It frequently happens, especially in persons who are troubled with constipation, that small particles and seeds enter the appendix. These soon start to ferment and decay and then we have that dreaded disease, appendicitis. A Lightning Rod Revival.

The following article is published at the request of J. A. Wetter, agent for lightning arresters:

The lightning rod man may be happy, for the Ohio state fire marshal has come out plumply in favor of his industry. In his report on losses by lightning in his state he says: In reply to an inquiry about a lightning fire the secretary of a mutual company having $5,233,000 at risk said: "In my seven years' connection with this association as an officer we have not had one loss to a rodged building by lightning."

An insurance company which ranks in the first half dozen in amount of insurance carried on farm buildings in Ohio in a circular to agents says that losses from lightning in the United States have increased five per cent a year for the last ten years; that "it is unfair to insure barns at the rate for dwellings; that higher rates on barns and stock are a necessity; that a proper rod or conductor will reduce if not prevent loss from electricity; that rates on country buildings not so protected will be advanced and the time is not far distant when all companies will charge a higher rate on unrodged property."—Spokane Chronicle.

Horse Finds Defender.

Whenever a horse runs away from any cause whatsoever and plays hob in the streets, it is the invariable rule to lay all of the blame on the dumb beast who can never defend himself. Even the owner of the animal, however much he may be attached to it, is almost always inclined to cover up his own part in the matter by crying out against "that fool horse."

The horse, however, has at last found a friend and champion. This man has made a personal investigation of 1,000 runaways and in considerably over half of all of them he has proved that the drivers or owners, and not the animals, were primarily to blame. For no less than 308 of the accidents, broken traces, reins, bits or saddle girths or loss of driving reins were responsible. In 155 cases some part of the buggy or wagon broke as a direct result of the negligence of the man. In 92 cases the horse was left unhitched on a street. In all of these 545 cases, therefore, owner and not animal was clearly to blame.

Automobiles and motorcycles were the causes of 178 runaways; railway trains and trolley cars of 130; fire-works, flying paper and fire engines, of 49; and other runaways of 70. In none of these cases can the horse be held much to blame, for human beings themselves are by no means without fear of swiftly flying machines of all of the kinds enumerated.

People will, of course, continue to blame runaway accidents on their horses—it would not be human nature not to shift the responsibility onto those who cannot defend themselves—but it is to be hoped that, for the sake of the good name of the most faithful servant of man which a puffing, tooting, noisily explosive machine is trying to drive to the boneyard, some one will seek out and make public the real causes of all runaways.—Duluth Herald.

The Only Remedy.

This is not likely—that the Standard Oil company will be fined $30,000,000 under the conviction at Chicago on 1,463 counts of an indictment for violation of the Elkins anti-rebate law. But suppose the court does inflict the maximum penalty, will any reasoning being believe that the oil monopoly will be destroyed, or even seriously injured, by the sentence? John D. Rockefeller, who says he is only a small holder of Standard stock, can give away far more than $30,000,000 a year.

The Standard Oil company will continue to monopolize the oil business, and to extend its insidious influence into every form of American activity until the members of the conspiracy in restraint of trade are branded with the mark of the criminal and put under lock and key.—New York Press.

P. L. ROADSTROM*HOW YOUR SEPARATOR MAY PAY FOR ITSELF.

With the unprecedentedly high prices for butter there never was so important a time to make the most profitable of all investments for everyone having cream to separate as the cream separator.

But some who should have a machine do not have the ready cash and all may not understand that this isn't necessary in the purchase of the best separators.

Others who have a small amount of cash are tempted to put it into some trashy cash-advance machine because they cannot immediately command the full amount necessary to buy a DE LAVAL.

But there is no such necessity. More than 200,000 of the 600,000 users of DE LAVAL machines have practically let their machines earn their own cost, which they have done the first year and have kept on doing every year since.

If you have the ready cash of course there is a liberal discount for it. But if not, any reputable buyer may secure a DE LAVAL machine on such liberal terms that it actually means the machine paying for itself.
