AT LEAST TWENTY PEOPLE PER ISH IN A COLLISION OFF VIP. GINIA COAST.

STEAMER SAGINAW SINKS

CLYDE LINER'S STERN CUT AWAY BY THE HAMILTON IN A VERY DENSE FOG.

ONE LIFEBOAT SWAMPED

FIFTEEN COLORED WOMEN IN THE LITTLE CRAFT FIND WATERY GRAVES.

Norfolk, Va., May 6 .- A collision at sea that cost the lives of twenty or more people and the sinking of the Clyde line steamer Saginaw, by the Old Dominion Steamship company's liner Hamilton, occurred between Winter Quarter Lightship and Fenwick Island lightship on the Virginia coast at 6 o'clock in the morning. The Hamilton left New York Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Norfolk and the Saginaw passed out at the Virbound frem Richmond and Norfolk for Philadelphia. A dense fog settled along the coast shortly after nightfall and while going through this fog at reduced speed the Hamilton crashed into the Saginaw's side about twenty feet from the stern. The scene of the collision is about thirteen or fourteen miles off the shore and between 180 and 200 miles south of New York and between 125 and 140 miles north of Norfolk. The fog whistles of both vessels were distinctly heard by each other for several minutes before the collision occurred. According to Cap-tain Boaz of the Hamilton his ship was making about nine miles an hour and the Saginaw about ten. The fog was so thick that objects a ship length away were invisible, and when the two crafts hove in sight of each other there was but a moment's intervention before they met.

Cuts Saginaw's Stern Away.

The Saginaw veered as did the Hamilton, but they had not time to clear each other and the knife-like steel prow of the southbound vessel struck the Clyde vessel on the port side about twenty feet from her stern. cutting the entire rear of the ship The inrushing water caused away. the Saginaw to settle rapidly in the stern and the impetus of the Hamilton took her out of sight of the crippled vessel. Engines already re-versed, were put full steam to the rear and the Hamilton circled to the scene of the wreck, at the same time lowering her life boats.

Great was the consternation among the passengers of the Old Dominion vessel, and the first thought was for their safety, but it was found the ship was uninjured, save for a few plates stove in. All efforts were then devoted to the rescue of those on the Sagi-

When the Saginaw was again sighted her stern was under water and her stricken people rushed over her decks and scrambled toward the bow. The lifeboats were lowered and into the first fifteen colored women were placed, according to Second Officer F. L. Norris, who was in command. The boat was swamped as it struck the water and its occupants were thrown into the sea. All were drowned save the second officer and the colored stewardess. The latter died before the small boat reached the Hamilton, more from injuries received from the collision than by drowning. She had been held up by First Mate Gesler, who sank himself as the small boat of the Hamilton reached them.

Decks Burst With Loud Report. In the meantime the inrush of water into the bow of the Saginaw had caused the decks to burst with a report like the roar of big guns, and tons of freight soon littered the sea. The struggling people in the water clung with desperation to this freight, and many of them were rescued by boats from the Hamilton.

Before the lifeboats of the Hamilton had reached the Saginaw the latter had disappeared beneath the waves and nothing but her topmasts were visible. To these several persons were clinging, among them being the aged captain. J. S. Snell. was taken off it was found he suffered severe internal injuries.

The passengers and most of the crew of both ships were asleep below when the disaster happened and when the terrible shock and grinding noise awakened them, a panic-stricken rush for safety took place. The discipline of the crew was admirable. "Women first," was the initial command of Captain Tunnel after the lifeboats had been prepared for lowering. The frightened colored women piled into the first boat from the Saginaw and lost their lives.

No Sign of Life Seen.

The Hamilton hung round the scene of the wreck for more than an hour, but no sign of life could be seen amidst the mass of floating

Two bodies, one of a man and the other a woman, both clad only in nightdresses, were observed drifting between bales of cotton and cases of

The first news of the disaster was learned at Old Point, where the Hamilton stopped for a few moments on her way to Norfolk.

She arrived at her pier in this city about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Her bow plates are stove in and much wreckage still clung to her. All of the damage, however, was above the clathing by the passengers and seamen of the more fortunate vessel and a collection was taken up among the passengers to be distributed among It was some time before and definite statement could be secured from the officials of either line regarding the real number of people lost and saved and even now, after official lists have been given out, there is a great discrepancy between the statements of passengers and the official state-

According to the Clyde line officials the names of only eighteen passengers are known, and it is admitted by Second Officer Morris that fifteen colored women, all of whom are now dead, were swamped in the life boat.

The crew of the Saginaw numbered twelve altogether.

OUTSAILS RELIANCE

PEERLESS OLD COLUMBIA DE-FEATS NEW HERRESHOF CUP DEFENDER.

Glen Cove, L. I., May 6.-It required just twenty minutes for the peerless cup defender, Columbia, to demonstrate that in a light wind and beating to windward, she is a better boat than the new Herreshoff cup yacht Reliance. Starting from a position to leeward and slightly astern of Reliance, Columbia sailed through the new boat's lee, tacked across her bow and in the next leg of a mile and a half increased her lead to nearly a quarter of a mile. Reliance then withdrew. When the Columbia went through her lee the Reliance kept off and voluntarily gave up the advantage of her windward position but she was none the less decisively and emphats ically outsailed. This was the first brush between the rivals. The sea was smooth as a pond and both boats carried mainsail, stay sail, working jib and small club topsail. At the start of the race, Reliance was a litprow was high in the air. Panic-bia. Reliance held her position a few tle ahead, and to windward of Columminutes, but as the breeze freshened Columbia drew on her rival in astonishing fashion, ran by her to leeward and in ten minutes was leading the new boat by several lengths. Columbia heeled easily while the Reliance stood up much more stiffly, though carrying more canvas.

Columbia went ahead and steadily drew away, seeming to foot faster and sail closer to the wind. She was a quarter of a mile ahead on the twenty-minute race.

OBTAIN FINAL PERMISSION. Allies' Representatives Authorized to Sign Protocols.

Washington, May 6 .- Final permission has reached the Italian, British and German embassies for the allies' representatives to sign with Mr. Bowen, Venezuela's plenipotentiary, the protocol submitting the question of preferential treatment to The Hague tribunal for arbitration. As soon as the allies' representatives can agree among themselves as to whether The Hague convention shall be signed separately among the three powers o jointly the signatures will occur. On this question, Mr. Bowen has declared himself neutral.

DEFEATS JACK O'BRIEN.

Marvin Hart Pounds the Philadelphia Wonder.

Philadelphia, May 6.-Marvin Hart of Louisville had the better of a six-round fight with "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien here. O'Brien put up a wonderful fight against Hart, who was twenty-four pounds heavier than O'Brien. The Philadelphian had the better of the bout up to the fifth round, when he was almost knocked out by Louisivlle man. In the sixth round O'Brien received severe punishment, and was all but out when the bell sounded.

ARGUMENTS BEGIN IN THE CASE OF FORMER MAYOR AMES OF MINNEAPOLIS.

DISAGREEMENT EXPECTED

Two Men on the Jury Believed to Favor the Noted Defendant-Witnesses

Testify as to the Actions of the Doctor in Favor of the Contention That He Was Insane During the Period He Dealt With Gardner and Norbeck

Minneapolis, May 6.—Arguments in the Ames case began at 10 o'clock this morning. The defense rested at 3:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with a flourish on the insane plea.

Dr. Ames admits nothing. He denies everything. He refuses to be coerced into any admission; he dodges any absolute denial. Dr. Ames is at the mercy of his friends and his lawyers. He is not the man he used to be. Plainly there is foundation for the contention of his attorneys that he was mentally irresponsible when the alleged occurrences took place by which the state seeks to incriminate

Yesterday the defense came out flatfooted on the insanity stand, and put on witnesses who testified to the crazy actions and words of the doctor observed by them during the period in which Gardner and Norbeck claim to have had illicit dealings with

When the state got after these witnesses, however, it began to look black for the defense. All of Erwin's learned talk on "ancestral lesion," and all of the evidence put forth to show that doctor was irresposible when he had his dealings with the self-confessed grafters, melted into nothingness yesterday-or rather melted into a simmering mass of statements to the effect that Dr. Ames was a victim of alcoholism.

Ames Extremely Nervous.

The respondent was extremely nervous on the stand. He replied testily to questions by his own attorneys and by counsel for the prosecution. For the first time during the progress of the trial he has exhibited symptoms bearing out the statements of Attorney Erwin, that his client is a candidate for a padded cell.

The defense confined itself to testimony relative to the character and insanity of Dr. Ames. Some of this was eminently picturesque and showed that the doctor certainly had some hallucinations.

It is expected that the closing ar guments of counsel will consume all of the five hours of today's session, and that the jury will begin its deliberations this evening.

FATHER WALSER RELEASED.

Coroner's Verdict Is That Unknown Person Killed Agatha Reichlin.

Elyria, O., May 6.—At the end of a rather complete investigation into the cause of the death of Agatha Reichlin, who was murdered last Thursday night, Coroner French of gave as his conclusion the verdict: "That Agatha Reichlin came to her death from wounds inflicted by a stone in the hands of a person unknown.' The investigation was held in the presence of a large and deeply interested crowd of witnesses and spectators. The conclusion reached by the coroner resulted in the freeing of Falther Walser from confinement later in the evening. The witnesses examined included policemen who had been called to the Reichlin home at 1:30 Friday morning. and Casimir Reichlin, a brother of the murdered girl. The Rev. Charles Reichlin, another brother, also testifled. The concensus of the testimony of the witnesses was favorable to Fa ther Walser's claim of innocence and in support of the theory that a burglar or some other desperate man had committed the crime. Captain Ketchum of the police testified that the bloodhounds did not pay any more at tention to Father Walser's bed than to the other beds in the house.

Turks and Revolutionists Fight Desperate Battle at Okrina.

Salonica, May 6.-In the engagement between Turkish troops and revolutionists at Okrina, May 2, 70 revolutionists were killed and 21 were wounded, while the Turks had 100 killed and 10 officers and 6 men wounded.

After an interview with the governor general, the British and Italian consuls here have expressed themselves as satisfied with the precautionary measures taken. All foreign consulates and banking establishments are guarded by troops, while the streets are patrolled constantly.

Vienna, May 6.—An unconfirmed rumor is current here that Albanians have murdered the Turkish general of the Uskab district.

COMPLETES ITS WORK.

Joint Committee Favors Merger of Labor Unions.

Milwaukee, May 6.—The joint committee of the International Association of Sheet Metal Workers and the American Alliance of Sheet Metal Workers, which has been in session several days deliberating over the question of merging the two bodies, has completed its work. The changes consist of a revision of the constitution and must be ratified by the international congress now in session before the report can be accepted. Indications point to a ratification of the report unanimously.

MOURN THEIR DEAD.

Methodist Bishops Hold Memorial Services at Meadville, Pa. Meadville, Pa., May 6 .- The conference of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, now in session in this city, has been rendered memorable by the fact that two bishops of the church have died after long illnesses, while their colleagues were in session here. Bishop Randolph S. Foster died at West Newton, Mass. last Friday and Bishop John F. Hurst at Washington Monday morning Memorial services were held in Ford chapel of Allegheny college in the presence of an audience of visiting ministers, students and townspeople that filled the building to the doors. All the bishops were present and on the platform.
