Last Saturday Henry Swanson and Archie Olson went duck hunting on Lake Fremont, and while rowing across the lake one of the oars caught in the weeds and Henry went headlong into the water and the boat went to the bottom. The boys stood up in the boat and the water was up to their necks. They were in there about an hour when Bert Briggs, who was on the lake and saw them go down, went to their rescue. Henry thinks he will not go hunting on the lake any more.

During the electric storm on Tuesday evening of last week Joe Rudolph's barn was burned. It is supposed it must have been struck by lightning as that is the only possible way they can account for the fire. The flames had a good start before the fire was discovered. Fortunately no stock except some chickens was burned, but the farm machinery, grain and hay were lost. It was almost a total loss as Mr. Rudolph carried only a slight insurance.

Beauty in Coinage Deteriorated.

It is a strange fact that as the world has progressed in every other department of life the one dominating factor of the globe, money, has deteriorated in design, the beauty of idea and cleverness of execution. Another strange fact well worth remembering is that golden grain belt—beer is in reality a harmless temperance beverage, and if drunk to the exclusion of everything else, including tea or coffee, would contribute to the health of humanity—purify its blood, build its muscle and strengthen its nerves. Two Judges

A western judge, sitting in chambers, seeing from the piles of papers in the lawyers' hands that the first case was likely to be hotly contested, asked: "What is the amount in question?" "Two dollars," said the plaintiff's counsel. "I'll pay it," said the judge, handing over the money; "call the next case." He had not the patience of Sir William Grant, who, after listening for two days to the arguments of counsel as to the construction of a certain act, quietly observed when they had done, "That act has been repealed."—Argonaut.

The probability of Governor Hughes' re-election is causing Wall street to tremble, for the brokers are fully aware that he cannot be bought and may at any time swoop down upon them and do a little reforming. Hughes is a different sort of reformer from the late Mr. Jones of Minneapolis.
