TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Dan Spaulding is the latest accession to Jesmer's clerical force. Dan will prove a drawing card for Jesmer.
Never mind making costly presents to your well-to-do friends. They won't appreciate them. See that the destitute and friendless are remembered.
John W. Cater has been back from Montana for a couple of weeks. Mr. Cater is just recovering from a severe attack of mountain fever and pneumonia that he contracted in the far west.

The Bradford correspondent of the Isanti County Press is a believer in railroads, and he is a farmer, too. The Bradford man is right. A town without railroad facilities cannot keep up with the procession nowadays.

Mr. Herbert Gates is another of the wanderers that have recently returned from "way out west." He has been out at Red Lodge, Montana, for more than a year past, and is glad to get back to civilization once more. He is the same droll old Herb.

A wife-beater is the most despicable being that the Almighty permits to breathe. If the Isanti County Press is correct there is one of the wife-beating species in Spencer Brook. A branch of the "White Caps" should be organized in that town for the brute's especial benefit.

Geo. C. Smith of Spencer Brook is now proprietor of the Cambridge House at Cambridge. Genial Nate Wethern's health is so poor that he is obliged to take a much needed rest. Mr. Smith will try and make it pleasant for Princeton people who may have business in Cambridge.

Spencer Brook correspondence: We are having so far one of the finest winters ever known to Minnesota. Hay must necessarily be cheap as there has been but little fed, up to the present time cattle and colts getting their own living running in corn stalks and on meadows. It requires but little wood to be comfortable, and less clothing is necessary. On the other hand, the lumbermen want cold weather and snow to haul logs, and merchants want it so they can sell flannels. On the whole a warm winter is to the advantage of the largest number.

Editorial: Sitting Bull, the famous, or infamous rather, Sioux chief is no more. The story of his taking off is told on the sixth page. A squad of Indian police arrested him, and Mr. Bull's followers attempted to rescue their chief. Five or six of the Indian police were killed and Sitting Bull and half a score of cutthroats were immediately made good Indians. Had it not been for the prompt arrival of a couple of companies of cavalry the Indian police would have been annihilated.
