption, pneumonia, bronchitis, coughs, colds and grip prove its matchless merit for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. A. Jack's drug store.

OPSTEAD.

Mrs. John Skretting has gone on a visit to her parents for a few weeks.

The few good rains lately were badly needed as it was getting so dry there was danger of fire.

Haying is about done here. There has been a big crop and there was rather more put up this year than usual.

School commenced here this week with Miss Effie Chapman of Minneapolis as teacher. There will be a seven months' term.

We have noticed that all the bachelors have shaved and put on their best clothes since the new school marm has come. I wonder why.

District No. 15 has put a foundation under the old school house and built an addition, painted it and they now have a fine school house.

The people of this district will try to raise money enough to get a library this winter. It is badly needed and if we all try we surely can raise the amount necessary.

It is a good thing that the Indians are to be moved away as they destroyed nearly all the best white birch on the east side this spring just for the bark. There are acres and acres where the timber is all slashed down.

Was there any money appropriated for the town of East Side? If so we ought to know it, as it is dry now and a good time to work in the wet places. It will soon be late. Why was not the amount stated the same as the other towns?

Our store-keeper, Peter Schlin, and wife have been away for a week's visit to Stillwater and the State fair. Peter says he had a fine time and the fair was the best he had ever seen. Oscar Anderson was head clerk at the store while Mr. Schlin was away and it seemed as if all the young ladies had a great deal of shopping to do. Oscar always was popular with the ladies anyway.

You won't find any ladies at home now days, as there is a large crop of blackberries and each seems to be outdoing the other.

Mr. Hernwall has been harvesting peas and beans and several families have had samples of his fine gardening.

Messrs. Smith and Freer presented a flag pole to the school.

Several Opstead ladies will be fine mule drivers after the experience to and from town Saturday. However no bones were broken.

Anyone finding stray cows will please notify G. W. Freer and he will lay claim to them. Cows were a scarce article on his place Sunday.

Mr. Leland and family who lived on the Chas. Johnson place have moved to Malmo. We are sorry to lose a good neighbor. A certain young man seems quite heart-broken.

RUTABAGA.

A Communication.

MR. EDITOR—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy is for sale by Princeton Drug Co.

GERMANY.

Rob Saxon is building a new barn.

The farmers have begun cutting their corn.

Mr. Bulleigh is building a good root house.

Percy Harter is seen down in this corner lately.

Mr. Carpenter is very busy building a granary.

Miss Ruby Winson is attending school at Princeton.

Vern Mott has bought a new potato digger. It does good work he says.

There were quite a few of the Germany people who attended the State fair.

The potato crop is not going to be as large as reported. Hold your spuds.

J. Saxon has purchased a new potato digger. Now the spuds will catch it.

We should think the young people would think twice before dancing Sundays.

A. G. Larson was out in this vicinity Sunday, and his hand is very much better.

The Germany boys were very busy Sunday tossing the ball around the diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Steeves spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Taber, at Spencer Brook.

Fred Harrington and Leslie Bockoven were out shooting last Sunday and returned with game.

Mrs. J. L. Larson of Princeton, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. L. D. Bockoven, for a few days.

Jim Chisholm is hauling dirt on the corduroy on the Wm. Steeves' road. Let the good work go on. God knows the road needs it.

There was a crowd of young people gathered at the home of Mr. Carpenter last Friday evening, to dance and play games. All report a fine time.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. Louis Larson and L. D. Bockoven and family entertained some of their friends at H. C. Harrington's with a gramophone and a jolly time was had by all.

Not Doomed For Life.

"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Geer, McConnellsville, O., "for piles and fistula, but when all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me in two weeks." Cures burns, bruises, cuts, corns, sores, eruptions, salt rheum, piles or no pay. 25c at C. A. Jack's drug store.

ONAMIA.

Editor Cravens called at Onamia Thursday on his way to the big lake.

G. D. George and M. S. Weide of St. Paul spent Sunday at the lake.

Guy Ewing drove up Monday on a business trip to the lake country.

Mr. Cook of Iowa purchased land in section four near this town yesterday.

James Ward, the well known land man of Milaca, spent Sunday at Onamia.

Gust Johnson who has been harvesting for some time past came home for a week's visit, returning yesterday to North Dakota.

The Indians are all camped on Lake Onamia gathering rice and rice hens. It is needless to say that the squaws gather the rice while the bucks chase the rice hens.

Father Levings of Princeton, accompanied by Mr. Briggs of St. Paul, traffic manager of the Great Northern railway, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the lake.

Mr. Briggs was much pleased with Onamia and its business prospects.

We are pleased to learn that with county appropriations and a public subscription of $800 there will be funds enough to turn-pike the Milaca road as far as Page this fall. That will leave only about eight miles between Page and Hanson brook which is in bad shape.

Mr. Northrup and Mr. McMullan, of Minneapolis, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday at Onamia. Mr. Northrup is the head of the firm of Northrup, King & Co., and Mr. McMullan is street commissioner in Minneapolis, and one of the oldest residents of that city. They were much pleased with the lake country.

A Certain Cure For Dysentery and Diarrhoea. "Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by Princeton Drug Co.

MILo.

Susan has been taking a Rip VanWinkle nap.

A large number of Milo people attended the State fair last week.

Nathan Williams prefers riding on a dry goods box to an easy buggy seat.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen departed last week for their home at Henning.

District No. 6 has improved the looks of its school house by replastering it.

Rick Smith of Foley has been visiting friends and relatives here for a few days.

Rev. John Plummer has been in the neighborhood taking orders for enlarged pictures.

Mrs. Sam Smith and Ben Bradley have been to Morris to make a visit among friends and relatives.

Nathan Williams of Washington was here visiting relatives and returned the later part of last week.

SUSAN.

A Parson's Noble Act. "I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Budlong, of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thoroughly good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles that had caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-around cure they excel anything I ever used." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in liver, kidney and stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 50c's. Satisfaction is guaranteed by C. A. Jack.
